DALTON TO KEEP ELECTION BOARD INTACT FOR CITY APRIL ELECTION

Unwise to Disturb It Now, He Says—Sees No Rush on Appointing Police Commissioners.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 6—Gov.-elect John M. Dalton said today he will make no changes in the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners until after the city election next April.

Dalton, who is to be inaugurated next Monday, said he thought it would be unwise to disturb the present board since city elections would be coming up soon. The city primary election will be in March and the general election early the following month.

There have been reports that Dalton intends to replace at least some members of the present election board. But he said he has reached no final decision on these appointments.

"I have received numerous suggestions concerning the appointments," he told a press conference, "and I have a few ideas of my own."

View of Police Board.

In regard to the St. Louis Police Board, the Democratic Govenor-elect repeated his statement that "I see no emergency requiring immediate appointments to that board."

The speculation is that Dalton is likely to retain most, if not all, of the present police board members. In any event, he declared, "there will be no politicians on the police board."

Dalton said he intends to make two appointments to the Missouri Highway Commission shortly after he takes office as governor. He said this must be done promptly so the commission can select a new chief highway engineer to replace Rex M. Whitton, who has resigned to accept appointment as head of the United States Bureau of Roads in the administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Dalton said he had checked the records and found that the terms of two commissioners — A. D. Sappinton of Columbia and the late W. M. Robertson of Joplin —had actually expired on Dec. 1, 1959. Current records had indicated that the terms expired April 20, 1960.

Staff Appointments.

The Governor-elect also announced appointments to his staff to serve him when he enters the governor's office. Most of these appointees worked for him during his eight years as Missouri's attorney general.

First Assistant Attorney General Robert R. Welborn of Jefferson City, will be the new governor's legal assistant and Assistant Attorney General John Burleigh Arnold of Lancaster will be his administrative assistant.

Mrs. Virginia Davis of Jefferson City will be Dalton's personal secretary, a job she filled in the Attorney General's office. Mrs. Richard Dunn of Holt Summit will be receptionist.

Dalton will have four other secretaries. They are Mrs. Glen Carter and Mrs. Lois Duncan, who previously worked in the Attorney General's office, and Mrs. Helen Stewart and Mrs. Louis Walton, who are now employed by retiring Gov. James T. Blair.

EFFORT TO END ILLINOIS SPEAKER DEADLOCK FAILS

Impasse Over House Post Remains After Paul Powell Refuses to Accept Truce Proposed by G.O.P.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 6—Efforts to break the deadlock over election of a Speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives failed today when Democratic leader Paul Powell refused to accept a truce proposed by Republicans.

Under terms of the truce, the Representatives would have made a fresh start in election of a Speaker. Meanwhile, G.O.P. leaders were making feverish efforts to line up enough votes to win control.

Republicans have an 89-to-88 majority, but four G.O.P. representatives stayed away because of illness when the House convened Wednesday. Democrats ignored a recess called by Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier, a Republican, and elected Powell, Vienna Democrat, as speaker.

The impasse threatened to prevent the scheduled inaguration of Gov.-elect Otto Kerner Monday.

G.O.P. plans to unsnarl the deadlock called for Carpentier to issue a call immediately to reconvene the House Monday and proceed all over again in election of a speaker.

Carpentier stood by his position that Powell had been elected illegally and said there would be no inauguration unless the Democrats agreed to organize the House with himself as temporary presiding officer.

Powell replied that he was "not going to let Carpentier take the rostrum."

Earlier, visiting committees were set up by the G.O.P. leaders to go to the bedsides of three Chicago and one Rochelle representatives, all Republicans, and try to persuade them to be in the state capital Monday.

Even if the four should be able to attend the Monday House session, indications were that the

BI-STATE TRANSIT PLAN FAVORABLY VIEWED BY SOME COUNTY MAYORS

Heads of Municipalities See Proposal as Better Solution Than Tucker City Ownership Move.

The proposed consolidation of mass transit facilities on both sides of the Mississippi river here into a publicly-operated system may lead to solution of the area's transportation problems, some mayors in St. Louis county said today.

Mayor F. William Human Jr. of Clayton agreed with the engineering study released last Wednesday which concluded that the Missouri-Illinois Bi-State Development Agency is the logical organization to take over and weld the existing 15 transit companies into a unified system.

"Bi-State appears to be the logical agency for this responsibility, but whether it is the practical one is a question to be answered," Human said. "We need to know, for example, whether Bi-State revenue bonds would be salable."

Has No Taxing Power.

Bi-State lacks taxing power, and therefore can finance its acquisitions only through revenues generated by its facilities. A spokesman for W. C. Gilman & Co. of New York, which made the engineering study published last Wednesday, has stated belief that the probable ratio between net revenues and debt requirements of the proposed unified transit system would make its bonds marketable.

Human said the engineering recommendation "is much better than a piece-meal solution, such as would result from the city of St. Louis attempting to establish a transit system, because St. Louis, after all, is only a segment of the metropolitan area."

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker of St. Louis has a proposal pending in the Board of Aldermen for a municipally-owned system.

'Points the Way.'

Mayor A. Ray Parker of Brentwood said that "from what I have read of the proposal, it seems to me that it points the way to definite improvement of the area's transit service."

Parker said he would not be impressed by any protests that Bi-State's taking over the transit business would be an invasion of private enterprise.

"I am a firm believer in private enterprise, but I also believe that the transportation problem has gotten beyond the point where private enterprise can handle it satisfactorily," he said.

Mayor Nathan B. Kaufman of University City said he wanted to reserve final judgment of the Gilman report until he had studied it thoroughly.

"It does have an appealing quality in that it provides for financing through revenue bonds instead of general obligation bonds," he said. General obligation bonds are paid from tax revenues.

"I have a healthy respect for professional studies, and I believe that any transit authority should be on an area-wide basis," Kaufman said.

Mayor Henry J. Deeken of Olivette said he had "always believed that Bi-State is the ap-

PRESIDENT-ELECT INFORMED ACTION IS REQUIRED TO HALT RECESSION

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—A report submitted to President-elect John F. Kennedy last night by his economic task force said this country had been in a recession for six months and suggested that federal tax cuts and lower interest rates might be necessary to bring about a recovery.

The conclusions were the result of inquiries directed by Dr. Paul A. Samuelson, professor of economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, with the aid of other specialists.

"Economic experts are generally agreed that the nation's economy is now in a 'recession,'" the report said. "The slide since mid-1960 cannot be termed a 'depression' like that after 1929, but so widespread a decline in production deserves more than the euphemism of a 'rolling readjustment.' . . .

Still Moving Downward.

"Prudent economic policy must face the fact that we go into 1961 with business still moving downward. This means that unemployment, now above 6 per cent of the labor force, may this winter rise more than seasonally. It means still lower profits ahead."

The report said that with proper actions by the Government the 1960 recession could be halted this year. However, the report cautioned against undertaking at this time a program of massive spending and public works.

The group said, though, that if conditions should grow seriously worse, "a temporary reduction in tax rates on individual incomes can be a powerful weapon against recession."

It was suggested that mortgage rates should be lowered to about 4½ per cent, with extended amortization intervals, and insurance fees might be reduced. A federal tax cut of 3 or 4 per cent on incomes in all brackets was suggested but it was emphasized that the cut should be considered temporary.

Expiring at End of 1962.

"It would be highly desirable for Congress to grant to the executive the right to continue such a reduction for one or two six-month (or three-month) periods or beyond that time (subject to congressional approval) with the clear understanding that the reduction will definitely expire by the end of 1962," the report said.

The report emphasized that although the panel had stressed monetary and fiscal policies, there were other elements which were to be considered as fundamentals of a prosperous economy.

"What may be needed are new approaches to the problem of productivity, wages and price formation," it said. "Just as we pioneered in the 1920's in creating potent monetary mechanisms and in the 1930's in forging the tools of effective fiscal policy, so may it be necessary in the 1960's to meet head on the problem of a price creep.

"This is a challenge to mixed economies all over the free world, and is not to be met by government alone."

Optimistic Forecasts.

The task force said its recommendations had been predicated on somewhat optimistic forecasts for 1961.

"The optimistic model assumes that the gross national product will decline for at most one or two quarters," the report said. "It assumes that the calendar year will average out to between 510 and 515 billion dollars, which represents an improvement of about 2 per cent in money terms and 1 per cent in real terms (after correction for price changes has been made).

"It assumes that by the end of the year the economy will be running some 3 per cent above the present rate. It assumes that even in the absence of any needed programs by the new administration the current budget will have

NEW TANGLE DELAYS COUNTY TAX DEPT. SUIT

Aronson Turns Case Back to County Circuit Judges After Hearing.

A morning of legal maneuvering in connection with a suit to block establishment of a St. Louis county department of revenue ended today in further delay of a hearing on the matter. The suit will be returned to a county circuit judge for disposition.

Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson of St. Louis had been temporarily assigned to hear the case at Clayton by the Missouri Supreme Court after that court was told all eight county circuit judges had disqualified themselves.

When a hearing on a temporary injunction opened before Judge Aronson at Clayton, the plaintiff, Tillman Hardy, president of the Citizens Committee for Self-Government, appeared without counsel and stated he would apply for a change of venue.

Hardy said both major newspapers in the St. Louis area had campaigned for the charter amendment creating the new department of revenue and that the publicity given the amendment had made it impossible for any judge in this area to avoid being biased against Hardy's suit.

After hearing Hardy's statement, Judge Aronson announced a recess and called Chief Judge Laurance M. Hyde of the State Supreme Court to advise him of the prospective plea for a change of venue. In the course of the conversation, Aronson said, he was informed that Judge Noah Weinstein of the county circuit had not in fact disqualified himself.

Judge Weinstein later said he had sent a telegram to the high court to set the record straight. The order assigning Judge Aronson to hear the case had stated that all eight judges had entered disqualifications.

On learning that a county judge

U.S. CHALLENGES RUSSIA TO EASE TRAVEL CURBS

Urges Talks, but Adds St. Louis and Other Cities to Areas Reds Can't Enter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI) — The United States challenged Russia today to agree to an early conference to consider the "abolition or reduction" of the travel restrictions which each country imposes against nationals and officials of the other.

At the same time, the State Department announced changes in the areas of the United States which are closed to the Russians. The aim was to balance off new barriers on United States travels imposed by the Soviet Union in August 1959.

Among the major changes announced today was the closing to Soviet nationals and officials of the cities of St. Louis, Houston, Phoenix, Cincinnati, Milwaukee, and Wichita, Kan.

Some Cities Reopened.

Some major cities previously closed to the Russians were reopened. They were San Francisco, Brooklyn, Newark, N. J.; Columbus and Canton, Ohio; St. Paul, Minn.; Seattle, Wash.; Providence, R. I., and Syracuse, N. Y.

The rejuggling, which involved hundreds of United States counties, was part of a tit-for-tat process by which the United States seeks to close relatively as much of its territory to Russians as the Russians make off limits to Americans.

Under the new lineup, 26.57 per cent of this country's territory is forbidden to the Russians, compared with 26.54 per cent of the Soviet Union now closed to Americans.

This means Russians are barred from 960,796 square miles of United States territory while 2,289,000 square miles of Russia is closed to United States citizens.

NIXON OFFICIALLY TELLS CONGRESS KENNEDY WON

Proclaims Results With Good Grace After Presiding Over Electoral Count.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon had the last word today on the 1960 presidential election. The word was that he lost.

"I now declare John F. Kennedy elected President," Nixon told a joint session of the Senate and House after presiding over the official counting of the electoral vote.

Nixon proclaimed the news with good grace and, in the process of the counting, got some laughs.

Under the law and Constitution, it fell to Nixon to preside over the joint session.

The count came out as expected. There were 303 votes for Kennedy and his running mate, Lyndon B. Johnson, and 219 for Nixon and his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge. Senator Harry F. Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, received 15 votes for President and the vice presidential tally showed 14 votes for Senator J. Strom Thurmond (Dem.), South Carolina, and one for Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep.), Arizona.

Nixon Keeps Smiling.

Nixon, with a smile that might have come harder a day or so after last Nov. 8, announced the totals and pronounced Kennedy and Johnson duly elected.

Having thus complied with his duties as prescribed, Nixon asked permission to make what he called a "somewhat unprecedented" statement.

He said he wanted to extend his best wishes to the man who beat him.

He said the fact he, Nixon, was here announcing the outcome stood as a symbol of "the sta-

2½ BILLION SCHOOL AID PLAN GIVEN TO KENNEDY

Would Provide Federal Funds for Construction and for Teachers' Salaries.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—A special task force recommended to President-elect John F. Kennedy today a high-priority program to pump two and one-half billion dollars in loans and grants into the American educational system. The objective would be to "lift the schools to a new level of excellence."

The plan would provide extra federal cash for all public schools for construction and for teachers' salaries or other purposes related to improving education. It would provide a special program along similar lines for states in economic distress. It would also set up a special aid plan for city schools.

In addition, increased grants and loans to improve academic facilities and housing at colleges and universities was blueprinted for the President-elect.

The task force which drew up the recommendations was headed by Dr. Frederick Hovde, president of Purdue University.

Hovde handed the report to Kennedy in the presence of Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, who will be Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the new administration.

The program lines up like this:

1. It recommends that Kennedy support legislation to provide $30 a year per pupil, based on average daily attendance in public schools, for the entire school system of the nation. The cost is estimated at $1,200,000,000 a year. State and local governments, however, would be required to "maintain or increase their support of education."

2. Similarly, the task force recommends $20 a year per pupil for states where incomes are below 70 per cent of the national average, figured again according to average daily attendance in public schools.

The task estimated that this would cost $140,000,000 annually, would help about one-fourth of the states, mostly in the South, and would assist 7,000,000 children.

3. For cities of more than

TEMPERATURES LIKELY TO STAY ABOVE NORMAL HERE FOR NEXT 5 DAYS

TEMPERATURES are expected to remain above normal during the next five days in the St. Louis area with a period of rain and falling temperatures early next week, the Weather Bureau said today in its extended forecast.

The five-day forecast: Fair and mild through tomorrow with a period of rain and turning colder early next week; temperatures tomorrow through Wednesday will average 6 to 12 degrees above seasonal normal; normal highs are about 40 and normal lows are in the mid-20s.

U.S. JUDGE ORDERS U. OF GEORGIA TO ADMIT 2 NEGROES

MACON, Ga., Jan. 6 (AP)—A federal judge ordered the all-white University of Georgia today to admit two young Negroes as students immediately.

Judge W. A. Bootle decreed that the oldest state-chartered university in the nation must open its doors to Miss Charlayne Alberta Hunter, 18 years old, and Hamilton E. Holmes, 19, both of Atlanta, and end a 175-year policy of rigid segregation.

The court order enjoined the university from refusing to enroll Miss Hunter and Holmes at the winter quarter starting Monday or at the spring, summer or fall quarters if they elected to defer their appearance.

When they enter Georgia, they will become classmates of 7400 white students.

Miss Hunter now is attending Wayne State University at Detroit and Holmes is enrolled at Morehouse College in Atlanta.

Judge Bootle ruled in a several-hundred-word opinion that university officials had discriminated against the Negroes on account of their race since they applied for admission in July, 1959.

EISENHOWERS PLAN TO VISIT JAPAN IN FALL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI) —President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to visit Japan late this year, it was learned today.

The Chief Executive, as a private citizen, thus would pay a Far Eastern call he had scheduled in his official capacity last June but was forced to cancel because of leftist rioting Tokyo. The Japanese government asked him to call off the June trip because it feared for his safety.

Tentative arrangements call for the Eisenhowers to arrive in Tokyo in September or October.

The idea for the trip originated with some of Mr. Eisenhower's former associates at Columbia University, of which he was president before running for office in 1952.

While in Japan, Mr. Eisenhower technically will be the guest of the Columbia University Alumni Association of Japan.

U.S. AMBASSADOR'S AUTO IS BOMBED IN BOLIVIA

LA PAZ, Jan. 6 (UPI)—United States Ambassador Carl W. Strom's automobile was damaged by a bomb last night. The car was unoccupied and no one was injured.

Strom's 1960 Chrysler was parked outside the university auditorium, where his wife was rehearsing with La Paz's American Choir, when the bomb was thrown from a passing truck. Strom was at home. The family chauffeur was standing near the auditorium door.

The Ambassador protested to Bolivian Foreign Minister Eduardo Arze Quiroga. It was the fifth time he had been attacked or heckled recently. Communist elements have been blamed.

After 93 Years, 14th Amendment Faces $15,000 Inquiry in South

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6 (AP) —Leaders of Plaquemines parish (county) have appropriated $15,000 to investigate the "doubtful origin" of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution.

Leander H. Perez Jr., district attorney for Plaquemines and St. Bernard parishes, said research showed the Fourteenth Amendment was "ratified at a time when there was carpetbagger rule in the South and a great many people were disenfranchised.

"We had a Negro Senator in Plaquemines then and there were others all over the South," he said. "Through their efforts and the coercion of federal troops the amendment was ratified."

The Fourteenth Amendment guarantees citizenship rights. It was proposed by Congress in 1866 and formally ratified in 1868.

U.S. NOW WANTS INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION TO RETURN TO LAOS

Policy Shift Disclosed as Herter Gives 'Not Very Encouraging' Report to Senators on Crises Abroad.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI) —Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said today the United States wants the International Control Commission to return to Laos and try to settle the fighting there.

Herter stated the United States policy to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a two hour and 20-minute report on world affairs which was described as "not very encouraging."

Early in the current Laotian crisis, the United States argued with its allies that the international commission—composed of India, Poland and Canada — could not be trusted to work out a settlement that would save Laos from Communist subversion and intrigue.

This position has gradually weakened, however, as the situation grew worse. Today Herter said he feels the commission could be reconstituted and "go back in business."

The international commission was set up in 1954 after the Indochina truce to supervise the truce agreement, signed in Geneva. The Laotian government declared the commission had completed its mission with the elections held in 1958.

Other Points of Testimony.

Committee chairman J. William Fulbright (Dem.) of Arkansas, and other Senators said Herter's testimony also included these highlights:

The Secretary defended the Eisenhower administration's action in severing relations with the Cuban regime of Fidel Castro.

Pressure on West Berlin may be expected because the Soviets are expected to "reopen negotiations" with the Kennedy administration in "the very near future."

Herter is "very anxious" not to say or do anything that would make problems facing the new administration any more difficult.

Herter was questioned by members of the committee. Senator Albert Gore, (Dem.), Tennessee, told reporters he felt as one senator that United States severance of relations with Cuba "was an inadvisable move."

But Senator John Sparkman, (Dem), Alabama, said Herter told the committee there was "virtually nothing else to do" after Premier Fidel Castro gave a "48-hour ultimatum" for all except 11 United States Embassy personnel to leave Cuba. Sparkman said Herter's statement sounded logical.

Not Critical of Herter.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, (Dem.), Minnesota, said Herter described the situation in Laos as "very uncertain." Humphrey said questions fired at Herter were "thoughful and exemplified deep concern" rather than critical.

Gore said the Secretary's review was "not a very encouraging one."

Sparkman, who said the report was "Pretty much what we have been reading in the newspapers," added:

"He painted a bad picture but I don't think any other kind could be painted."

Herter was ocompanied by J. Graham Persons, assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs, and Wymberley De R. Coerr of the State Department's bureau of inter-American affairs.

Kennedy and Rusk to Talk.

President-elect John F. Kennedy is flying to Washington from New York late today. He scheduled a conference with Dean Rusk, who will be his Secretary of State. Kennedy headquarters was silent on specific topics coming up for discussion. But such events as the crises in Loas and in Cuban-American relations appeared almost certain to command attention.

Before leaving New York, Kennedy received a report from Adolf A. Berle Jr., head of a "task force" on Latin American relations. Kennedy said the report probably will not be made public.

Berle is a former assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin American affairs. He served as Ambassador to Brazil during the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

FAKE LONGSHOREMEN GET $61,000 IN ROBBERY

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (UPI)—Four men dressed as longshoremen held up a Grace Lines check-cashing office early today and fled with $61,000 in cash. The gunmen handcuffed together the cashier, a male nurse and four real longshoremen who came into the office during the holdup, before escaping past guarded gateways.

The large amount of cash was on hand so that the office could cash longshoremen's paychecks.

About 100 longshoremen were at work on four ships at the pier when the robbery took place.

RED CHINA WARNS WEST ON LAOS INTERVENTION

TOKYO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Marshal Chu Teh of Red China said today the United States and its allies are intervening in Laos and "have gone far enough on this dangerous road."

"It is time they rein in their horse at the brink of the precipice for it would be most dangerous to go farther," he declared at a reception for Cuban Ambassador Oscar Pinos Santos.

The Peiping radio broadcast his words. As if to emphasize the importance of the speech and the occasion, it announced that leaders of Red China's hierarchy were present, including Mao Tse-tung and President Liu Shao-chi.

Chu, as a member of the five-man Communist party secretariat, is one of the most powerful men in Red China. His official title is chairman of the standing committee of the National People's Congress, a job once held by President Liu.

"The Laotian question," Chu said, "can be settled only by the Laotian people themselves. Any foreign intervention can only end in the thorough defeat of the interventionists."

Chou Calls for End to 'Colonialist Aggression' in Laos.

RANGOON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Red China's Premier Chou En-lai today urged "peace-loving countries and people to take urgent measures" to stop what he called colonialist aggression in Laos.

Addressing a rally of 30,000 at the sports stadium in Burma's capital, Chou accused "the forces of colonialism" of "committing flagrant intervention in the internal affairs of other countries, frantically creating international tension and stepping up arms expansion and war preparations."

His chief target obviously the United States, Chou said:

"We sympathize with and support the Laotian people in their just struggle against foreign intervention, for peace and neutrality, national independence and the unity of their motherland."

It was his first mention of the Laotian crisis since his arrival Monday for a week-long goodwill visit and ratification of a border treaty.

'POLICE STATE' PLACARDS GREET HAMMARSKJOLD

PRETORIA, Jan. 6 (AP) — Placards reading "welcome to our police state" greeted Dag Hammarskjold today in this South African capital.

The placards were carried by non-white demonstrators who rushed up to the U.N. Secretary-General as he went from airport to hotel. He walked quickly through the gesticulating crowd, which then broke into a song of African freedom.

The demonstration emphasized demands by Negro, mixed blood and Asian citizens that Hammarskjold hear their complaints against the white supremacy government of Prime Minister Henrik F. Verwoerd. Hammarskjold came here with the purpose of talking to the government as part of a U.N. investigation into racial segregation.

HANGING FOR EICHMANN IF HE IS GIVEN DEATH

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Jan. 6 (UPI)—An Israeli ministerial executive committee has decided that Adolf Eichmann, Nazi war criminal, will be hanged if an Israeli court sentences him to death, it was learned yesterday.

The decision was necessary because although the Israeli legal code provides for the death penalty for treason and Nazi war crimes, there is nothing to say how the sentence should be carried out.

No civil court has imposed a death sentence in the 13 years since Israel was founded, although a court-martial sentenced one man to death by firing squad. Under the British mandate in Palestine, the death sentence was carried out by hanging.

Nigeria Invites Eisenhower.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI) —Nigeria's first ambassador to the United States told President Eisenhower today he would be welcome in the African nation after he leaves office Jan. 20. Ambassador Julius Momo Udochi called at the White House to present his credentials.

CUBA IN FRENZY PREPARING FOR 'INVASION' BY U.S.

Castro Has Artillery on Havana Seacoast, Troops on Rooftops Awaiting Attack.

HAVANA, Jan. 6 (AP)—Troops were on the move everywhere in this Caribbean island today as Fidel Castro kept his nation in a frenzy to fight off the invasion he claims is coming from the United States.

The United States called Castro's latest invasion charge ridiculous, and a majority of the United Nations Security Council said after two days of debate that the Cubans had not proved the charge. But the Cuban regime put on the most intensive military display it could muster.

A wave of searches of Roman Catholic organizations and the arrest of nine Catholic students or teachers was reported.

Anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns studded Malecon, Havana's picturesque seafront that in pre-Castro days was a favorite promenade for tourists at this time of year. Artillery emplacements appeared throughout the rest of Havana and its suburbs.

Militia men and women were posted on rooftops armed with machineguns. Hundreds of blue-uniformed teen-agers, members of the revolutionary youth organization, carried burp guns and bazookas into the elegant Hotel Nacional overlooking the Gulf of Mexico.

Castro has charged that the Eisenhower Administration is preparing to invade by Jan. 18, two days before it leaves office. If United States troops do not invade, Castro presumably will say that his militant preparedness scared them off.

Political and other prisoners were evacuated from Principe prison atop a hill commanding a sweeping view of Havana. There were unconfirmed reports the ancient fortress was being converted to a temporary "invasion headquarters."

Hundreds of militiamen and troops were deployed at Batabano, about 30 miles south of the capital on the coast, a departure point for the heavily guarded Isle of Pines, where thousands of political prisoners are held.

Extraordinary movements of troops, militiamen and military equipment also went on around Santiago, capital of Oriente province. Soldiers dug in along the coast and along highways leading from Santiago to Songo and Guantanamo city.

In Havana United States Charge d'Affaires Daniel M. Braddock and his skeleton staff were completing the transfer of the embassy's operations to Swiss Ambassador Walter Bossi. It was believed Braddock and his aid would leave tomorrow.

BELGIANS RIOT ANEW IN BIG INDUSTRIAL CITY

Police in Liege Use Weapons, Tear Gas to Break Up Demonstrations.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Wild rioting broke out in the big industrial city of Liege today. Liege police used pistols, sabers and tear gas to hurl back striking demonstrators.

A policeman, a fireman, and six civilians were injured in the melee after about 1000 strikers attacked a railway station, a post office, a fire truck and police cars.

The flareup in the industrial south came as the government claimed the 18-day-old strikes had collapsed in two of Belgium's nine provinces and Socialist leaders strove to find a formula to end the costly walkouts.

The rioting in Liege erupted after a fiery speech by Andre Renard, Socialist trade union official and one of the prime leaders of the strikes against the government's austerity program.

Gas Grenades Used.

Police charged in, throwing tear gas grenades, and the strikers fell back. The strikers hurled stones as they fled, knocking down one officer commanding the police. They overturned two police cars. A fireman was injured by a flying brick.

Mounted police charged the milling crowd with drawn sabers. A striker was knocked unconscious.

The main body of demonstrators then rallied and headed for the chief business district. As the rioting grew wilder, troops moved into the streets. The troops, carrying automatic weapons, opened fire, apparently at the ground. A civilian fell with a wound in the leg.

Another wing of the demonstrators advanced on the liberal newspaper Le Meuse, which also has opposed the strike. They smashed its windows and hauled down a neon sign outside.

2000 Demonstrate.

In Brussels, about 2000 demonstrated in front of Forest prison. They were led by Guy Brouhon, Socialist member of Parliament, who declared 40 strikers are being held there. Demonstrators threw firecrackers and a few rocks at massed state police, then left.

Socialist leaders of the strike against the conservative government's economy program were reported looking for a way to halt the walkouts. A source close to the Socialist high command said "the end is near."

Pierre Harmel, government spokesman, said the strike is over in the provinces of Limburg in the north and Luxembourg in the south and in the northern cities of Oostende and Alost.

Harmel said strikers were returning to work in Antwerp, Ghent and Courtrai in the north, Namur in central Belgium and even at Itournai in the south, where the Socialist unions dominate and the strike has been most effective.

Premier Gaston Eyskens's Catholic-Liberal Government pushed for parliamentary approval of its austerity program that touched off the strikes. Eyskens was reported considering calling early elections—a year ahead of time — immediately after adoption of the economic reform bill.

About 2000 demonstrators gathered in the Brussels suburb of Forest for a march to the Forest jail, where a number of strikers are under arrest. "Use your vocal chords and nothing else," a strike leader warned them.

West Coast Stevedore Settlement To Cost Shiplines $100,000,000

$29,000,000 Already Committed to ILU to Permit Automation Said to Be Only Down Payment.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6 — West Coast shipowners, through their Pacific Maritime Association, are willing to pay $100,000,000 or more for the right to handle cargo with automatic equipment that may mean unemployment for longshoremen.

This was disclosed in San Francisco by Max D. Kossoris, regional director of the federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, after an analysis of a controversial agreement made between owners in the Pacific Maritime Association and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union of Harry Bridges.

Kossoris said the $29,000,000 already committed to the union under a new mechanization agreement is only a down payment.

Employers, he said, in return for the elimination of certain cargo handling practices that have been called "feather bedding," have argeed to pay $7920 as a retirement bonus to each of the 15,000 registered West Coast longshoremen.

This promise alone, not counting benefits under a guaranteed wage provision, will cost employers $115,000,000.

Kossoris said it was inconceivable that the $7920 guarantee (over and above normal retirement payments) would be canceled when the present agreement expires in 1966.

Having won "super pension" benefits, members of the ILU would probably strike before accepting a contract offering them anything less than full participation in the new program.

That is why, according to the experts, the cost will not be only the $29,000,000 due in June of 1966.

The shipowners will be paying the pension bonus off for years to union members as they retire.

The shipping industry, however, thinks it is a good bargain and estimates that increased efficiency will more than make up for the cost.

Some locals of the ILU did not think the plan was a "good bargain" because mechanization will eventually lead to the unemployment of a significant part of the dockside work force.

After heated words in meetings up and down the coast, the plan was approved by 28 of the ILU's 29 locals.

SEATO COUNCIL DISCUSSES LAOS INTERVENTION AGAIN

BANGKOK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The SEATO council today held its third session in a week on Communist intervention in Laos, then adjourned without issuing a statement.

An informant said the United States submitted no further evidence to back up its charge that Soviet planes have landed substantial North Viet Namese reinforcements for the Pathet Lao rebels.

Ambassadors or the eight Southeast Asia Treaty Organization nations met for an hour. One source said the envoys "discussed various reports of Communist intervention in Laos" and that they considered the situation in the neighboring kingdom "just as serious as earlier in the week."

The royal Laotian Army, gradually recovering from surprise at the leftist offensive, was reported today to have regrouped and to be skirmishing with pro-Communist rebels in northeast Xiengkhouang province.

No major action has been reported in the last 48 hours.

AT LEAST 18 DIE IN HOTEL FIRE AT SAN FRANCISCO

Small Blaze That Was Believed Put Out Erupts Into Conflagration.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6 (UPI)—A small fire that was believed to have been extinguished suddenly erupted into a blaze in the Thomas Hotel early today and at least 18 persons were killed. Fire officials said the toll may go higher.

Firemen said the blaze started in the first-floor room of Raymond Gorman, 62 years old, and ordered him arrested on suspicion of manslaughter.

Gorman and 37 other persons, including two policement and fiermen, were treated at emergency hospitals for smoke inhalation and other injuries.

Gorman admitted to reporters that he had been drinking the night before and "I was feeling no pain." Witnesses said the fire started when Gorman dropped a cigarette in his mattress in his first floor room.

Fire Chief William Murray said Gorman and a neighbor thought they had extinguished the fire and went back to sleep. But the fire in the mattress was rekindled during the night, causing the blaze, Murray said.

By the Associated Press.

It was the worst fire here in more than a decade and came on one of the coldest mornings in the city's history.

The four-story structure at 971 Mission street had 160 cheap-priced rooms and all but 14 were occupied when the fire was discovered about 5 a.m.

Some of the victims were trapped in their rooms by the flames; others were asphyxiated.

Many of the older residents were drunk, police said. They had just cashed pension checks and the halls of the burned out building smelled from ashes, smoke and alcohol.

Some persons jumped to safety. Others, including at least two in wheelchairs, were carried out by firemen. One man, Herbert Isett, tried to descend from the top floor by using a rope made of knotted sheets. The knots parted and Isett fell four stories to the pavement, breaking his back and legs.

7 STEEL FIRMS ARE ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY ON HIGHWAY WORK

U.S. Jury Indicts Fabricators Alleged to Have Allocated State Bridge Jobs Among Selves.

Seven firms, including two in St. Louis county, were indicted by a United States grand jury here yesterday on charges of conspiring to eliminate competition in sale of fabricated steel for bridge building on Missouri Highway Department projects.

Six fabricating firms and one sales agent for a fabricating firm were named. The indictment charged them with dividing the state into eastern and western sections and allocating the business in each section among themselves.

Corporations charged included Stupp Brothers Bridge & Iron Co., 3800 Weber road, Lemay; Wilmar Steel Products Co., 109 West Jefferson avenue, Kirkwood; St. Joseph Structural Steel Co., St. Joseph; Kansas City Structural Steel Co., Kansas City; Missouri Valley Steel, Inc., Leavenworth, Kan.; A. J. Industries, Inc., Los Angeles, and Havens Structural Steel Co., Kansas City.

The period covered by the indictment was Jan. 1, 1954, to July 1, 1959. More than $23,000,000 was paid for structural steel purchased for construction of bridges for Missouri highways during that period, the indictment stated. About $20,000,000 of that amount was paid to the seven indicted firms.

Alleged Agreement.

The conspiracy, the indictment charged, is a violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. The conspiracy consists of an alleged "continuous agreement, understanding and concert of action among the defendants" that:

1. The state would be divided into an eastern and western territory by an imaginary line from north to south.

2. Stupp and Wilmar would refrain from bidding on fabricated steel requirements of bridges in the western territory, while St. Joseph Structural Steel, Kansas City Structural Steel, Missouri Valley and Havens would refrain from bidding on fabricated steel requirements of bridges in the eastern section.

3. Stupp, Wilmar and A. J. Industries "would from time to time as bridge jobs arose in the eastern territory allocate among themselves the business of supplying the fabricated steel, and in bidding on such jobs would raise or lower their bids in such manner as to effectuate the allocation."

4. St. Joseph, Kansas City, Missouri Valley and A. J. Industries would do the same thing in the western territory.

Results Cited.

The results of the agreement, the indictment said, was to restrain interstate commerce in sale of fabricated steel, suppress competitive bidding and price competition and deprive the state of Missouri and the Federal Government of the benefits of competitive bidding and open competition.

During the period covered by the indictment, the Federal Government allotted large sums of money for highway construction in Missouri. For example, $95,000,000 was allotted in the fiscal year 1960.

Upon conviction, each of the defendant corporations is subject to a maximum penalty of a $50,000 fine.

The indictment explained that steel fabricators sell materials to contractors and not directly to the state. A contractor on a highway project usually takes bids from the fabricators, who then deliver the steel to the job site.

The indictment named all defendants except Wilmar as fabricators. Wilmar was designated as sales agent for Illinois Steel Bridge Co., Jacksonville, Ill.

Firm Out of Business.

The former president of Wilmar, Frank C. Williamson, told a reporter the firm went out of business last June. He declined further comment on the indictment, noting that he has received no official notification of it. Erwin P. Stupp, president of Stupp Brothers, said, "My lawyers are looking into it," but declined further comment.

Robert L. Hyder, chief counsel for the Missouri Highway Commission, told a reporter the state will bring a civil action against the corporations "if we find we have been damaged." A determination will have to await the outcome of the federal charge, he said.

Under the Sherman Act, the state would be entitled to recover three times the amount of damage.

Hyder said highway department records indicated there were instances when steel was sold above the price it should have brought. On some jobs, however, he said, the price was lower than it should have been. These occasions were efforts to undercut small fabricators who refused to go along with the agreement, Hyder said.

No Estimate of Loss.

Government attorneys and Hyder said there was no way to estimate now what loss, if any, has been suffered by Missouri taxpayers.

Hyder said he has furnished to the Justice Department evidence of "possible agreement to fix prices between suppliers of other materials necessary in highway maintenance and construction." He declined to say what materials were involved.

United States Attorney William H. Webster told a reporter the Justice Department was making a preliminary inquiry into suppliers of steel for bridge piers on highway projects. Webster said this investigation has nothing to do with fabricators, who buy stock steel parts from manufacturers and cut the parts to specifications required by contractors.

The grand jury investigation required a total of six days. It began in March, 1959. Thirty witnesses were interviewed. The inquiry was touched off by the complaint of a Jefferson City fabricator who had refused to participate in the agreement, Government attorneys said.

The jury's report was made to United States District Judge Randolph H. Weber.

MAN IS KILLED UNDER WHEELS OF STREETCAR

Charles Scott, 5530 Maple avenue, was killed last night when he was crushed under the wheels of a Hodiamont streetcar at Hodiamont and Easton avenues.

The operator, Edward Roberson, 757A Aubert avenue, told police he did not see Scott before the accident. He stopped the streetcar, he said, when he heard someone shouting at him.

Roberson, going south, had just started across Easton, Scott, 38 years old, was caught under the front wheels. An emergency crew used heavy jacks to raise the car, and the body was removed.

Police said they found no witnesses to the accident. They were told that Scott had left a tavern in the 6500 block of Easton a short time before he was killed.

Charles Bass, 4055 McRee avenue, was killed yesterday when his automobile collided with another car at Dahlgren, Ill., about 105 miles southeast of St. Louis. His wife, Lois, was injured.

Illinois State Police said the other motorist was Wendell Kiefer of Belle Rive, Ill. Bass was 46. His wife was taken to Hamilton Memorial Hospital at McLeansboro.

James E. Mardis, Bloomington (Ill.) truck driver, was killed last night when he lost control of his tractor-trailer on Interstate Route 70, about five miles northeast of Collinsville.

A witness told Illinois State Police that the tractor-trailer, going west, went out of control on a curve. It plunged down an embankment. Mardis, 47, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis.

$22,000,000 FOR COUNTY AIRPORT NEEDS CRITICIZED

Allocation of $22,000,000 for St. Louis county airport needs in a $72,950,000 bond issue proposed by County Supervisor James H. J. McNary would appear excessive, John D. Kerr Jr., director of development for the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis, said today.

Acknowledging he had not seen any detailed explanation of the proposal made by McNary to the County Council, Kerr said the Federal Aviation Agency had recommended a secondary airport on the Missouri side of the metropolitan area and a second major airport on the Illinois side.

"According to estimates by Walter Malloy, the city's director of public utilities, a secondary airport for private and Air National Guard craft in St. Louis county should cost about $7,000,000 to $8,000,000, of which the county's share would be about $2,000,000," Kerr said. He noted that if Weiss Airport is not used, roads will have to be built to any new site. He suggested more of the bond issue might well be allocated to roads at this time.

MILANI ARRAIGNED IN MARION IN KILLING OF LILY ROBERTS

Joseph H. Milani, former convict, was arraigned in circuit court at Marion, Ill., yesterday on a charge of murdering Miss Mary Lily Roberts, whose body was found in a well on an abandoned farm near Herring last August.

Judge Harold Zimmerman set the trial for the February term of court, which begins Feb. 6. No plea was entered for the defendant by his counsel, Public Defender Charles D. Winters, of Marion.

Milani, heavily manacled, was taken to Marion from the St. Louis City Jail, where he is held under sentence of 40 years in federal prison for the attempted murder of Miss Robert's fiance, John Bryan Jr. The shooting of Bryan was on Crab Orchard Lake Game Refuge, a federal reservation.

PACIFIC NUMBERS ORDERED BACK IN CITY PHONE BOOK

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 6—Free listing of telephone subscribers at Pacific, Mo., in the Greater St. Louis telephone directory must be resumed, the Missouri Public Service Commission ruled today.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was ordered to restore listings, which had been dropped last April, for subscribers in the Clearwater exchange at Pacific, and ofr residents nearby in the Pilgrim exchange.

The opinion, in which the PSC commissioners divided 3 to 2, resulted from a complaint by the Pacific Chamber of Commerce. The chamber charged the customer's names had been dropped from the director without warning, and the telephone subscribers later were notified it would cost $1 a month for business firms and 50 cents a month for residential users to be listed.

Bell Telephone said the dropping of the two exchanges from the Greater St. Louis directory was the first step in dropping outlying exchanges and substituting local telephone directories.

FORD HAZELWOOD PLANT HALTING FOR CHANGEOVER

Automobile production at the Ford Motor Co.'s Hazelwood plant will be halted for two weeks beginning Jan. 16 to permit changeover of facilities for assembly of standard-sized Ford automobiles, it was announced today. Approximately 1300 workers will be laid off.

The plant has been assembling Mercury cars, but hereafter is to be used exclusively for Ford production.

A plant spokesman said that increasing number of employes would be recalled as the assembly lines become filled with new units. The full work force will be required when normal production is reached, he said.

KILLED AS HE SHOWS WIFE HOW TO OPERATE SHOTGUN

Lewis Montgomery was shot and killed last night by his wife, Yvonne, as he was showing her how to operate the safety on a 16-gauge shotgun, police reported. The shooting occurred in their home at 4920 Piggott avenue, Centreville.

Police said Montgomery, 36 years old, was shot in the head at close range. His wife, 27, is being held pending a coroner's inquest. Montgomery was employed as a cartographer in the Aeronautical Chart Plant and Information Center in St. Louis.

ILLINOIS SUES ORVILLE HODGE FOR $292,254

Claim Against Ex-Auditor Concerns 'Irregular' Items, Official Says.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 6—Suit to recover $292,254 was filed yesterday by the State of Illinois against Orville E. Hodge, former state auditor. Hodge is now serving a 12-to-15 year sentence at Menard Penitentiary for thefts of $1,500,000 from the state.

Attorney General William L. Guild said the complaint was of "secondary importance" in the Hodge case and involved so-called "irregular or questionable items."

All state claims against the estate of Hodge have been settled, former Auditor Elbert S. Smith announced last Nov. 18. He told the Sangamon county circuit court that about $567,400 of the estate of Hodge and his wife was liquidated to satisfy state claims.

Hodge was named in all 11 counts of the complaint filed here yesterday. Edward A. Epping, who was an administrative assistant to Hodge in the auditor's office, was named in two counts involving $152,657. Epping is serving a four-to-five year prison term for conspiracy to steal more than $637,000 from the state.

Other allegations in the new suit referred to transactions Hodge had with other associates and business firms. One count alleged Hodge spent $125,150 in state funds for goods, wares, merchandise and service for his personal benefit.

Both Hodge and Epping were named in one count which alleged they received $34,007 in kickbacks from state employes who were ordered to execute illegal travel vouchers. Hodge and Epping also were charged with issuance of illegal travel warrants, overtime or additional compensation of employes totaling $118,650.

Others named in the complaint included: William S. Mehl, former Granite City office manager for Hodge's real estate business; K&W Tile Co., Granite City; Adamson Inc. and Bellemore Hardware, Granite City, and John and Thelma Casper, Springfield. Casper was custodian of Hodge's Lake Springfield home.

One count alleged the K&W Tile Co. received $5154 in illegal state warrants for work and services performed in Hodge's Granite City interests.

Adamson Inc. and Bellemore Hardware were paid $14,399 in illegal warrants for the purchase of air conditioners, water coolers and related hardware merchandise, the suit alleged.

Mehl was charged with cashing $8261 in illegal travel warrants and returning them to Hodge. John and Thelma Casper were named as recipients of more than $5000 in illegal warrants for personal services rendered at Hodge's former home.

Hodge filed a petition Dec. 21 for executive clemency with the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board. Guild said he would recommend that the petition be denied. Next meeting of the board is scheduled for Jan. 10.

PAIR SENTENCED TO 4 YEARS FOR COUNTERFEITING

Former City Hospital Employe, Printer Plead Guilty—Made Bogus $20 Bills.

Norman Joseph Anthonopoulas and Arthur Max Franke were sentenced to four years in prison today for printing $98,000 in counterfeit $20 bills.

United States District Judge Randolph H. Weber imposed the sentences under a statute which gives the parole board authority to decide when a prisoner is eligible for parole. The finding could be made at any time during the four-year period.

Anthonopoulas, who was supervisor of housekeeping help at City Hospital before his arrest, and Franke, a printer, pleaded guilty of counterfeiting on Dec. 9. Anthonopoulas also pleaded guilty of passing a counterfeit $20 bill in the Famous-Barr Co. downtown store on Oct. 22.

Assistant United States Attorney W. Francis Murrell told the court today that the two men had printed about $250,000 worth of counterfeit notes but had burned all but $98,000. Twenty-eight of the bills have not been recovered.

Printed at Metro Press.

The notes were printed at the Metro Press, 2607 Gravois avenue. Murrell said Franke owns 40 per cent of the firm.

Anthonopoulas, who is 34 years old, was arrested on Oct. 22 when he aroused suspicions of two saleswomen at the downtown department store. Police questioned him and found seven bogus $20 bills in his possession. He admitted his part in the counterfeiting operation and implicated Franke, who was arrested at the printing shop the next morning. Detectives recovered most of the bills from hiding places in Anthonopolous's home at 2628 South Jefferson avenue.

Franke, 24, lives at 3312 South Jefferson. A charge of forgery is pending against him in connection with discovery of counterfeit MacArthur bridge toll tickets at the Metro Press. The tickets were found about a week before Franke's arrest on the counterfeiting charge.

Ex-Head of Bank Sentenced.

David E. Peeler, former president of Farmers & Merchants Bank in LaGrange, Mo., was sentenced to 18 months in prison and fined $1000 by Judge Weber for embezzling $11,000 from the bank. Peeler, 32, pleaded guilty on Nov. 7.

Murrell said the money was taken over a period of 20 months, ended last September. He said restitution has been made. LaGrange is 150 miles northwest of St. Louis.

Judge Weber rejected a plea for clemency on the part of Peeler's attorney, remarking that Peeler had violated a breach of trust imposed on him by virtue of his position as bank president. However, he gave Peeler until Jan. 26 to clear up his personal affairs before beginning his prison term.

In another case, Judge Weber sentenced Ray C. Ellerman, 32, of the 9200 block of Bristol avenue, Breckenridge Hills, to 18 months in prison for sending obscene matter through the mails. Ellerman pleaded guilty on Nov. 4. He is a music teacher.

PILOT LOST IN DARK HERE FINDS HAVEN AT SCOTT AIR BASE

The pilot of a private plane bound for Crocker, Mo., became lost yesterday evening in the St. Louis area, but landed at Scott Air Force Base without incident after seeing the lights there.

A Scott base spokesman said the pilot, Edward M. Hamby of Crocker, took off in a single-engine plane from Lakeside Airport near Granite City. Hamby lost his bearings over St. Louis and circled the city for several minutes. Lambert-St. Louis field control tower employes received a distress signal from Hamby, but were unable to establish radio contact.

Hamby then spotted landing lights at Scott Field, made contact with the tower there and was told to make an emergency landing.

POLICE ARREST PAIR LOOTING RESTAURANT

Two men were found hiding in a restaurant at 721 North Leonard avenue early today by policemen who went to the scene to investigate a report that prowlers had broken into the place.

Patrolmen Larry King and Raymond Absalom said one man was hiding in a washroom and the other was lying on the floor. They identified themselves as Everett Warren, 29 years old, an ex-convict, of the 5700 block of Cates avenue, and Charles V. Johnson, 28, former workhouse inmate, of the 6000 block of Suburban tracks.

The men admitted they entered the restaurant by forcing a window in order to steal food. Police said cuts of meat, taken from a refrigerator, had been piled on a table.

FUNDS FOR GREER URBAN RENEWAL WORK APPROVED

$370,143 Advance By U.S. Starts Planning For Project in Tandy Mid-City Area.

The St. Louis Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority was informed today the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency had approved an advance of $370,143 for planning the Greer urban renewal project here.

In a telegram from United States Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, the Land Clearance Authority was told that it could proceed now with planning the rehabilitation and conservation of this mid-city area.

The Greer project is one of three areas within the Tandy renewal area. It is bounded by St. Louis avenue on the South, Kingshighway on the West, Natural Bridge avenue on the north and Newstead avenue on the east.

Planning is expected to require about 18 months, a spokesman for the Land Clearance Authority said. He said that unlike previous urban renewal projects here, the emphasis on Greer, and Tandy as a whole, is in conserving the neighborhood and protecting it against further blight.

While some structures may have to be razed, the greatest effort will be directed toward preserving existing buildings wherever possible. Through the power of condemnation, the Authority can remove buildings that constitute a non-confoming use and straighten out existing land use patterns in the area.

The Federal Government pays two-thirds and the city one-third of the net project cost.

POWER LINE BREAK AFFECTS 6000 HOMES IN KIRKWOOD

About 6000 homes and many businesses south of Adams avenue in Kirkwood were without electricity for 30 minutes today when a Union Electric Co. power line to one of three Kirkwood sub-stations failed.

A 34,000-volt line supplying power to the sub-station behind City Hall went out at about 7:4[illegible] a.m. Workmen were able to get the line back in service by 8:1[illegible] a.m. Cause of the failure has not been determined.

Labor Favors Income Tax Cut If Unemployment Increases

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 — Organized labor's top leaders proposed last night a set of recommendations for the new Administration intended, they said, to combat an economic recession potentially the most severe in recent years.

The 30-point program featured a proposed tax cut which, the labor leaders said, would be the quickest way to spur buying power by making available about $500,000,000 a week for 10 weeks in spendable income.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said at a press conference that the AFL-CIO recommendations had not been cleared with leaders of the new Kennedy Administration but there was a marked similarity between the points he raised and those which have been enunciated by President-elect John F. Kennedy and many of his advisers.

Details of Formula.

The federation's tax cut proposal would be based on a formula under which Congress would give the President authority to order a $10-a-week reduction in an individual's withholding tax for 10 weeks if the unemployment rate rises to 7 per cent. The latest Government figures place the jobless rate at 6.3 per cent for November. The proposed authority for the tax cut could be withdrawn by Congress at any time, under the federation plan.

This proposed discretionary tax cutting power is not entirely new. One of the advocates of such authority is Walter W. Heller, who has been named by Kennedy as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

The AFL-CIO program also called for congressional action for massive federal aid for economically depressed areas, enlarged public housing schedules, more federal funds for school construction and teachers' salaries, increase in the present $1 minimum wage to $1.25 and broadening of its coverage and health insurance for the aged financed under the social security system.

Other Proposals.

Other recommendations by the AFL-CIO group would increase social security benefit payments by 10 per cent, increase the amount of unemployment insurance benefits and extend the eligibility period, institute a massive $300,000,000 federal public works program for this year, and encourage the Federal Reserve System to buy long-term as well as short-term securities as a recommended means of lowering interest rates.

The federation took its customary stand against certain provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act and the more recent Landrum-Griffin law regulating the affairs of unions.

The organization singled out for special criticism the restrictions on secondary boycotts and urged Congress to do away with the section of the Landrum-Griffin Act which prohibits a union from picketing a building site where several contractors may be engaged but where the union's quarrel may be with only one of them.

Turning from the economic area, the federation said that no challenge is greater than that of completing the job started 100 years ago of assuring equal treatment before the law to all citizens, regardless of race, color or national origin. The labor leaders called for more legislation clearly supporting and implementing Supreme Court decisions by giving the Attorney General authority to institute civil suits on behalf of any person deprived of any of his civil rights.

Planning Association Ideas.

By the Associated Press.

Meanwhile, the National Planning Association, a nonprofit, nonpolitical organization, proposed its own series of policies aimed at eliminating recessions and giving American economic growth a strong upward boost.

The planning association said that "economic growth is the only painless source of additional tax revenue." Policies backed by the association include:

1. Consideration of a price and wage board to analyze proposed price and wage increases in certain industries and report to the president.

2. A speed up in defense programs.

3. More federal spending on education, housing, community facilities health and urban renewal.

4. Higher unemployment benefits and aid to distressed areas.

The association wants to increase the annual rate of growth in the gross national product within two years to 7.5 per cent. It says the current rate is 2.6 per cent. The N.P.A. wants the growth rate to level off at 4.5 per cent after 1965.

HIMALAYAN SCALP BACK AS THOUSANDS CHEER

KATMANDU, Nepal, Jan. 6 (AP)—The supposed yeti's scalp got back to the Khamjung monastery on the promised day, after being taken on a 30,000-mile round-the-world trip by skeptical Western explorers.

Thousands of sherpas cheered and offered prayers of thanks for the safe return of the relic as a United States helicopter landed with it on the Himalayan slope near the monastery. Buddhist lamas blew conch shells and long horns made of human bones.

Everest hero Sir Edmund Hillary accompanied the scalp. He had borrowed it from the villagers for a one-month inspection by experts in Chicago, London and Paris to determine if it came from a yeti, the legendary Abominable Snowman of the Himalayas. The experts agreed the scalp was ancient but they discounted its connection with the elusive yeti.

GOLDWATER WANTS TO BAR EARLY VOTE BROADCASTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Senator Barry Goldwater (Rep.), Arizona, introduced yesterday a bill to prohibit the broadcasting of general election returns by radio or television earlier than midnight, eastern standard time, on election night.

He told the Senate the present practice of early broadcasts is unfair, because it gives East Coast returns to western areas before their polls are closed. Goldwater contends this could influence the western voting.

MARY RIDGE TAX HIKE DRAWS PROTESTS

Some of Mary Ridge's 631 residents were up in arms today over a sharp tax increase intended to improve the village's street lighting system.

The tax rate in Mary Ridge was increased for this year from 30 to 50 cents on each $100 assessed valuation. Roscoe Smallwood, village collector, said the increase will result in an operating budget of about $3000, or $800 more than last year's budget.

Calvert J. Hogan, 3427 Westridge lane, Mary Ridge, said he made a house-to-house canvass yesterday and learned that a group of residents plans to protest against the increase at a board of trustees meeting Monday at 8 p.m.

Hogan asserted that the village's taxes have been "going up every year." He said his tax was increased from $9 last year to $18 this year. Mary Ridge is on the south side of St. Charles road, east of St. Ann.

Smallwood said the board thought the village's taxes would be reduced under St. Louis county's real estate re-appraisal program and voted for an increase in Mary Ridge taxes to equalize revenue.

Instead of a reduction in assessments, however, the total valuation turned out to be higher, Smallwood said. The resulting windfall additional revenue will be used for street lighting.

INDIA'S LEADERS WARN RED CHINA ON AGGRESSION

© New York Times News Service

NEW DELHI, Jan. 6—India's political leaders warned yesterday that India was determined to "bring about vacation of aggression" against itself. This was interpreted as referring to the 12,000-square miles of eastern Ladakh that are occupied by Chinese Communist troops.

The political leaders stated their position in a resolution adopted by the working committee of the ruling Congress party.

Prime Minister Nehru is not a member of the committee but attended its sessions and is the party's undisputed leader on foreign affairs.

Another resolution, devoted generally to international affairs, said the party was "deeply concerned" about the "threat to peace in Asia as a result of the ominous situation in Laos." It urged that Laos be permitted to "remain as an uncommitted area." It said foreign intervention might constitute a "grave menace to Asia and to the world."

Nixon

bility of our constitutional form of government."

"No matter how hard fought the campaign, and no matter how close the election, those who lose accept the verdict, and we support those who win," he said.

Although he previously had read the statement that—officially — made Kennedy President-elect, he then went on with the additional statement, "I now declare John F. Kennedy elected President."

There was standing applause from th packed chamber and from the galleries—applause no doubt partly for Kennedy and partly for Nixon and his good grace in acecpting defeat in one of thec losetes presidential elections in American history.

Before the ceremony began, there arrived at the Capitol a corrected certification showing that Kennedy—not Nixon—received Hawaii's three electoral votes.

Grins at Applause.

Nixon entered the House chamber with a trace of a smile which grew into a big grin as he strode down the aisle toward the rostrum to the applause of the galleries and the members of Congress.

This was the first time in 100 years that the man who ran second in a presidential election had been required to preside over the official counting of the electoral votes.

The electoral votes were brought into the House chamber in two inlaid mahogany boxes and placed on the desk of the speaker's podium. Nixon directed the tellers, or official counters, for the Senate and House to take their places on the podium. They are Senators Carl F. Hayden (Dem.), Arizona, and Carl T. Curtis (Rep.), Nebraska, and two women from the House, Representatives Edna F. Kelly (Dem.), New York and Frances P. Bolton (Rep.), Ohio.

When the counting began Nixon had the chamber rocking with laughter.

Byrd Leads at Start.

Alabama was the first state to be counted. It cast five votes for John F. Kennedy and six for Senator Harry Flood Byrd.

As the Sentars started to chuckle, Nixon grinned, nodded at Byrd, and said he was glad to announce "that the gentleman from Virginia is now in the lead."

Byrd accepted congratulations from Senators seated nearby.

Not since Feb. 13, 1861 has a defeated presidential candidate officiated at such a ceremony. On that day Vice President John C. Breckinridge proclaimed Abraham Lincoln the winner in a four-man race.

Lincoln got 180 of the 303 electoral votes in the 1860 election and Breckinridge finished second with 72. Like Kennedy, Lincoln failed to get a majority of the popular vote.

The formality includes no reference to the popular vote: 34,221,531 for Kennedy, 34, 108,474 for Nixon. That gave Kennedy a margin of 113,057.

Ballot Counting Ceremony.

The ballot counting ceremony in the House chamber is the last step in an elaborate election procedure that dates back to George Washington.

School Aid

300,000 population, which "are facing unique and grave educational problems," the task force proposed the equivalent of another $20 a pupil. This would be for grants to support research and experimental programs in special problems of urban schools, for planning and constructing facilities, for buying land, and for other educational purposes.

The grants would be based on a formula taking into account such things as population density, the nature of housing and the percentage of students finishing high school.

Estimated cost: $120,000,000 a year; estimated number of children benefiting: 6,000,000.

4. To help colleges, universities and junior colleges accommodate 1,000,000 new students in the next five years, the task force urged legislation providing $350,000,000 in grants, and $150,000,000 in loans to help provide facilities.

These would be first-year costs.

In succeeding years, the task force said, this phase of the educational program will require increasing sums. Grants would be provided on a matching basis, that is, federal funds would account for only half the total outlay.

5. For the college housing loan program, already in operation 10 years, the task force recommends that Congress be asked for an immediate increase in loan authorization of $150,000,000 to meet needs of the present fiscal year ending next June 30.

Beyond that, it proposes that Kennedy ask for an increase of $1,400,000,000 in the loan authorization to be spread over four years.

The Senate last year passed a school aid bill calling for 1.9 billions in grants for school construction and teachers salaries. The House passed a measure providing smaller grants. But the bills died when the House Rules Committee refused to let the legislation go to a Senate-House conference.

A bill identical to the one passed last year by the Senate was introduced yesterday by Senator Pat McNamara (Dem.), Michigan.

Kennedy had no immediate comment on the task force report. But it follows in general some of the positions he himself took during the campaign.

He recommended, for example, doubling the amount spent on education. He urged an emergency program to support school construction, boost teacher pay, and expand scholarships and research.

He said that he intended to strive for a goal of making a college education available to every young man and woman with the talent to pursue it.

By United Press International.

When Ribicoff and Hovde left Kennedy's suite, Ribicoff told reporters that any program of such magnitude was bound to have difficulty in Congress.

"The President-elect, however, feels there is great value in this report," Ribicoff said, "and he hopes the people of America who are truly interested in education will give it their most careful study."

Hovde said the general theory of the task force team was that the Federal Government should provide financial assistance for the states and then leave it pretty much to the states as to how the money should be spent, within a list of certain specified usages set forth by Congress.

Ribicoff explained that under this system one state might want to concentrate on school construction while another state might need the money more for teacher salaries.

tion, called on Russia to practice what it preaches.

He said that despite the Kremlin's professed willingness to discuss reducing the closed areas, it has "remained unwilling to discuss the abolition or reduction of its impediments to free travel."

The United States note also charged the Russians with adding materially to the officially closed areas by temporarily sealing off additional regions from time to time.

It added that "the maintenance of the closed-area system on so large a scale can only contribute to fostering suspicions and promoting tensions."

The American note said the United States would prefer to wipe out all forbidden zones. But if Russia is not ready to agree to that, it would like a "partial easing of travel restrictions through the opening of at least some areas on a reciprocal basis."

There was no suggestion in the United States note as to the level at which the proposed conference should be held. It merely suggested that "representatives of the two governments meet at an early date."

The new United States offlimits list leaves the state of Hawaii entirely open to travel by Soviet citizens. Soviet citizens are barred from the principal cities and all coastal areas of Alaska.

The United States noted that United States citizens sometimes had been unable to travel to some points in Russia even though they were not on the officially closed list. It said the city of Vorkuta, reportedly the site of a huge slaver labor camp, was "temporarily" closed for years until the Russians made the bar official 18 months ago.

The United States first closed areas to Russians in January 1955, after the Soviet Union repeatedly refused to relax travel restrictions in effect since 1941.

was thus available to hear the case, Judge Aronson declined to proceed further with the hearing.

Presiding Judge Robert G. J. Hoester of the county circuit court said that as soon as an order comes down from the Supreme Court relieving Aronson of further responsibility in the matter, the case would be sent to Judge Weinstein.

Judge Weinstein said he was ready to hear any case of an emergency nature as soon as possible. Today's hearing was on a temporary injunction to prevent County Supervisor James H. J. McNary from naming a director of the new department. The deadline for presenting the appointment to the County Council for approval expired last Wednesday but the department is not expected to start functioning until March 1.

Hardy contends in his suit that the failure of the amendment to state on the ballot that it would abolish the elective office of assessor, on which voters were also casting ballots, constituted such fraud as to invalidate the amendment.

Illinois

Republicans, because of dissident party members, still would be unable to muster enough votes to win the speakership.

Meanwhile, plans went ahead for inauguration ceremonies Monday for Gov.-elect Kerner and other state officials despite the strong likelihood that the House donnybrook will prevent canvassing of the Nov. 8 election results, a necessary preliminary to the inauguration.

Republican strategy appeared to be aimed at forcing Kerner and other Democratic leaders to come to terms and agree to G.O.P. control of the House, observers said. The Senate is in Republican hands, 31 to 27.

Carpentier, the only Republican elected to a major state office in the November balloting, sued in circuit court here yesterday to oust Powell from the speakership. He was joined in the action by Representative William Pollack of Chicago, the G.O.P. candidate for Speaker. They were represented by Republican Attorney General William Guild.

The court was asked to order Powell to show by what authority he claims to hold the speakership.

Powell's Comment.

Told of the suit, Powell asserted it was "regrettable that government in Illinois is subject to ridicule throughout the nation by this type of juvenile action based obviously on partisan politics."

"Kerner will be standing outside the door Monday, waiting to be Governor," Powell said. "If the Republicans want to thwart the public will, that's their business."

The Republicans charge that the three ailing Chicago G.O.P. representatives, Peter J. Miller, Walter C. McAvoy and August J. Ruf — all employes of the Democratic-controlled Chicago Sanitary District, were coerced into staying away from the Wednesday House session.

However, a check at Chicago indicated that the three were ill. Miller was in Columbus Hospital and his physician said he was in acute pain from a slipped spinal disc.

Ruf was in St. George Hospital with injuries suffered in a fainting spell, but told reporters he expected to be able to leave in time to come to Springfield Monday.

McAvoy was bedridden at home with a recurrent hernia condition.

Representative John P. Manning of Rochelle was in a Rockford hospital undergoing tests after collapsing recently. His wife said he probably would be there for at least one week.

However, even if these four are able to attend the Monday session, it appeared the Republicans still would have difficulty making their one-vote majority effective.

Republican Representative Michael Zlatnik of Chicago told reporters he did not intend to vote for Pollack, the G.O.P. caucus choice for speaker.

Zlatnik's differences with Pollack grew out of the primary and election campaigns. He said he would vote "present" on a speakership roll call.

Powell was elected Speaker at the 1959 session through a coalition of Republicans and downstate Democrats who opposed the choice of Cook county Democrats for Speaker.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 6 (AP)—Missouri's traffic death total for 1960 reached 1040 today as additional late deaths were reported by the State Highway Patrol. The 1959 total was 990.

So far in 1961, eleven have been killed, compared to 25 at the same point a year ago.

Seven Killed as House Falls.

BOMBAY, India, Jan. 6 (AP)—Seven persons were killed and 12 seriously injured by collapse of a three-story house in the city's slum area last night.

LOUISIANA GOVERNOR SEEKS FINAL OK ON SALES TAX HIKE

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. Jimmie H. Davis struggled today for Senate votes in a drive for final legislative approval of his sales tax increase to finance private, segregated schools.

Opponents, who argued the tax was unnecessary and had no direct connection with segregation, said privately the Governor's one-cent sales tax rise lacked two votes of having enough to meet the two-thirds majority requirement under the state constitution. The Governor needed 26 votes among the 39 senators.

The one-cent sales tax rise—expected to raise $28,000,000—would go into effect immediately upon being signed by the Governor and would last through Aug. 31. Revenues would provide grants to pupils in private co-operative schools, giving what legislative leaders call freedom of choice.

BUSCH'S BABY ELEPHANT DIES OF LIVER AILMENT

One of the smallest baby elephants ever shipped to this country, which had been on display at Grant's farm, St. Louis county, died of a liver ailment, an autopsy showed today. The elephant, brought to this country by August A. Busch Jr., died Saturday.

A spokesman for Busch, president of both Anheuser-Busch Inc. and the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team, said the small animal had not been visibly ill. The elephant, about 32 inches high at the shoulders, arrived here last August.

It had been seen by more than 100,000 persons at Grant's Farm, the Busch estate, the spokesman said. He added that the baby elephant had been taught to wrap its trunk around baby bottles and feed some of the other small animals at the estate on Gravois road.

NEWSPAPER COMIC PRINTERS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI)—The Government today charged three firms with conspiring to monopolize the printing and sale of Sunday newspaper color comic supplements. Named in a civil suit filed in Buffalo, N.Y., were Greater Buffalo Press, Inc., of Buffalo the Hearst Corp of New York and Newspaper Enterprise Association of Cleveland.

The Greater Buffalo was described as the foremost color printer of Sunday newspaper supplements in the United States. Hearst Corp. operates King features syndicate. Newsaper Enterprise association is a subsidiary of E. W. Scripps Co., Inc., of Cincinnati.

The Government suit charged that many newspapers in the United States have been denied the advantages of competitive bidding for the printing of their newspaper color supplements because of an alleged conspiracy among the defendants not to compete.

SENATE TAKES UP PROPOSED CURB ON FILIBUSTERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The perennial fight to devise means of choking off filibusters holds the center of the stage in the Senate.

Activity mounts in the wings, meanwhile bushels of bills are being introduced, some of them considered top priority by the incoming administration of President-elect John F. Jennedy.

A lull in the filibuster fight occurs today when the House and Senate meet in joint session. They will count the votes cast by presidential electors in their state capitols on Dec. 19.

Voice Vote Taken.

On the filibuster front, the Senate agreed yesterday by voice vote to take up the proposed rules changes.

Senators proposing a curb on filibusters maintained at a press conference that there was no danger the issue itself could bog down the Senate past Kennedy's Jan. 20 inauguration.

The bipartisan group of liberals said it could use a parliamentary device to bring the dispute to a vote if southern Senators should attempt a filibuster.

Senator Richard B. Russell (Dem.), Georgia, told reporters the Southerners were "not stalling." He added that as a practical matter he could not see how any vote could be taken before next week.

By then, a compromise move may gain greater backing. This plan would permit a time limit to be imposed on debates by three-fifths of the Senators present and voting. Now a two-thirds margin is required.

House Rules Fight.

Another compromise plan to speed Kennedy's congressional program is gaining strong backing in the House. Reportedly acceptable to some conservative as well as liberal Democrats, it could break a deadlock over how to prevent the House Rules Committee from bottling up legislation.

The plan averts any Rules Committee purge.

Southerners would agree not to use their Rules Committee power to slow down the Kennedy program.

At the same time, the committee would lose it power to stifle bills passed by both branches of Congress but not adjusted by conference committees. Such bills would be allowed to go to conference without prior approval by the Rules Committee.

Civil rights legislation would not be subject to the agreement.

Among the more than 200 bills introduced in the Senate yesterday were these:

A $389,500,000 measure for depressed areas. Senator Paul H. Douglas (Dem.), Illinois, its chief sponsor, said it is a top item on the Kennedy program. It is Senate Bill No. 1.

A $1,900,000,000 federal aid-to-education proposal, carrying grants for school construction and teacher salaries, by Senator Pat McNamara (Dem.), Michigan.

Legislation to set up a medical care program for retired persons under the Social Security System, by McNamara. He said the bill would cover the more than 13,000,000 persons over 65 who are under Social Security and about 3,000,000 others who are not. McNamara claimed Kennedy indorsement for such a proposal.

In the House, Representative William E. Miller of New York was re-elected yesterday as chairman of the national Republican congressional committee. Miller became chairman of the committee last January when he was chosen as successor to the late Representative Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania.

FABIAN SHORT OF CREDITS FOR FINISHING HIGH SCHOOL

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 (AP)—Fabian will not be able to be graduated with his high school class, Joseph J. Rossi, principal of South Philadelphia High, said today.

Rossi said the 17-year-old singer and actor had been so busy making films that he lacked enough credits in English and mathematics to qualify for graduation on the night of Jan. 19.

Fabian—his full name is Fabian Forte—has been getting private tutoring in Philadelphia and in Hollywood and has good grades in those subjects for which he has taken special examinations, Rossi said.

Fabian was scheduled to return to Philadelphia last month to complete his work but couldn't make it. The principal said he was confident Fabian would make the grade in June.

BULLETIN:

Shell discloses the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell—and the remarkable things they do to give your car top performance

Super Shell gasoline, with nine ingredients, is now in St. Louis. Today's formula contains cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate—a new, improved version of TCP. Read how this patented additive increases mileage, releases power, and helps your car give top performance

TODAY, every Shell dealer in this area has remarkable Super Shell in his pumps.

A notice on each Super Shell pump promises that this gasoline will give your car top performance. Shell's scientists want you to know why they can make this promise.

Ingredient #1 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug-life

Super Shell now contains an even better version of this famous additive. Its chemical name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power; up to 17 extra miles per tankful; and can make plugs last up to twice as long.*

New TCP does this by neutralizing certain harmful effects of combustion deposits. It is scientifically formulated to keep them from glowing when hot—a major cause of power loss. Also to keep them from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

Ingredient #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—the mysterious substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

Ingredient #3 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Alkylate—the ingredient that took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: The engine in your car may frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7 at cruising speed. Think of this next time you are passing on the highway.

Ingredient #4 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

Ingredient #5 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400 feet below ground to stop it from vaporizing by itself. Think what this extra volatility means in cold weather. Your engine fires in seconds. There is less strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

Ingredient #6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

Ingredient #7 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted as often as eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead.

Ingredient #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick.

Ingredient #9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately for you and for us, this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane gasoline.

But make no mistake. This is not untamed energy. Far from it. The super-energy of Platformate is harnessed by the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it behaves so well you scarcely know it's there. That is until you note your extra mileage. After that, there is no doubt.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

That difference is top performance.

'Guantanamo--Danger Next Door'

JIM BISHOP, best-selling author of "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" and "The Day Christ Died."

Last July, the Cuban revolutionary regime under Fidel Castro started making threats against the United States Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba — a 28,000-acre area which has been in the possession of the U.S. since 1903. What makes this base so strategically important? Can Castro take or harm the fortress? What is it like for the 2500 American military personnel and their wives and children who live on this "hotbox" of the Caribbean?

To give readers the answers to these and many other questions, famous author and columnist Jim Bishop visited Guantanamo, accompanied by illustrator-cartoonist Burris Jenkins Jr. Beginning THIS SUNDAY in the POST-DISPATCH EVERYDAY MAGAZINE, Bishop vividly describes the massive might of Guantanamo . . . the day-to-day life of Americans there . . . the work . . . the tensions . . . the possible dangers. And to provide Post-Dispatch readers with a thorough understanding of the situation, Bishop also delves into the background of Castro and the Cuban revolutionary movement. This four-part series will be complete with photographs and graphic on-the-spot drawings.

SEALING OF KIVU, RUANDA BORDER SOUGHT BY U.N.

BUKAVU, Congo, Jan. 6 (UPI)—United Nations officials sought today to persuade the pro-Lumumba civil authorities controlling this capital of Kivu province to agree to a no-man's-land along the border with Belgian-administered Ruanda-Urundi.

The frontier was the scene of a bitter clash last weekend between forces loyal to deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba and a company of Congolese strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu's paratroopers. The paratroopers were attacked as they crossed the border under a white flag.

(Belgian authorities granted permission to Mobutu to use the airfield at Usumbura to land the troops following reports in Leopoldville that the Lumumbists had kidnaped five top Kivu provincial officials and seized control of the province in eastern Congo. The Lumumbists also hold Oriental province.

(Reports in Kampala in the British protectorate of Uganda said that pro-Lumumba troops had captured four European officers and policemen near a police roadblock in the border area. The officials were sent to the roadblock near Kisoro, two miles inside Uganda, to check reports that pro-Lumumba troops were digging in on the ill-defined Kivu-Uganda border.)

It was learned that United Nations efforts to seal the border were running into difficulties from civil authorities led by Anicet Kashamura, the self-styled king of Bukavu. Kashamura was information minister in the Lumumba government.

There were reports that pro-Lumumba soldiers had commandeered automobiles and trucks to move on Uvira, a Congolese town 62 miles south of here and only 20 miles from Usumbura, capital of Ruanda-Urundi.

Reinforcements were reported pouring in here from northern Kivu, which borders on Oriental province where the pro-Lumumba forces have set up an independent regime in Stanleyville.

The troops held this town and its 1200 terrified European residents under a tight check. Numerous roadblocks were erected in the streets. Few Europeans venture outside their homes. Troops take goods from shops and stores without payment.

By the Associated Press.

Maj. Gilbert Pongo, The Congo security chief who brought Lumumba back to Leopoldville in captivity, was a prisoner himself today of the Lumubist rebels—and appealed for the ex-Premier's release.

The United Nations confirmed that Pongo had been taken to the rebel stronghold of Stanleyville following the unsuccessful attack by Mobutu's forces on rebel-held Kivu province last weekend.

From Stanleyville Pongo cabled President Joseph Kasavubu appealing for Lumuba's liberation in the interest of national unity. Two U.N. officers saw Pongo in Stanleyville and reported he was "not in bad shape." The 31-year-old major was Mobutu's top hatchet man and the scourge of Lumumba supporters in Leopoldville.

Kennedy

"It assumes that our new jobs will be barely enough to provide work for the 1,200,000 workers who are added to the labor force in 1961 and that unemployment remains a grave social problem. . . .

"It is only wise, though, to be prepared for an even worse outlook. . . . "If economic reports on business during the early months of the year begin to suggest the more pessimistic outlook, then it will be the duty of public policy to take a more active, expansionary role."

The Samuelson report did not call for "an exactly balanced national budget" as long as "expansion is strong and vigorous." Surpluses should be created in succeeding years to compensate for deficits caused in stimulating the economy, the report said.

It will be the new administration's function, the report said, to restore the balance of payments reflected in the loss of gold reserves. Production and employment must be increased, to gain healthy recovery, and international complications must not thwart a vigorous domestic policy, the report said.

The goal of high employment and effective real growth cannot be abandoned because of fear of inflation, Samuelson told Kennedy.

The report said that due to a 1958-59 recession which "everyone but the authorities admitted" the 1959 annual budget met with a deficit of more than 12 billions.

"Not even an ostrich can avert the economic facts of life," the report continued. "He misreads the role of confidence in economic life who thinks that denying the obvious will cure the ailments of a modern economy."

The task force recommended caution and flexibility, stressing that it was as important to know what not to do, as well as what to do.

Defense Spending.

By the Associated Press.

The committee said defense spending, which accounts for more than half of about 80 billion dollars in the federal budget, ought to be determined on the merits of projects and never should be "the football of economic stabilization."

An increase in foreign aid "skillfully tailored to take into account the international payment position" was recommended, without details as to how this step would combat the business slump.

The panel called for vigorous pushing of education programs, including funds for school construction, teachers salaries and increased loans for college dormitories.

Other proposals included city renewal programs; health and welfare programs; improved unemployment compensation, with emergency legislation to permit all states to continue paying benefits for at least 39 weeks; acceleration of useful public works and highway construction programs; federal aid to areas of chronic unemployment; and natural resource development projects.

Kennedy had no immediate comment on the report, which was made public after he had reviewed it with Samuelson, Dr. Walter W. Heller, University of Minnesota economist chosen to be chairman of the incoming President's Council of Economic Advisers, and James Tobin, Yale University economist, whose appointment to the council was announced by Kennedy last night.

As the other member of the three-man council, Kennedy named Kermit Gordon, the Ford Foundation's director of economic development and administration.

The President-elect plans to fly late today to Washington for a series of conferences. The first is scheduled for tonight with Dean Rusk, who will be Secretary of State. Kennedy intends to return to New York Sunday.

Before yesterday's conference on the economy, Kennedy met for two hours with leaders of several farm organizations. He asked them to submit farm program recommendations at another meeting Jan. 26 in Washington.

Other study committees will meet with Kennedy today to report on Latin American problems, education, housing and urban affairs and international exchange programs in cultural and other fields.

To Exchange Envoys.

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Moscow radio said yesterday that Communist Outer Mongolia and the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal have agreed to establish diplomatic relations.

BALKS AT LISTING INCOME SOURCES IN PAYOFF PROBE

WASHINGTON, Jan 6 (AP)—A Government employe refused today to tell Senate investigators the sources of nearly $100,000 of his income. He pleaded that to do so "might tend to incriminate me."

George P. Cross insisted, however, that "I have done nothing wrong" in his government work as superintending port engineer at Brooklyn, N.Y., for the Military Sea Transportation Service.

Senator John L. McClellan, chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, told Cross he was "on dangerous ground" in at once denying wrongdoing and invoking his Fifth Amendment privilege against giving self-incriminating testimony or evidence.

Looking Into Pay-offs.

The subcommittee is investigating alleged pay-offs by ship-repair contractors to employes of MSTS at Brooklyn, in connection with contracts for work on the fleet of ships the MSTS maintains to transport personnel and cargoes between military bases. McClellan said yesterday that pay-offs for improper inspections could endanger the safety of crews and passengers aboard the ships.

McClellan told Cross the subcommittee staff had dug out evidence concerning approximately $100,000 of unaccounted-for income that the Senator said has passed through Cross's hands in the last five years.

Cross refused to surrender records bearing on his financial affairs, contending that to do so might tend to incriminate him.

But he told McClellan, "Sir, I am prepared to say under oath that I have never done anything wrong——"

McClellan interrupted him at this point, but later the witness said he has done nothing wrong on his government job.

Clarifies Testimony.

Cross's New York lawyer, Louis Bender, told McClellan, "He didn't say he hadn't done anything wrong in anything he had ever done."

McCellan said he does not believe a witness has a right to deny wrongdoing and then refuse to surrender evidence that would show whether he had told the truth.

"You do know," McCellan said to Cross, "there is a question by the committee about bank and cash transactions . . . aggregating about $100,000."

Cross replied that this was the first time he had heard that total mentioned by anyone from the subcommittee. He insisted he was within his rights in refusing to turn over the subpenaed documents because they dealt with private matters.

McCellan said the committee had no interest in Cross's personal affairs, but did have a right to check, under the circumstances, on whether his personal affairs and government work were related.

He said it is the duty of the committee to make the inquiry where there were "grounds for strong suspicion, as there are in this instance."

One former employe has testified he received about $9000 in cash and gifts from contractors whose work he inspected at the base. Two men still working at the base have denied receiving any payoffs, or gifts.

Joseph Bennett, of Houston, Tex., a former inspector at the base, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee yesterday that he accepted the $9000 in "favors." He called them common practice among the Navy agency's civilian workers.

Bennett insisted that he had no first-hand knowledge that others were accepting them. "We don't write about them, we don't talk about them—we're not proud of these transactions," he testified.

Garrison C. Tyler, a supervisory ship maintenance and operations specialist for MSTS, and William S. Mackie, who supervises MSTS inspectors, denied receiving any payoffs or accepting any gifts.

Bennett first rejected, then accepted, the word payoff as a correct description of money he had accepted, but made clear he really considered it as favors. Showing little emotion, he told of payments of $25 to $500 from contractors from 1951 to 1958. He said the money and gifts amounted to $1500 a year.

Some of it, he said, seemed like a gift from Santa Claus because he was not even sure why he was getting the money. Accepting such favors is so widespread a practice, Bennett said, it amounts to "common protocol."

Bennett said he received only $500 of a promised $1000 payment from Jack Kane, head of the now defunct Kane Shipyard Corp., with an explanation that the other $500 had gone to Tyler.

Tyler testified he had never received money from Kane, who since has died.

Referring to Tucker's proposal for a municipally-owned system, Deeken said the core city "is not the growing part of the metropolitan area," which should be even more concerned than St. Louis about improved transit service.

"Moreover, it would be an excessive burden on citizens of St. Louis to subsidize mass transit for the area—and that is what we're going to have to do," he said. "We cannot have satisfactory mass transportation without subsidization."

Deeken expressed belief that private enterprise could not, without subsidization, provide the speedier mass transportation needed in the metropolitan area. He would oppose subsidizing privately-owned transit companies, he said.

Would Divert Road Funds.

Deeken said he believed it would be wiser to divert part of the large sums being spent for highway construction to support rapid mass transit facilities.

"Good transit service would encourage people to leave their automobiles at home, thereby relieving the congested trafficways," Deeken said. "As it is now, the more old thoroughfares we widen and the more new ones we build, the more automobile traffic is generated, causing us to widen and build again. We're going to lay concrete over everything until finally we'll have only lamp posts left."

Mayor Lee M. Duggan of Richmond Heights said the engineering recommendation "appears to have merit."

"A rapid transit system must be developed to get the people to work in the morning and home at night without clogging the streets with automobile traffic," he said. "The practical approach toward developing such a system would be to consolidate present transportation companies and then work toward the rapid transit network needed."

The Gilman report was made to the Bi-State Agency, which had requested and financed the study. Bi-State's board of commissioners is studying the report and plans to meet in about two weeks to decide what action should be taken.

PENNSYLVANIA WOULD GIVE EISENHOWER POLICE GUARD

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 6 (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence says Pennsylvania will provide President Eisenhower with whatever state police protection he feels he needs when the President retires to his Gettysburg farm Jan. 20.

Protection for the retiring President might be in order, said Lawrence, because international tensions mean there are "a lot of screwballs around."

Mr. Eisenhower, incidentally, faces some red tape ahead of him if he wants to get a Pennsylvania license to drive his own car. O. D. Shipley, state commissioner of traffic safety, said he would have to apply for a learner's permit, followed by a road test for a regular license. The 70-year-old President does not have a license now.

BUDGET SURPLUS TO BE PREDICTED BY EISENHOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The budget President Eisenhower will send Congress before leaving office will be bigger than this year's and will forecast a surplus next fiscal year of at least $600,000,000.

Authoritative sources, in giving details yesterday, said the increased amount in the federal 1962 budget will mostly cover defense outlays. This year's budget recently was estimated at $80,500,000,000 on the spending side.

The budget predictions are based on the assumption that the business recession will not worsen and that a gradual recovery will begin in the next few weeks.

Most Washington economists assume the opposite.

Also, the forecast surplus would be erased should Congress reject two congressional proposals Mr. Eisenhower will submit:

1. An increase in postal rates to offset the Post Office Department's operating deficit of about $600,000,000. Similar requests were turned down last year and in 1959.

2. Action to continue the temporary increase of 1 cent a gallon in the regular 3-cent federal gasoline tax. The increase is due to expire on June 30. This would be a $600,000,000 item in the 1962 fiscal year, which begins July 1.

Mr. Eisenhower will also request blocking of a scheduled diversion of some auto excise tax receipts from the general fund to the road-financing highway trust fund, which is outside the budget. This would be worth $800,000,000.

Mr. Eisenhower will send his annual budget measure to Congress on Jan. 16. It will represent the program he would want to pursue, were he remaining in office.

President-elect John F. Kennedy will take office Jan. 20. His Administration and Congress no doubt will make important changes in the budget.

GEN. GURSEL NAMES NEW TURKISH CABINET MEMBERS

ANKARA, Jan. 6 (AP)—Turkey's Chief of State, Gen. Cemal Gursel, named a new cabinet last night. It included 11 ministers from the administration that resigned Wednesday.

Gursel will serve as Premier in the new government. He renamed Selim Sarper as Foreign Minister.

Seven new cabinet ministers were named, including two from the People's Republican party of former President and Premier Ismet Inonu. The party formed the chief opposition to the government of ousted Premier Adnan Menderes. Members of the 23-man ruling military junta were excluded from the new cabinet with the exception of Gursel himself.

Ex-French Premier Injured.
METZ, France, Jan. 6 (AP)—Doctors reported former Premier Robert Schuman is recovering after lying helpless in cold and rain for 12 hours. Schuman, 74 years old, tripped and fell at the edge of a wood 50 yards from his home while taking a walk Wednesday. He was unable to get up. Members of his household finally found him.

The Priceless Extra of Experience

Think for a moment of the many choices we make in life which are determined by our confidence in somebody's experience.

Choices in important things, like selecting a doctor, a lawyer, or an investment counselor. In less important things, like having something repaired. In even minor, everyday, personal problems, where we want wise guidance.

So deeply ingrained is this basis for choice in all our actions, it comes as no surprise when so many experienced travelers say that this is why, when they fly overseas, they put their trust in Pan American.

For Pan American is "The World's Most Experienced Airline"—in years of flying over the seven seas—in every type of transport plane—in fine mechanics who maintain these planes—in pilots and engineers who fly and navigate them—in all the many services to care for you before you embark, while on your flight, and when you land. All under the high discipline of U.S. flight standards.

A Pan American traveler is a confident traveler, reposing his trust in these years and years of experience in getting you from here to there—comfortably, dependably, serenely.

14 HEPATITIS DEATHS TRACED TO ONE DOCTOR

TRENTON, N.J., Jan. 6 (AP) The state of New Jersey is investigating the deaths of 14 patients of hepatitis after receiving injections from an osteopathic physician, specializing in psychiatry.

The Atorney General's office, the State Board of Medical Examiners and the State Health Department all were involved in the investigation of Dr. Albert L. Weiner of Erlton, a Camden county community about five miles from Philadelphia.

The Health Department disclosed yesterday that it started its investigation Oct. 24, when several South Jersey hospitals informed it of an unusual number of cases of serum hepatitis, an acute liver disease.

It said it found 44 cases in the next month, 14 of them fatal and all of them patients of Dr. Weiner.

Whereabouts Undisclosed.

Mrs. Weiner told a reporter that her husband had been ill for several weeks and had taken a vacation. She did not say where he had gone, but added that he had no public statement to make.

A day after the inquiry started, the Health Department ordered Dr. Weiner to stop giving injections to his patients.

A Health Department spokesman said Dr. Weiner apparently gave injections of various drugs to calm his patients and it was possible the apparatus he used may have introduced the hepatitis virus into their blood.

The State Board of Medical Examiners suspended Dr. Weiner's license Dec. 21 on a temporary basis pending outcome of its inquiry.

Atorney General David D. Furman said his office was conducting an investigation to see if Dr. Weiner's license should be suspended permanently or if any criminal prosecution should be undertaken.

Former Deputy Attorney General Andrew Salvest reported to Furman a month ago that there did not seem to be enough evidence to charge Dr. Weiner with malpractice.

Liver Specialist Engaged.

Furman said the medical board had a liver specialist trying to discover just how Dr. Weiner's patients got the hepatitis.

Several hundred osteopaths are licensed in New Jersey. The State Medical Board has ruled their training is equivalent to that given a doctor of medicine and they practice on equal footing with medical doctors.

Dr. Weiner is acting chairman of the department of neurology and psychiatry at Philadelphia College of Osteopathy. A spokesman at the college said Dr. Weiner had not been there since Dec. 1.

Dr. Weiner, who is 43 years old, was graduated from the college in 1942 and lived on the west coast and in the middle west before returning to the greater Philadelphia area about four years ago. He has been on the staff of Cherry Hill hospital near Haddonfield since the osteopathic hospital opened eight months ago.

Israeli-Arab Clash.

TEL AVIV, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Israel army said an Arab infiltrator was killed, another was wounded and captured and a third escaped in a clash with an Israel border patrol near Gush Halav village, close to the Lebanese borded last night. A Czech-made sub-machinegun, grenades and food supplies were found, an army spokesman said.

3 TESTIFY SIGNAL FAILED ON DAY OF AIR COLLISION

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP) — Three pilots injected the possibility today that a faulty radio beacon signal may have contributed to the collision of two airliners over New York Dec. 16.

They testified at a Civil Aeronautics Board inquiry into the collision between a United Air Lines DC-8 jet and a Trans World Airlines Constellation. The disaster claimed 134 lives and was the worst in aviation history.

Capt. W. J. Picune, veteral U.A.L. pilot, said the Colt's Neck radio beacon had led him to a point four or five mies off Staten Island on Dec. 16, hours after the crash, when his instruments indicated he was in the Preston holding pattern.

The jet that collided with the Constellation was supposed to be in the Preston pattern preparatory to an approach to Idlewild airport. The planes met about 10 miles northeast of the Preston area. The Constellation was headed for Laguardia airport.

Picune said he was tuned to the Col's Neck radio to guide him into the Preston pattern but he looked out and saw he was over water, a few miles off Miller field on Staten island. He said he used other navigational aids into Idlewild.

The collision point was over Staten island, and the Constellation crashed near Miller field. The jet staggered on for nine miles and crashed in Brooklyn.

Another U.A.L. pilot, Capt. P. L. Wallace, also told of receiving what he called "an erroneous signal" at the Colt's Neck radio signal on Dec. 16.

He said that at about 6:30 p.m. on a regular passenger flight to New York Idlewild approach radar informed him he was over Preston. His radio signal from Colt's Neck, however, showed that he had not yet reached Preston, he said.

Other Signals Normal.

The captain testified that at all other times of the flight the signals on his radio receiver were normal.

Earlier, an American Airlines pilot testified that on the day of the crash he had difficulty receiving the Colt's Neck radio directional signals.

Capt. Walter P. Moran, a pilot since 1935, said he encountered the trouble on the afternoon of Dec. 16, some five hours after the collision.

The pilot, who was flying a Boeing 707 jet, said his analysis indicated there was an area of "nil radio reception from the Colt's Neck facility."

KENNEDY SLIPS OUT, GOES TO HENRY FONDA'S HOME

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy slipped out of his Carlyle Hotel suite last night by way of a baggage room door. Police and secret service agents on duty in the lobby were unaware of his departure.

Informed by reporters of Kennedy's disappearance, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger commented with a chuckle, "Good luck. Keep me informed if you find him."

Kennedy returned to the Carlyle near midnight by way of a little-used door. Later, guests leaving a party at the home of actor Henry Fonda said Kennedy had been there. Fonda refused to talk to reporters.

BOWLES FACING G.O.P. INQUIRY ON RED CHINA VIEWS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois said yesterday that Republican Senators would "thoroughly explore" the views of Chester Bowles on China policy when his nomination to be Under Secretary of State reaches Senate.

(Meanwhile Senator A. Willis Robertson (Dem.), Virginia, told United Press International he would oppose the nomination of Dr. Robert Weaver as House and Home Finance Administrator. Robertson said his opposition was not based on the fact that Weaver is a Negro.

(Robertson and Senator John J. Sparkman (Dem.), of Alabama, complained that President-elect John F. Kennedy did not notify them of the selection in advance. Robertson is chairman of the Senate Banking Committee and Sparkman chairman of a housing subcommittee.)

Predicts Negative Vote.

Dirksen, the Republican minority leader, said in an interview that "there could be come votes against" Bowles's confirmation.

It appears that one will be that of Senator Norris Cotton (Rep.), who told reporters. "I couldn't bring myself to vote for his confirmation. I may well actively oppose him in the Senate."

Cotton's colleague from New Hampshire, Senator Styles Bridges, the chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said that some of Bowles's past statements might "involve the United States in recognition of Red China and in admitting it to the United Nations."

President-elect John F. Kennedy has announced he will nominate Bowles, former Governor and ex-Democratic Representative from Connecticut and Kennedy's campaign foreign policy adviser, to the No. 2 post in the State Department.

Dirksen said that when the Bowles nomination is received, the Republicans will seek "an answer to what his views are and the course he intends to pursue."

"I think he ought to be carefully screened," he added.

To Be Heard After Rusk.

Bowles is expected to be given a hearing before the Senate Foreign Ralations Committee after the committee questions Dean Rusk, Kennedy's choice for Secretary of State. Rusk may be heard next week.

Senator George D. Aiken (Rep.), Vermont, a member of that committee, said he does not anticipate "any serious effort to block the Bowles appointment" but expects some of the appointee's "old statements to be brought up and reviewed."

"I have felt the President has responsibility for such appointments, and unless there is extreme provocation I have always supported confirmation," Aiken added.

"At the same time it is perfectly proper for the opposition party to bring out any defects in a nominee, and I support such an inquiry.

"However, unless something is brought out that definitely indicates the appointment would be harmful to the country, I'll go along with the new President's appointees and hold him personally responsible for them."

Senator John Sherman Cooper (Rep.), Kentucky, who followed Bowles as Ambassador to India, said Bowles "is a man of ability."

Hostile Committee Head.

By United Press International.

Robertson's committee must act on Weaver's nomination.

Sparkman said he did not want to comment on the choice of the New Yorker for the housing job until the full committee holds hearings.

It was learned, however, that Sparkman opposed Weaver because he felt the New Yorker had a hand in keeping Arkansas Senator J. William Fulbright from the post of Secretary of State. Some Kennedy advisers feared Fulbright's Southern background would hurt this country in Africa and Asia.

Robertson and Sparkman said their choice for the housing job was Joseph McMurray, a former chief clerk of the housing subcommittee who once held a post similar to Weaver's in New York City.

Weaver, vice chairman of New York City's housing and redevelopment board, would direct the multi-million-dollar federal housing programs.

Robertson said he was "surprised and disappointed" at the selection and added he felt that Kennedy did "not pick the right man."

Sparkman was more guarded. He said he did not know Weaver or anything about him and wanted to listen to the testimony before taking a stand.

Robertson said he would see Kennedy or his personnel adviser in an attempt to keep the President-elect from sending Weaver's name to the Senate. If that fails, Robertson indicated he would oppose Weaver in committee.

DR. RICHARD P. HARD HEADS COUNTY YOUNG G.O.P. CLUB

Dr. Richard P. Hard, a resident in pathology at St. Louis University Medical School, has been elected president of the St. Louis County Young Republican Club, it was announced today. He succeeds Joseph B. Moore as head of the 1200-member organization.

Other elected officers include Layton Stewart, first vice president; Miss Elizabeth Nolte, second vice president; Michael Kiernan, treasurer; Miss Marian Brown, recording secretary, and Miss Wanda Baker, corresponding secretary.

Named to the executive board were George Ward, William Richter, Robert Crawford, Miss Patricia Bowman and Miss Neva Gottfried.

MSD OK'S $139,000 SEWER PROJECTS

Two contracts totaling $139,000 for sewer construction were confirmed yesterday by the board of trustees of the Metropolitan Sewer District.

The larger contract for $120,000 for a combined sanitary and storm water sewer project in the Waddell-Weber subdistrict was awarded to Nash Contracting Co. The subdistrict includes parts of th ecity and county east of River Des Peres.

A contract for $19,000 was awarded to Macquire Construction Co. for sewers in the Green Valley drive subdistrict, north of Chambers road between Halls Ferry and West Florissant roads. There are 11 homes in the area.

Ninety-five tax bills were levied in the Lilac North subdistrict for construction of sanitary lateral sewers. Total cost of the improvements was $55,537.

In other action, the board declared construction of subtrunk sanitary sewers to be a public necessity in the Pattonville subdistrict, near Lindbergh boulevard and St. Charles road west of St. Ann. The area includes about 700 acres.

The board's action authorized a public interest hearing on the Pattonville project. Peter F. Mattei, interim executive director of MSD, said probable cost of installation of the sewers would be about $230,000 which would be financed by special tax bills.

Public boundary hearings were authorized in three subdistricts established yesterday. The subdistricts are Behle and Emerald, north St. Louis county; Demerville, in the Lemay area, and Country Fair in the Creve Coeur-Frontenac subdistrict area.

The board also authorized public interest hearings in the following subdistricts: Sackston Woods, south of Ladue road and west of Ballas road; Georgian Acres trunk and Huntleigh Downs lateral, both in the Creve Coeur-Frontenac area.

A 30-minute color and sound film on water pollution, "How We Saved Our River," was shown to the trustees. The motion picture, produced by the Portland Cement Association, showed community concern and action on pollution abatement. H. C. Rose, field engineer for the association, said the film would be at the disposal of MSD for showing to interested groups.

NEW MODEL B-52 DESIGNED TO FIRE SKYBOLT MISSILE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UPI)—The Air Force announced yesterday a major step in development of the most mobile weapon combination yet devised—a combination of the jet bomber and a ballistic missile.

The bomber is the B-52H, an improved B-52 with much more powerful engines, which can fly more than 10,000 miles without refueling. The missile it will carry is the Skybolt, with a 1000-mile range. This would allow the planes to deliver their pay loads far from defenses.

The Air Force said each B-52H will carry four of the solid-fueled Skybolts in addition to a hydrogen bomb load. The announcement was made as a B-52H equipped with test models of the Skybolt was rolled out at the Wichita, (Kan.) plant of Boeing Airplane Co.

The Air Force said that power and guidance launchings will be made in "the next few years" over the Atlantic. The weapon is expected to be operational in 1964.

Reports of Invasion of Laos By North Viet Nam Troops Appear to Have Been Untrue

Vientiane Officials Embroidered on Panicky Dispatches From Frontier—Fact Remains Increased Red Activity Threatens Country.

By JACQUES NEVARD

VIENTIANE, Jan. 6.

THE REPORTED INVASION OF LAOS last weekend by seven battalions of Vietminh from Communist North Viet Nam appears to have been wholly untrue.

According to responsible Western military and diplomatic observers here, no Vietminh battalions have invaded Laos and the forecast is that none is likely to in the near future. Laotians outside the government indorse this view.

Many government officials United States, which remains the sole support of the regime.

themselves are embarrassed and evasive when questioned about the reported invasion.

The reports are believed to have been the result of embroidery by officials of the new pro-Western government on dispatches sent them by panicky army officers stationed on the northeast frontier.

The great fear of responsible persons here, however, is that knocking down of the report of an alleged invasion may hide the real fact that Laos is menaced by increased Communist military activity in its northern and northeastern provinces.

IN LARGE AREAS of Phongsaly, Sam Neua, Xiengkhouang and Luang Prabang provinces and even in the northern tip of Vientiane province itself forces of leftwing Capt. Kong Le and pro-Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas maintain the initiative and hold a number of key road points and airfields.

They are continuously being supplied with food and materiel from North Viet Nam brought in by Soviet transport planes from Hanoi. These planes are reported also used for transporting troops within areas under pro-Communist control and for dropping parachutists.

There is no way of knowing at this time whether the planes are bringing in additional North Viet Namese "cadres" to add to those who have long operated with and trained the Pathet Lao. According to Laotian government sources, Soviet planes have begun "taking personnel out" and there is speculation that these may be North Viet Namese, Communist Chinese or Soviet technicians and advisers.

Reports of the alleged invasion may lead to an on-the-scene inquiry by an international body and the Communist bloc wants to take no risk of its nationals being discovered here.

WESTERN SOURCES have pieced together the origin of the reports of invasion as follows:

Last Friday or Saturday, two battalions of Vietminh stationed near Nong Het on the Laotian border due east of Xiengkhouang massed and began shouting as if an attack was imminent. Possibly shots were fired. Laotian border posts panicked and reported an invasion in progress. Under cover of this feint Kong Le's forces and the Pathet Lao moved in and seized an airfield at the Plain of Jars north of Xiengkhouang and other key points.

Faced with the unpleasant fact that pro-Communists had taken vital areas and possibly because they believed the panicky reports, officials here announced that an invasion was under way. There was also considerable feeling among Western observers that a number of Laotian officials who were not entirely convinced of the reports from the frontier authorized the announcement of an invasion in an effort to spur the flow of aid from the popular view in this country that an American embassy is sort of a badge of our approval of the government concerned or a reward for good conduct.

In the modern world, however, this is not what an embassy is. We maintain embassies in other countries not because we approve of what goes on in those countries but because we live on the same planet with them and either have to remain in contact with them or at least watch what they are up to. This is why we remain in Moscow and many other places run by governments we do not approve.

Among other reasons, we have ambassadors abroad for the same reason that we have soldiers on constant patrol along the iron curtain: We want to know what's going on; and the more hostile the enemy is, the more we patrol night and day.

The real test in the Cuban case is not whether slamming the door makes Mr. Eisenhower feel better, but whether it promotes the interests of the United States. Maybe it will, but obviously Castro did not think so. He provoked and presumably wanted the break, but it is Kennedy and not Mr. Eisenhower who must now deal with the consequences.

Japanese Defense Delayed.

SHIZUOKA, Japan, Jan. 6—(AP)—Defense Director Naomi Nishimura says new United States dollar saving measures will delay for a year Japan's start on a new five-year defense program. It cannot get under way, he said yesterday, until the amount of American military aid is decided.

Eisenhower Break With Cuba Open To Argument on Basis of History

Widely Viewed as Inevitable but It Doesn't Meet Jefferson's Test.

By JAMES RESTON

WASHINGTON, JAN. 6.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER at least left Cuba with a bang. He finally told off his tormentors and slammed the door on his way out. It was a grand exit which made the pictures dance on the wall and rattled old Fidel's back teeth, and this country obviously loved it.

In fact, the reaction in the United States to the break in diplomatic relations was almost as dramatic as the President's last hurrah. Most papers decided that he had no other alternative. Some called it inevitable.

Well, maybe so, but Americans have been arguing about Cuba and diplomatic relations ever since the State Department was founded, and if everybody is now suddenly going to agree on these questions, it will be the first time in our history.

THIS COUNTRY assumed for more than 100 years that it should maintain diplomatic relations with foreign governments regardless of how they came to power or how they conducted their affairs or what they said about the United States.

For example, Thomas Jefferson, the first Secretary of State, thought the only test for maintaining diplomatic relations was whether the government concerned was running the store. He put it a little more elegantly: "The will of the nation (Cuba) is the only thing essential to be regarded."

Incidentally, he had a simple solution for the Cuban question. He thought maybe we should annex it, and John Quincy Adams, his successor at the State Department, was afraid Cuba would fall under the influence of a hostile foreign power, and also flirted with annexation.

IT WAS only when Woodrow Wilson arrived on the scene with his moral approach to foreign policy that the United States began granting or withholding or withdrawing recognition in accordance with whether we approved of the way the government concerned came to power or spoke and acted.

Thus, it can be argued that Mr. Eisenhower's action was right or wrong, wise or unwise, but it cannot be argued on the basis of American history that it was inevitable.

The argument for the break was that Castro had gone well beyond the bounds of proper diplomatic procedure and that, if we had tolerated his insults and permitted him to reduce our mission in Havana to 11, we would not only have had an ineffective mission but would have debased the whole procedure of decent diplomatic intercourse and weakened ourselves in the eyes of other countries.

Another argument for the break was that it encouraged other American republics to do the same and thus promotes the isolation of Castro in this hemisphere.

THERE WERE, however, arguments on the other side. The break makes it more difficult to get out of Cuba the anti-Castro Cubans who may one day organize his defeat. It removes the embassy as a source of accurate information and a rallying point for Castro's opponents. It limits Kennedy's freedom of action 14 days hence when he has to deal with the Cuban problem. And of course, it encourages the

PRINCETON

ON THE EVE of the latest crisis in beleaguered Laos, an increased number of Americans had come to fear that there was a growing danger of World War III.

Since a February, 1960 Gallup Poll, the percentage believing that there is "much danger" of war has risen from 38 to 50 per cent; those confident that there is little danger of war has dropped from 51 to 35 per cent.

Just before the threat of new Communist infiltration into Laos reached a point where Western intervention in the Southeast Asian nation became a possibility, Gallup Poll reporters asked this question of a cross-section of the public:

"Would you say there is much danger of war, or not much danger?"

| | Dec. '60 | Feb. '60 |
|---|---|---|
| Much Danger | 50% | 38% |
| Not Much Danger | 35 | 53 |
| Don't Know | 15 | 11 |

All of those persons who expressed the view that there was much danger of war were asked subsequent question:

"Do you think it is more likely to arise through Russia, through America, or some other way?"

More than half (56 per cent) of those who feared real war danger believe Russia would be primarily responsible for starting the conflict; only three in 100 felt the United States would be more to blame.

Significant, however, is the fact that about one person in four (23 per cent) who fears that there is much danger of war thinks it will come from some nation other than the United States or Russia.

Cuba, for example, is sometimes cited as the likely point of trouble. Communist Cuba is also mentioned.

Russia Won't Accept Solution To Laos Crisis Tied to Boun Oum

Diplomats Say if This Issue Can Be Resolved, Control Commission Could Be Revived.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP).

RUSSIA HAS ADVISED the Western powers that it would not agree to any formula for ending the civil war crisis in Laos that was based on Communist acceptance of the pro-American government of Premier Boun Oum.

Diplomatic officials, reporting this today, said that if a way could be found to compromise the Laos government issue both the Soviet Union and the United States would probably agree on revival of an international control commission to restore peace in the Southeast Asian kingdom.

The British government is said to be taking the lead in trying to find a way out of the crisis before it gets worse. One possible line of action under discussion is to broaden the political representation within the Boun Oum government if that can be arranged.

Authorities here said there is also continuing discussion, primarily among the allies of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization which includes the United States, Britain and France, on various other ways of dealing with the situation.

ONE OF THESE would be to ask the United Nations to play an active role, perhaps through a watchdog committee. Another would be to call a big new international conference embracing the Communist powers and the Western nations as well as Asian countries. Such a conference at Geneva in 1954 provided for a political settlement after the French had been militarily defeated in Indochina.

One of the aims of Western diplomacy is to try to resolve the current crisis short of a military showdown such as would result if Allied forces became committed on one side and large outside Communist forces on the other.

Until mid-December Laos had been ruled for some weeks by a neutralist government under Prince Souvanna Phouma. He was unable to stabilize the country and fled to Bangkok, Thailand, but has refused to resign. Leftist and Communist forces tried to take over the government at Vientiane, but were thwarted by forces under pro-Western Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. Nosavan backed creation of the Boun Oum government under the authority of King Savang Vatthana.

The present crisis began when the leftist-Communist force built up substantial military power with Soviet and North Viet Namese assistance. Charges were made that about 3000 foreign Communist troops had marched into Laos from North Viet Nam. These charges by Boun Oum's government have become a center of controversy even among the Western Allies.

SOME DIPLOMATS here say that a compromise formula might be found in having Souvanna Phouma brought into the Boun Oum government. Others, apparently well informed, say Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi will not accept this. British diplomacy aims at getting the government broadened to include other Laotian political elements than those that are strictly pro-Western. And the British hope by this means to find a basis for a peaceful solution that could provide for reconstitution of the control commission. The three members of the commission are Poland, Canada and India.

$50,000,000 ARGENTINA LOAN BY U.S. BANK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The United States Export-Import Bank lent $50,000,000 to Argentina today for highways and housing.

The credits are for $40,000,000 for purchase of highway construction equipment, and $10,000,000 to buy equipment to help modernize Argentina's home construction industry.

Bank president Samuel Waugh said the loans are aimed at "improvement of the over-all Argentine economy."

Letters from the People

Where Schools Fall Down

As a former teacher in Missouri high schools, I can point out some reasons why the Missouri State Teachers' Association feels obliged to ask for so much of the taxpayers' money and to add to the pressure for increased sales tax.

The demands would not have to go so far upward if it were not for that traditional sacred cow, the principle of local control by elected boards of laymen. In spite of the difficulties recently exposed in that connection in St. Louis, the three or four major urban areas of the state are free of some of the worst features afflicting the rest of the state in so far as they affect the status of teachers.

With a lower budget than the M.S.T.A. demands, the state's schools could be improved by the State Department of Education taking control of all professional matters and professional personnel in schools serving communities of about 10,000 population and less, or having $1,000,000 in assessed properly valuation or less. A possible alternative that could serve about the same purpose would be for such control to be applied to all schools receiving half or more of their funds from state sources.

As professional standards now stand and are recognized in our nonpartisan Department of Education, a reform of this kind could mean as much to many teachers as an annual raise of $1000 to $2000, but without the taxpayers putting out a comparable sum. By eliminating petty local pressures as a decisive element, the teachers could have security of tenure as long as they continued sound moral conduct, intellectual competence and professional growth.

The lay, local control now in existence means the insecurity of possible job hunting at the end of each school year because hundreds of teachers are displaced annually for reasons of a purely personal nature, or purely local prejudice.

I have known of situations wherein the knowledge of a position for the next year would have been worth as much as $500 to a teacher, without counting the local provision for annual service increments.

The enlightened city dweller may not realize this, but there are still public (as well as private) schools in Missouri where the science teacher or history teacher endangers his position by merely teaching the obvious features of human evolution from our ape-like cave-dwelling days to our present-day habit of walking upright and spending less time in trees.

Under the present system, which calls for so much boot licking in the case of the teacher in the smaller towns, there is also the inevitable cost of conspicuous consumption. Teachers in the anonymity of metropolitan or larger urban areas may scarcely realize what the rest are up against in this respect. (That is, with the exception of some city teachers who have had small-town experience beyond the suburban areas.

A teacher who takes seriously the advice implied in many a local situation is apt to end up spending as much as $1000 a year, especially the first or "buttering up" year in the particular school district, for a number of "social" matters. These may include not only the better car, which he should postpone a year or two, but memberships in the right local lodges or civic organizations (widely upheld as part of community relations, yet often helping to isolate the teacher in employer-centered groups and away from the working class majority of public school patrons).

There is no reason why this should go on, but there seems no sure escape, as long as control of teacher's future is in the hands of local vested interests.

Since teachers are increasingly supposed to keep muzzled, except when they go out to improve "public relations" and cheer for the basketball team, I must ask you to sign this as—

No More Waltz

As a Missourian and a Republican I can now relax and enjoy the strains of the Missouri Waltz with a proper tinge of sentimentality about my state and without the uneasy feeling that you-know-who is gleefully pounding it out on the keyboard. Thank you, Mr. Truman, for your latest outburst!

Too Many Imports

Unemployment is increasing. Could it be due—at least partly—to a continuing influx of foreign goods—from hankies to furniture and autos? P.Z.

The Crucial Front

Of the two rules disputes in the two branches of Congress as the new session opened, that in the House seems to us incomparably the more important at this time. Accordingly, we think the energies of liberals in both parties can most profitably be concentrated upon breaking through the roadblock of the House Rules Committee.

That is where the real danger to President-elect Kennedy's program lies. For the House Rules Committee, so long as it is controlled by an alliance of conservative Republicans and conservative Democrats, can continue to do what it has been doing—obstruct legislation and even dictate its content as the price of permitting bills to reach the floor.

This is a usurpation of power, an abuse of authority, which has long cried out for reform. The present moment, at the start of the Kennedy Administration, may offer the best opportunity for reform for years to come. The new President evidently has persuaded Speaker Rayburn that the Rules roadblock should be removed, either by denying a seat to one of the Southern obstructionists or by enlarging the membership. With the Speaker's powerful leadership there is real hope that the committee can be returned to its legitimate function, which is to act as the traffic policeman for the House's business, not as the super-arbiter of its policy decisions.

The Senate dispute over the filibuster rule is important, as always, but not so important at this time, in our view, as to warrant a long and bitter struggle. There is little danger that the new President's program will be obstructed by a filibuster. But there is serious danger that it will be obstructed if a protracted and divisive rules fight should embitter moderate and liberal Southern Senators who otherwise can be expected to co-operate with the new Administration.

This is why Mr. Kennedy has not called for a do-or-die attempt to change the filibuster rule, even though his own votes show him in favor of changing it. As the leader of the incoming Administration he should be accorded the right of deciding on the tactics best calculated to advance his program as a whole. Liberal Senators will make a mistake, therefore, if they prolong the rules battle, against his wishes, to the point where it endangers immediately needed legislation.

The Post-Dispatch still believes, of course, that the Senate rule which permits a filibuster to obstruct business under the guise of "prolonged debate" should and in due time will be changed. We are in favor of changing it whenever and to whatever extent possible. A rule requiring 60 per cent of the Senators present to close debate would be better than the present rule requiring two-thirds of those present. Better still would be the rule proposed in the past by Senator Douglas of Illinois, and now sponsored by Senators Humphrey and Kuchel. This would permit a constitutional majority—that is, 51 Senators—to close debate after a measure had been under discussion for at least 100 hours.

Such a rule would give ample opportunity for full ventilation of any issue, and yet would deny a minority the power to prevent measures from coming to a vote by talking them to death.

It is a misunderstanding of the issue to say, as defenders of the filibuster do, that the power to talk a bill to death is an essential safeguard of minority rights, a part of our constitutional system of checks and balances to protect the citizen from a runaway majority. The present filibuster rule was unheard of during the early years of our history, and has never been a part of the Constitution, which provides plenty of other checks and balances without this one. A filibuster is not really debate. It masquerades as debate, but in reality it is simply a means of physically interfering with the democratic functioning of the Senate. It prevents a decision by physically exhausting those members who want a decision.

The filibuster must and should be curbed, and we are confident it will be. But it does not constitute a clear and present danger to President-elect Kennedy's program, as the usurped power of the House Rules Committee does. Just now, that is the crucial battlefront.

Mistaken Arrest

The prosecuting attorney's office has wisely dropped a case involving the arrest of a downtown news dealer for selling the magazine Playboy. Police contended that the magazine, which featured photographs of nudes, was obscene. If that were so, then the police should have made arrests in many other stores and newsstands where the same magazine is sold. The Post Office Department allows the publication to go through the mails, and obviously does not consider it obscene. The police action in this case seems injudicious as well as discriminatory, and reflects the need for better judgment in the anti-obscenity campaign.

The Lesson of Belgium

The Socialist-backed general strike against the Belgian government's austerity program appears to be dying out, but there is still no solution readily at hand for the conditions that brought it about. Recollections of the Congo disaster contributed to the intensity of Belgian feelings, but the loss of revenue from The Congo is only one economic factor among several that prompted Prime Minister Eyskens's government to propose the Single Law belt-tightening program.

The Single Law program would increase taxes $132,000,000 and reduce spending $210,000,000. The major cuts would be in federal supports for municipal governments and a reduction in the budget for the nationalized railways. This is a considerable bite in a country that had a gross national product of about 12 billion dollars before $600,000,000 was lost through Congo independence.

Even before the loss of The Congo, however, Belgium's economy was falling behind that of its partners in the six-nation European Common Market. Since 1953 the country's industrial output has climbed 20 per cent, compared with 80 per cent for the community as a whole. Unemployment is 5 per cent (compared with 1 per cent in neighboring West Germany); it is particularly severe in the coal industry.

The Eyskens government apparently was remiss in not preparing public opinion to face the economic conditions now obtaining. As it is, political pressures may force the abandonment or modification of the program. There may be a lesson in this for the United States. President-elect Kennedy said repeatedly in the campaign that the road ahead for the United States was not an easy one. It is difficult to see how this country can meet the demands of Latin America, Africa, Asia and the United Nations, to say nothing of defense, without hard work and sacrifice. The realities, glossed-over in recent years, should be enunciated repeatedly.

Good Record and Advice

Gov. James T. Blair's farewell address to Missouri and its Legislature is an occasion for recognizing that he has been a good Governor. That he could not have been an even more effective Governor was no fault of his own; the fault lies in the arbitrary limit on gubernatorial terms.

The retiring Governor's accomplishments began with sound appointments. A vigorous St. Louis Police Board is one example. He also gave Missouri a long overdue budget reform, based on a reorganized budgetary office. With its help Gov. Blair produced a clear and comprehensive "performance" budget that related funds to their uses.

His contributions to the humanitarian side of state government include more support for education and welfare and, above all, the beginning of the 10-year mental health program under Dr. Addison Duval. This program is intended to bring Missouri out of the backwoods of mental care.

Gov. Blair's final address contained many thoughtful suggestions for the future: better school financing, expanded highway development, a point system drivers' license, a spring primary. He proposed raising money for such purposes through higher cigarette, liquor and gas taxes. Yet the Governor had made all these suggestions before. They were ignored in the second legislative session of his term, and they were ignored in part because the legislators understood that Gov. Blair had less than two years to serve. He had already used up his patronage and bargaining power and was to all intents and purposes a lame-duck Governor.

Nobody knows the frustrations inherent in the one-term limit better than Gov. Blair. Consistently he has urged Missouri to get rid of the constitutional rule against governors succeeding themselves, and he returned to the theme in his farewell address:

> Should a Governor demonstrate the capacity to serve the state well, it seems unfair to the citizens of the state that they should be prohibited from considering his retention in office.

The anti-succession rule is as unfair to Missourians as to Missouri Governors. We hope the state and its legislators will remember the good record and good advice of Gov. Blair, and abolish the one-term limit.

Mr. Nixon and the Press

If, as now generally assumed, Vice President Nixon intends to run for the presidency again in 1964, it was a tactical error for him to blame his loss of the 1960 election on "biased campaign reporting." Mr. Nixon has told friends he thinks "a pro-Kennedy attitude by reporters provided Senator Kennedy with his narrow victory margin."

Perhaps Mr. Nixon confuses "bias" with "accuracy." In September, for example, he quoted a columnist who had misquoted Senator Kennedy on a labor matter. This was brought to his attention. He nevertheless continued to publicize the misquotation. Were the reporters who brought this to public attention biased?

The fact is that in the last campaign Mr. Nixon's press relations deteriorated, partly because he withdrew from contact with the reporters. Despite this he was treated fairly.

If the reporting was biased, as Mr. Nixon charges, anti-Nixon prejudice did not affect the nation's editors. According to the trade journal, Editor & Publisher, Mr. Nixon had the support of 57.7 per cent of the nation's daily newspapers; Senator Kennedy was indorsed by 16.6 per cent. In terms of daily circulation Mr. Nixon's support was 70.9 per cent of the total, Senator Kennedy's 15.8 per cent. More than 26 per cent of the newspapers indorsed neither candidate.

As Mr. Nixon engages in the preliminaries of his next campaign he will doubtless advance various reasons as to why he lost the last one. But it will be a difficult job to prove that biased reporting was one of them, even for the phony Nixon propagandists now spreading distorted versions of the facts.

Chic in the Sticks

It is easy enough to say this is a changing world without being particularly aware of change or concerned about it. But there will be no such indifference in those who open Montgomery Ward and Sears, Roebuck catalogs at certain pages. They may feel that instead of one of the big paperbacks, they have picked up a copy of Harper's Bazaar.

They will be entranced by pictures of pretty models in haute couture dresses photographed in European settings. Buyers for Ward's and Sears have found their way to the openings of Balenciaga, Givenchy, Dior, Fabiana and the other French and Italian stylemakers.

This is the mail-order response to the female version of "How are you going to keep 'em down on the farm?" Instead of trying, they are going along with the change that has come over the farmer's daughter who has "seen Paree." Many a country girl has seen the Boul Mich. And many another, like her city cousin, has moved to Suburbia. More change to be recognized. As Mary Lewis, fashion director for Sears, Roebuck, says: "There are no longer any hicks in the sticks."

Far be it from us not to go along with change, especially if it involves a pretty girl. And if the garment trade, mail order or otherwise, will get the urban slick chick into something more chic than the blue jeans she wears to the chain store, there will be even more cause for applause.

The man we feel most sorry for today is the pilot of the good ship Arcadia, which went aground on a reef outside Honolulu harbor as it slowed to pick up some welcoming hula girls. These girls doubtless were bearing leis for the tourists aboard the Arcadia, and it looked like a jolly occasion. But it appears to have been too much for the pilot, who apparently took his eyes off his work just long enough. Thus the perils of the Central Pacific.

Why Do We Punish Criminals?

For Three Reasons, Says Next State Attorney General, and Deterrence Is Weakest of Them

From a Report by Thomas F. Eagleton,
Retiring Circuit Attorney

A truism of our society is that when one violates the law he must be punished. This truism has been handed down to us from previous societies in ancient Rome and Greece and, indeed, is an ingrained tradition of our American jurisprudence.

Do we realize what goal we are working toward when we punish a criminal offender, or do we punish him merely because it is traditional and eliminates the necessity of something better to do?

The Mirror of Public Opinion

There are three main reasons put forth for the punishment of a convicted criminal.

One of the most popular theories is that by punishing a criminal offender severely, you will deter others from committing a similar crime. The theory goes that if Willie Jones is sentenced to 25 years in the pen for armed robbery, this will deter Willie Smith from executing an armed robbery.

This theory reads well in print and sounds well when discussed, but in actuality it does not work to the degree its advocates would have you believe.

When an individual contemplates an armed robbery of a drugstore, for example, he thinks of some of the following things. Where is the drugstore located? How bright is the lighting inside? Where is the safe located? How many times does the policeman on the beat make his rounds? That is, he weighs the various elements that contribute towards a successful crime and then, depending upon what kind of a criminal gambler he is, he decides whether or not to execute the crime.

He does not, at this stage, contemplate the fact that robbery carries a punishment from five years to life in the state penitentiary. If he decides to commit the crime, it is because he thinks he is not going to get caught.

After he has been caught, he becomes very much concerned with the amount of punishment he may receive for this offense. But this is after the fact and not before it. Those who believe in severe punishment under the theory that they are deterring crime are in many instances deceiving themselves.

—Post-Dispatch, Jan. 30, 1958.

One reason we send certain criminals to the penitentiary is for the pure and simple reason that we wish to isolate them from the rest of society. I concur in this theory for those relatively few criminals who have on repeated occasions shown anti-social behavior patterns and an inability to conform.

Take the case of Robert Emmet Burns. In his early teens he was an unrepenting car-thief, graduated into burglary, then into robbery. He spent time at various reformatories and at a penitentiary for young adult offenders.

Ultimately, Burns had to serve time at the Missouri State Penitentiary for armed robbery. In 1957, he returned from the penitentiary to St. Louis and to his old habits. For a series of weeks he and his cohorts pulled off a series of stick-ups of various supermarkets in the St. Louis area until he shot it out with a merchant he was attempting to rob and was captured.

Thus, when Burns was sentenced to the penitentiary for 65 years, it was done not out of personal malice but to protect society from any future depradations by Burns. We isolate a tubercular individual from the community to protect our health, and I do not have any reluctance about isolating someone like Burns.

The most modern and seemingly enlightened theory of punishment is that we send a criminal to the penitentiary to rehabilitate him, to make a law-abiding person out of him. Were our penitentiaries built and operated for this purpose, this theory might have some chance of success.

However, under present conditions when you send a 19 year old car-thief to the penitentiary, you do so realizing that the chances are he will return to society, not as a car-thief, but as an armed robber, or worse. What he will learn in the pen will not be decency and integrity, but how to be a more efficient criminal. He will learn it from the best teachers—the professional criminals currently confined in the penitentiary.

With respect to young offenders, especially, I am firmly convinced that it is foolish to expect them to come out of prison as better individuals.

Thus, again with respect to youthful offenders—not the hardened criminal, not the killer, not the rapist—I believe that law enforcement has no good alternative but to rely on probation and parole.

By probation I do not mean that we simply tap the offender on the wrist and tell him to go forth and sin no more. We should spell out detailed and specific conditions of probation, telling him with whom he can associate, what areas of the community he can frequent, what hours he must keep, etc. In short, we lay out a program of decent living and require him to adhere to it. We should check on him periodically in his neighborhood to make certain he is living up to these standards.

About 90 per cent of those individuals placed on probation successfully complete their term. There are many failures, and we always hear about those failures. There is no news value in those who make it. Nevertheless, the figures are impressive and the advantages to society are apparent.

We do not use this probation technique out of a feeling of altruism. We use it because it is the best technique to protect society and to prevent greater menaces than already exist. We want to prevent the young offender from getting into even deeper criminal trouble.

Between Book Ends

Theatrical Exceptions

THE HERO CONTINUES, by Donald Windham. (Crowell, 191 pgs., $3.50.)

In a year which seems to have produced more than a necessary number of second rate theatrical autobiographies and of shoddy, ghost-written reminiscences of unimportant periphery of the entertainment world it is a job to find two original and interpretative exceptions.

Windham

Block's "The Only Nellie Fayle" is a hilarious farce in which comic plotting and a frothy wit decorate a core of true satire.

Nellie, an Irish-American musical actress aspiring to play Joan of Domremy, goes to the Long Island summer place of Desmond Comfort, a sophisticated British playwright of smash-hit comedies. Though he had talked of the theater as his whole life, Nellie had sized him up as a man to whom love-making was not an hors d'oeuvre but a main course. Desmond's brother Emmet, brilliant actor-director, comes from London, and the three are chaperoned and abetted by Aunt Hortense, an ex-missionary who, Desmond says, like all pure women, is too preoccupied with sin. Nellie cries out.

"I'm in a football game, only I'm the football . . . How would you like to have prove yourself a great actress to a man who doesn't believe you could act good enough for a carnival show, prove you can love like Isolde and Cleopatra and Juliet and La Boheme all in one, and all at the same time make like a brand that can be saved from the burning?"

The author's final P.S. is that she got the job.

In severe contrast, but emotionally penetrating and tragic, a young Guggenheim scholar, Donald Windham, has written a novel of the price a creative genius must pay to reach fulfillment of his artistic talent and driving urge. The price is high.

The story starts with Dennis, the playwright, having been told that he had not long to live. He is walking along Madison Avenue on Palm Sunday. "From a row of shop windows spring mocked him with the full force of its life: an idiot seige of rabbits on all fours and rampant, nude and overalled, of cloth and fur, cuddly and edible. Smiling askance at a baby-faced one in a bonnet, he hurried on."

Hurrying on, always violently, the novel takes him through devastating discouragement, maniacal pride in success, and sordid and pseudo-romantic relations with other human beings who may or may not understand his need to realize his individual self.

Mr. Windham's work is well-known in England, France and in American magazines, including the New Yorker and Horizon. The book is dedicated to Tennessee Williams, with whom he collaborated on the Broadway play, "You Touched Me."

Majority Rule in Congress

IN EACH HOUSE OF CONGRESS there are formidable obstacles to the rule of simple majorities, and the question is how far these obstacles are to be reduced or removed. But the problem in the House is different from the problem in the Senate, and the difference involves an important difference of principle, and indeed of the spirit and the intent of the Constitution itself.

The problem in the House of Representatives does not, as it does in the case of the Senate, arise from the power of minority to prevent legislation by a filibuster. The House does not allow unlimited debate. The problem there arises from the fact that the Rules Committee has almost absolute power of life and death over bills before they can be voted upon. There may be a majority in favor of a bill. Unless the Rules Committee permits it, the majority cannot bring the bill to a vote.

Johnson

In recent years the Rules Committee has had 12 members—eight of them Democrats and four of them Republicans. But two of the Democrats, Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, have formed an alliance with the four Republicans, thus dividing the committee six to six.

Usurpation of Power.

This prevents it from acting affirmatively, and enables the conservative coalition to block not only civil rights legislation but all manner of so-called progressive legislation.

It is impossible, I think, to defend this arrangement on the ground of principle. For the House of Representatives represents the people of the United States and its spirit is that there the simple numerical majority shall prevail.

The bi-partisan deal in the Rules Committee is in fact a usurpation of power, depriving the majority of its rights, and thwarting the will of the people. The House can, and we may hope that the House will, break up the deal and recover the right of majority rule.

Power to Legislate.

The problem of the Senate, on the other hand, involves questions of high constitutional principle. The crux of the question is not whether the majority should rule but what kind of majority should rule.

Shall it be a simple numerical majority of the Senators present and voting? Shall it be two-thirds of all the Senators elected? Or shall it be something between the two?

Here lies the crux of the argument. What kind of majority shall have the right to end debate in the Senate, and therefore to bring about a vote? The kind of majority that has the power to do this has the power to legislate.

The recognition that there may be various kinds of majorities is deeply imbeded in the Constitution. Simple majority rule—one more than half of a quorum—is by no means the general principle of the constitution.

Big Vote on Big Issue.

Constitutional amendments, the expulsion of members, the overriding of the President's veto, these require two-thirds of all the Senators elected. Treaties and impeachments require two-thirds of those present and voting.

Why these variations? Because these are questions which involve the whole nation, it may be for war, the Constitution requires that such grave decisions shall have a large not merely a simple majority.

In my view it is important, indeed vital to our liberties, to preserve the principle that for great issues, for issues that affect deeply great regions or sections of the nation, there should be required more than a simple majority. For we must never forget that majorities are not always liberal and that they may be quite tyrannical.

For Civil Rights.

It is, I have always thought, a short view of history to equate simple majority rule with the defense of the civil rights of Negroes. The civil rights of all Americans will be safer if within the Senate, which represents the federal principle, we do not give absolute power to simple majorities.

The practical conclusion which I draw from this is that the question of cloture in the Senate is not one of this or that, but of more or less. Between the two extremes of a simple majority of a quorum and of a two-thirds majority of all the Senators elected, there is plenty of room for compromise.

The proper point at which to make the compromise is where moderate Southerners like Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn can live with the solution and feel that they are not being dragooned and over-ridden. For nothing good can be done by persuasion and education if the moderates in the South feel that they are coerced.

ABLE PERFORMANCE BY STECK QUARTET

By MANUS SASONKIN

The Steck String Quartet, performing last night at Sheldon Auditorium, devoted the second concert of its second season to music by Mozart, Ravel and Brahms. This, in itself, is a long order, for the three composers are widely heralded for the difficulties which their scores generate. And since the difficulties associated with each composer are mutually exclusive rather than overlapping, the problem is compounded.

While it would be overstating the case to report that the Steck Quartet triumphed unconditionally over all problems and presented three entirely revelatory performances, one must acknowledge that at least one and a half of those three readings sounded eminently—and surprisingly—praiseworthy.

One does not, after all, expect highly polished and deeply penetrating interpretations from a two-year-old quartet.

And yet the Steck Quartet actually succeeded in its effort. Not only did its members negotiate the technical hazards of Brahms's Quartet in C Minor with security and aplomb, but they brought the score vividly to life, seizing upon each mood and projecting it sensitively and eloquently. The ensemble, for the most part at least, was cohesive, yet always flexible, and the balances and tone quality were appropriate both to the music and to the hall. It was, in short, a performance which began with firm conviction, and which maintained that conviction until the final chord.

By way of contrast to this remarkably consistent performance, that of the Ravel Quartet in F Major, which preceded it, seemed curiously schizophrenic. The first two movements sounded heavy-handed and a trifle neutral; the first, lyric but never as sensuous as it ought to have been; the second, lively, but never really uninhibited. Then the last two movements, inferior musically to their mates, received compelling and sympathetic treatment.

The Mozart Quartet — in C Major, known as the "Dissonant"—opened the program. It was competently performed (a few lapses in intonation, and a tendency toward bottom-heaviness in the sonorities were hardly disfiguring in their effect), but each movement existed on a single plane of intensity, and Mozart is simply too mercurial in his emotions to thrive under such treatment.

Nevertheless, I am not discouraged, and I trust that the Steck Quartet is not, either. It is really an amazingly precocious organization, and within a very short time it should assume a dominant role in its field.

Billikens Blow Much of Big Lead but Defeat Tulsa, 54-47

5-Team Race Is Expected In Valley

By Robert Morrison

It ought to be a five-team race in Missouri Valley Conference basketball this season—that is, if the St. Louis U. Billikens don't fall asleep at the wrong time.

They almost did last night against Tulsa U. They had a 23-point lead before their catnap in the last 12 minutes put them in trouble, and they won by only seven, 54-47.

Tulsa is not one of the five teams likely to contend for the title and the way it came back to press the Billikens posed a question mark about the St. Louis team.

The Bills won't have to wait long to give the answer to the question, however. They'll play Wichita tomorrow night at Kiel Auditorium, and then go right back against Drake at the same place Monday night.

"Everybody ought to be in the race except us and North Texas," said Tulsa U. Coach Joe Swank, after his relatively inexperienced team gave St. Louis a struggle.

Bradley 3-0 in Valley.

Unbeaten Bradley is leading at the moment with a 3-0 league mark after defeating Wichita in a close game at Peoria last night. St. Louis is 2-0, Drake 1-1, Wichita 0-1 and title-defending Cincinnati 0-2 in league play.

In the long run, home-court defeats for any of the contenders probably will be costly, and St. Louis U. came too close for comfort against Tulsa.

"Whatever it was, it wasn't basketball," groaned Billiken Coach John Benington as he hurried off to set the alarm clock.

The Billiken lethargy began even before Tulsa went into a pressing defense and before an outcourt hitting spree by Dave Voss sparked the visitors' rally.

It seemed the Bills, with their 44-21 advantage in the second half, were intent on coasting in, and then they ran into trouble. Voss and Tulsa's husky center, Gene Estes, cut the St. Louis lead to just eight points with two minutes remaining.

In the remaining time Estes fouled out and the Bills didn't let Tulsa get closer than seven points, the final margin. But time seemed to be the main factor.

14 Straight Bill Points.

Tulsa didn't show much of its reported fast break. The Hurricane did tally a couple of times on breaks in the first half, but the Bills shut off the visitors' scoring completely in the last six minutes and 43 seconds of the period. A run of 14 straight St. Louis points made the halftime count, 31-15.

Tom Kieffer, playing brilliantly under the boards, led the Bills with 11 of his 15 points in the first half. Bill Nordmann, playing most of the game at center, also totaled 15.

Glen Mankowski was the other chief operator for the winners with 12 points. He and Nordmann were the only scorers for St. Louis in the fading finish.

Fortunately, Tulsa continued to lose the ball on errors during its rally and to blow shots it should have made. Once both Estes and soph guard Gary Hevelone were home free with a stolen ball and missed successive efforts to score. While they carried out this masterpiece of frustration, St. Louis's Nordmann used the time to run down and block the third shot of that series.

Wichita will be a tougher problem.

Bears' Fast Break Smashes Kansas City

By Harold Tuthill

As Washington University coach Chuck Smith today completed arrangements to take the Bears on a long basketball trip, he mulled over the possibility of stressing a fast break against the Air Force Academy tomorrow night at Colorado Springs.

Certainly speed was a big factor as the Bears tamed the Kangaroos of Kansas City, 63-47, last night at the Field House. "It was the first game in which we had a good chance to work our fast break," Smith said afterward.

Kansas City (2-13) plays Harris Teachers College (8-3) tonight at 8 at O'Fallon Tech.

The Bears, who improved their record to 4-5, had enough good shots but sank only a third of them in the first half. They walked off the floor at intermission with a 29-23 lead. Their sharpshooting improved in the second half with 12 goals in 31 attempts and they finished the night hitting at 36.1 as compared to a frigid 25.8 for Kansas City, which tried 66 shots, scored just 17.

Chilly Kansas City.

At the outset both teams seemed to concentrate on jamming the middle and let the guards shoot from outside. Washington had better success. Enthusiastic little Kent Lattig got five of his six goals in the first half and played a prominent part in building up a 14-point lead, 28-14.

Meanwhile Shelby Brightwell's Kangaroos were having a cold streak. They scored just three goals in 19 attempts in the first 11 minutes and only a spurt of seven points in the last two minutes of the half saved them from falling hopelessly behind.

K.C.U. cut into the Bruin lead at the start of the second quarter and pulled up to within five points of a tie, 34-29, but then the Kangaroos again struck a cold spell, scoring just six points in five minutes.

The Bears began to break the game wi' open as they sped from 36-29 to 52-35 before Kansas City regained its scoring ability. With less than five minutes to play, K.C.U. trailed, 56-42, and Coach Smith then started running in Bruin substitutes.

Gandal Comes Through.

One of the W.U. replacements, Larry Gandal, had a profitable evening of 10 points. Most of the time he spelled injured Charlie Stegmeyer who had been tied after eight games with Lattig for team scoring honors. Stegmeyer was shut out but Lattig collected 17 points to run his total to 123 for the season.

Art Sidner, with 14, and George Strecker, with 12, were other good scorers for Washington. Jim Osborn, 5-10 backliner, was the only visitor in double figures, being tops for the night with 18 points.

Washington's Jay-vee team also did well, beating Scott Air Force Base, 71-63, in the preliminary.

Women's Golf.

Normandie Golf Club's Women's Association has elected Mrs. Edward H. Gray chairman for the coming year and named Mrs. Wm. E. W. Kaiser co-chairman.

New Fight For Lions' Control

DETROIT, Jan. 6 (AP)—D. Lyle Fife, a former president and still a major stockholder in the Detroit Football Co., said today rebel shareholders may have enough strength to overthrow the current administration of the Lions.

For the second time in a year, squabbling in the front office has stolen the headlines from the pro club's performances on the field.

The volcanic situation centers around Edwin J. Anderson, president and general manager of the club. Anderson was the center of the controversy a year ago when some of the directors tried to remove him from office. The move died, Fife said, because "not all members of the dissatisfied group were willing to stand up and be counted."

This time a proxy fight is on. There are 15 directors on the board, and 13 of them have lined up with Anderson to oppose the rebel group.

Fife quit the board after his first attempt to oust Anderson failed. He holds 640 shares of the some 12,600 shares of stock in the company, one of the most successful franchises in the National Football League.

"I am speaking strictly as a stockholder," said Fife. "I do not want to be president of the Lions. I merely want to see the Detroit Football Co. operate in a sound, ethical manner."

The directors counter-attacked by naming a 14-member management committee, headed by William Clay Ford of the famed automobile family. The committee sent a letter to every stockholder, defending the record of the club on the field and in the front office.

Ford told a news conference yesterday he did not know what the fight was all about. He said the directors control some 4500 of the 12,600 shares. Both sides are soliciting proxies for the battle at the next stockholders' meeting Feb. 23.

Kurowski To Manage Tulsa Club

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 6 (UPI)—George (Whitey) Kurowski, one-time third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals, has been named manager of the Tulsa Oilers of the Texas League, club owner Grayle Howlett announced today.

Since his playing days, Kurowski has been manager in the Cardinal farm system and has piloted only one team to less than a first-division finish, Howlett said.

As far as Tulsa fans are concerned, Kurowski's appointment hinges on the Oiler club remaining in Tulsa. Howlett has been thinking of moving the Oilers to Albuquerque, N.M., or some other city if current difficulties cannot be resolved, including a renewed lease on the Oiler ball park.

Howlett said a special committee named by Tulsa Mayor James Maxwell has yet to report on a proposed solution.

Kurowski played with the Cards as a regular from 1942-48. Last year his Winnipeg (Man.) club won the Northern League pennant.

Fred Luderus, Former Major Leaguer, Dies

THREE LAKES, Wis., Jan. 6 (AP)—Fred Luderus, former major league baseball star, died at his home late last night after apparently suffering a heart attack. He was 75.

Luderus, who was elected a member of the Wisconsin Athletic Hall of Fame in 1958, was a first baseman. His major league career spanned the 1906 to 1920 period with the Chicago Cubs and the Philadelphia Phillies. His lifetime batting average was .277.

After his playing days, Luderus managed minor league clubs in Toledo, Kansas City and Oklahoma City.

Freshman Coach Griffith Replaces Butts at Georgia

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 6 (UPI)—Johnny Griffith, 37, freshman coach of recruiting director at the University of Georgia, was named today to step up into the shoes of Georgia's retiring head coach Wally Butts.

Griffith was named freshman coach at Georgia in 1959. Before that, he was varsity assistant coach at Georgia for three years—working with defensive backs and the recruiting program.

Butts's retirement after 22 years as head coach at Georgia was announced on Dec. 23. Butts remained as athletic director.

Johnny Leonard Griffith was born in Crawfordsville, Ga., and was an all-city halback at now-refunct Boy's High in Atlanta in 1942. He served in the U.S. Navy from 1943 to 1946.

He was a varsity halfback on Georgia's unbeaten 1946 Sugar Bowl team—setting a school record for the longest run from scrimmage when he ran for 89 yards against Furman.

He took over as head coach at South Georgia in 1950 and during the next four years his teams were state junior college champions.

In 1954, Griffith returned to the University of Georgia as assistant freshman coach. He left Georgia in 1955 to spend a year as backfield coach at Furman, then returned in 1956 as a varsity assistant at Georgia.

Van Brocklin Sure Eagles Will Select Skorich as Coach

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 (AP)—Quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, who has formally retired as a player with the Philadelphia Eagles, said today he believes the club already has decided on a new head coach and the choice is Nick Skorich, an assistant coach.

Van Brocklin officially parted company with the Eagles yesterday during a meeting with President Frank McNamee. It was the first known meeting between the two to discuss Van Brocklin's future. He had long ago told reporters he was retiring at the end of the season.

Van Brocklin related that McNamee called him in and asked him if he would be willing to return to action next year or if he would be interested in an assignment as a player-coach. He said McNamee made no money offer.

"It was cut and dry," said the 34-year-old passing great who led the Eagles to their first National Football League title in 11 years this season.

"I answered 'no' to both questions," added the 12-year N.F.L. veteran. "When I went in there I had a feeling that the hash already had been cooked and that they'd selected their head coach."

Asked whether the player-coach offer meant an assistant's job or a head job, Van Brocklin said he didn't know. He said, however, he felt that McNamee knew he would turn it down since he had stated previously to newspaper men that he wasn't interested in being an assistant coach or a player-coach. He said he presumed that McNamee had read the stories in the newspapers.

This was one of the things, said Van Brocklin, which led him to believe that the Eagles already had made their choice for a head coach. Another, he said, was the simple fact that they didn't offer him the head job.

NICK SKORICH

Van Brocklin said that if he didn't get a head coaching job, he would return to Oregon and enter business. Both the Minnesota Vikings and New York Giants head jobs are vacant in the N.F.L.

Van Brocklin said he had been given permission to confer with other clubs.

Meanwhile, Skorich, who like Van Brocklin is preparing to leave today for Los Angeles for the Pro Bowl game Jan. 15, said last night from his Pittsburgh home that he hadn't heard from the Eagles.

Saturday Deadline For Entries in Women's Pin Tourney

Saturday is the deadline for entries in the forty-fifth annual tournament of the St. Louis Woman's Bowling Association. The 60 per cent handicap event will start Feb. 4 at Sports Bowl, 3517 Olive.

In the team event there will be three divisions: A, for teams with averages of 700 and over; B, 625 to 699; C, 624 and under. There will be just one division for singles and doubles.

New bowlers will take their highest average as of Dec. 1, while others will use their 1959-60 averages. Fees of $4 per person per event should be sent to the St. Louis Woman's Bowling Association, in care of Mrs. Berdie Speck, secretary, 9838 Portage drive, St. Louis 36.

Cubans Assured of U.S. Visas

HAVANA, Jan. 6 (UPI) — Minnie Minoso, Camilo Pascual and other Cuban baseball players who make their living in the United States during the summer received official assurance today they will have "no trouble" joining their teams.

A high-ranking official in the Cuban foreign ministry said the government would not interfere with ball players leaving for the United States.

"We will do everything possible to solve your problems," the government official told the players. "This is a special case and we are going to work it out with acting Foreign Minister Carlos Olivars."

Players Total 60.

The announcement was made as about 60 Cuban baseball players, including Minoso of the Chicago White Sox and Pascual of the Minnesota Twins, were sweating out getting visas to the United States in the aftermath of a break in diplomatic relations between the two countries.

In the past, "baseball visas" were issued during January. Thus, most Cuban baseball players do not have valid visas now since the ones they obtained last year expired after six months. The visa for the ball players was a special one for athletes under contract in foreign countries, similar to those granted professional musicians in Cuba.

It is believed that the major league clubs will have to submit the names of their Cuban players to the State Department in Washington and word will be sent down to the Swiss embassy here to grant United States visas.

Police Grant Exit Permits.

Cuban ball players then would need only exit permits from the Cuban secret police.

Joe Cambria, a scout for the Minnesota Twins and a Cuban resident who discovered Pascual and most Cubans in organized baseball, said he and Pascual planned a courtesy visit to the Swiss ambassador Monday to explain the situation.

Minoso, who is president of the Cuban Baseball Association, planned a similar call on Capt. Felipe Guerra Matos, Cuban sports director, to explain the players' situation, it was understood.

Twenty Cuban players were on major league rosters last season.

Archie Himself

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 6.—Interview with Archie Moore, somewhat light-heavyweight champion of the world, born Archie Lee Wright, but not recently:

Question: Archie, at last report the New York Athletic Commission had ordered you to agree to a title fight with somebody not later than this week if you didn't want your championship vacated in New York as well as in National Boxing Association states. What's cooking?

Answer: Well, I respect Gen. Krulewich and the people in New York and I hope they'll be lenient. I view my position with suspicion because of previous commitments to promoters and I'm afraid they might have grounds for suit if I should sign with somebody else.

Q.: You're referring to that year-old deal with Roy Cohn's crowd to fight Eric Schoeppner for $200,000, which seems to have fallen through. Do you mean there are other promoters you could do business with?

A.: Yes, before I left Rome I was offered $125,000 to fight that Rinaldi for the title and I'm sorry I didn't take it. Now they're talking about somebody named Doug Jones, who seems to have knocked out somebody named Bobo Olson—could he be Tiger Jones's son? Schoeppner, I remember seeing him in Westphalian Hall in Dortmund when I was shilling for Lucky Thompson, the saxophone player. Since then he's laid some eggs and I'm afraid a fight with him wouldn't draw no money and I do not care to participate in a match with no money—quiet, Baby Joan.

Scale After Dinner

Q. How much do you weigh, Arch?

A.: I'm in great shape. Right after Christmas dinner I got on the scale and I just made the weight—199½.

Q.: Honestly, now, could you make 175 to defend the title?

A.: You know I can and will, if the money's there. No money, no fight. I want to salvage the end of a great career, not just go in and prove something I've done again and again. I've seen the day when I'd take on Schoeppner or Rinaldi—and I did it with Harold Johnson—for $3500, but not today. I'm not going to take a measly $100,000 when I got $175,000 with a guy like Durelle. Tell me, who'd be the best match—Rinaldi, Schoeppner, Jones or Johnson?

Q.: Rinaldi, probably, since he beat you in Italy, and I imagine that dry run convinced you that you could whip him any time.

A.: No comment, but I remember a time when a fellow named Lloyd Marshall stood astride the division and told all contenders, 'You've got to pass me.' Well, I passed him, with lefts and rights. Why doesn't Harold Johnson do like Marshall? Schoeppner, Rinaldi, Jones — Harold could get well fighting those guys.

So Many Birthdays

Q.: Ingemar Johansson has announced that no matter what happens March 13, there positively will be no fourth fight with Floyd Patterson. So maybe if you could wait around another six months—

A.: No fourth fight? The way his legs quivered on that last knockout, I doubted that there'd be a third fight. I never knew a man could love money so much, except that he should have seen some hint when he demanded $7000 to make an appearance and accept a championship belt. Frankly, I fear for the gate in Miami. This Johansson—spelled Joe Hanson—he talked a great fight but now he's strangely silent, and when he's silent he's got nothing going for him.

You've got to have a case for a rematch. When Marciano knocked me out I blamed the world's most controversial referee, Harry Kessler, for taking too long to wipe Rocky's gloves after I knocked him down. I said Rocky owed me something because I'd made him the biggest payday he ever had. I had a case, but Rocky was wise beyond his years. He retired.

Q.: Beyond his years? You're beyond his decade, and not retiring.

A.: Yes, and I just had a birthday and you never even sent me a card.

Q.: Archie, you've got so many birthdays in the record book, how could anybody know when to send you a card?

A.: No, it's always Dec. 13, either 1916 or 1913. You could've sent me two cards.

Doc Needs the Money

Q.: Well, sorry, but look, the N.B.A. has lifted your title, and if New York follows suit and they start a title tournament, aren't you afraid you might be forgotten?

A.: When I wanted the N.B.A. to recognize me as a challenger, they let me wither five solid years. I think I made a definite contribution to boxing in '58, and if everybody's going to forget that, why, I'll get a job or go in the movies or something.

New York gives me 10 or 15 days to sign for a title match. How can they say they're giving me sufficient time when I had to wait 16 mortal, flamin' years for my chance?

Why, a man is losing his American rights if he isn't able to negotiate. And when you've got a man like Doc Kearns taking one-third of your earnings, you just can't afford to fight unless the money is there. I can't afford it and Doc can't afford it. Poor old Doc, he needs the money—for his dotage, shall we say?

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6—True to their poor road form, the St. Louis Hawks were below par as they lost to the Lakers, 110-96, in the opening game of their National Basketball Association series here last night. That made their away-from-home record for the season six victories against 10 defeats.

Tonight they get a chance to prove to Los Angeles fans that they really deserve to be at the top of the N.B.A.'s western division standings, wherein the Lakers are at the bottom. Action tonight, at the Sports Arena, will complete the two-game set.

Last night's game was a see-saw affair in which the score was tied 17 times and the lead changed hands on 32 occasions.

Reserve center Tom Hawkins, the jumping jack from Notre Dame, sparked the winning drive for the Lakers. Los Angeles coach Fred Schaus sent him in to cool off the redhot Clyde Lovellette. He did that, and went on a seven-point rampage which put the Lakers out front for good with three minutes left to play.

Cliff Hagan turned in a great first half for the Hawks with 21 points, plus a good guarding game on Elgin Baylor, then he just followed along, going without a point in the last half.

Lovellette, who drew down a $75 fine for loafing his last trip out west, appeared headed for more of the same at half-time. Then, Big Clyde came to life with 14 points in the third quarter and had three more in the last before Hawkins put the lid on the basket for him.

Baylor, who is in a race with Philadelphia's Wilt Chamberlain for the league scoring lead, dropped in 26 points for game honors.

Test for DeAndreis At DuBourg Tonight; 50 Teams in Action

By Bob Ruhl

The Catholic Athletic Conference basketball race, dominated last season by DuBourg and champion Mercy, now has a third party shouldering into the championship picture.

DeAndreis, a small but solid quintet, must be considered a top contender on the basis of its present 7-3 record. But the Wildcats will know quickly whether they belong among the league's elite.

Jesse Horstman's quintet, with only center Dave Luebbers better than 6 foot—he's 6-3—travels to DuBourg tonight for an 8 o'clock game.

Busy Night for Area.

This is one of the several important contests on the heaviest prep basketball schedule yet this season. A total of 50 area teams will be in action in 14 conferences.

DeAndreis, which showed well in victories over Beaumont (44-42) and McKinley (55-54), now must contend with the tall Cavaliers.

"If we can play our control-style of game against them and shoot a good percentage, we think we have a good chance," Horstman said. "And if we don't beat them this year, I don't know when we ever will."

Amon Evans, one of the area's top sharpshooters, will carry a 22-point scoring average into the game. The 6-0 guard is hitting on 47 per cent of his field shots and pulling down an average of 12 rebounds a game.

Mercy (5-1) also will open its conference season at St. Mary's (4-5).

Kirkwood vs. Riverview.

Kirkwood (10-1), winner of the Maplewood and Normandy tournaments, gets back into action against a Suburban Big 10 opponent, Riverview Gardens, which won its first game Tuesday over Pattonville. Ritenour (4-5) travels to play Webster Groves (8-3).

Brentwood (7-1) should get a tough test from scrappy Clayton (4-4) in a South County game. Fairview (3-1) goes to Pattonville (3-2), and Parkway (6-2) plays at Berkeley (2-6) in North County contests.

Collinsville, the No. 1 team in Illinois according to the Associated Press poll, will try to extend its 10-game streak against capable Alton (7-3) in the Southwestern Illinois conference. Edwardsville (6-3) goes to Belleville (8-3). Belleville has won its last three, all in the Central-ia tournament.

Belleville Cathedral (6-2) can go a long way toward winning the Catholic League title by beating Marquette of Alton (5-3).

In a non-league game, St. Louis U. High should boost its 10-1 record when the Junior Bills oppose winless Southwest.

Mizzou to Open Big Eight Play Against 'Huskers

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 6—Missouri's basketball team, which has an embarrassing 2-8 record to date, will open regular Big Eight competition with games against Nebraska at Lincoln tomorrow and Iowa State at Ames Monday.

Both the Cornhuskers and Cyclones defeated the Tigers in the recent Big Eight tournament, so chances for the Tigers to end their six-game losing streak are not bright.

Coach Wilbur (Sparky) Stalcup dropped Jackie Gilbert from the travel roster and replaced him with Jim Wescott, Columbia sophomore, in an effort to improve defense and develop more scoring punch. Charles Henke and Joe Scott have been the only reliable scorers, having produced about half of the Tigers points.

46-Year-Old Malloy Dixie Tennis Winner

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 6 (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, headed into the quarterfinal round of the Dixie International tennis championships today with the confidence of a six-time winner of the event.

The top-seeded, 47-year-old veteran passed through the second and third rounds with ease yesterday, defeating Claude De Gronckel of Belgium, 6-3, 6-3, and Jack Staton of St. Petersburg, 6-3, 6-4.

However, observers are giving close attention to the performance of 20-year-old Warren Jacques of Australia. The young star, now attending Lamar Tech at Houston, Tex., unseeded in this event, upset No. 8 seeded Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador, 6-4, 1-6, 6-0 in yesterday's third round.

Sanford-Brown Rallies to Defeat Covenant, 57-47

Bob Meiser scored 20 of Sanford-Brown's 33 points in the second half to lead his team to a 57-47 comeback victory over Covenant in the two schools' first Greater St. Louis College Conference game last night at Gamble Center.

Sanford-Brown, which trailed, 30-24, at halftime, now is 4-2 over-all for the season while Covenant is 1-2.

Sanford-Brown will meet Scott Air Force Base in a basketball game at the air base Saturday at 8:15 p.m.

Broglio Signs for Big Raise

Ernie Broglio, first Cardinal pitcher in seven years to win 20 games or more, yesterday became the first Redbird to sign his 1961 contract.

And the Cardinals management made a most practical asknowledgement of Ernie's contribution to the club's 1960 success. It gave the big righthander a big salary boost, unofficially reorted as close to 100 per cent, to something close to $18,000.

The 1960 National League "sophomore of the year" sent his contract to General Manager Bing Devine from San Jose, Cal., where he lives in the off-season.

"It is significant to me that Broglio was first," Devine said. "The Cardinals' success in 1960 was due primarily to improved pitching and particularly to Broglio's phenomenal performance." Ernie won 21 games, lost nine.

Broglio was used as a starter in his first season with the Cards and finished with a 7-12 record. But the coaches felt he had ability to win and their faith was justified.

In 1960 Broglio and Warren Spahn of the Braves each won 21 games, tops in either league, and Broglio also was second to San Francisco's Mike McCormick in the earned run department. His average was 2.70.

He allowed only 6.8 hits per nine innings to lead the league and his 188 strikeouts placed him fourth in the league in that department.

Braun and Collins In Row After Sears Suffers Broken Jaw

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 (AP)—A fist fight which resulted in a broken jaw for New York's Ken Sears stirred up a heated exchange of words between Knicks' Coach Carl Braun and Jocko Collins, supervisor of referees in the National Basketball Association.

The fight last night broke out between Sears, the Knicks' third best scorer, and George Lee of the Detroit Pistons just before New York took a lead late in the third period and went on to win, 104-102. It resulted after some pushing and shoving in the pivot.

In the second game of the Convention Hall doubleheader, Wilt Chamberlain continued his sensational scoring pace, getting 56 points for the second time this week and taking over the scoring lead from Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles in leading Philadelphia to a 139-127 victory over Syracuse.

In other games Boston retained its one-game lead in the Eastern division by beating Cincinnati, 125-107, and Los Angeles upset the Hawks, 110-96.

Six-Week Recuperation.

Sears' jaw was wired in a New York hospital, where doctors said it probably would have to remain that way for about six weeks. It was not immediately known when he would be able to return to action. He conceivably could play with a broken jaw. Sears said it was a "one punch affair." Both players left the game.

Braun went to the referees' dressing room immediately after the game and demanded that Sid Borgia recommend a fine for Lee in his report of the game.

"It better cost him something, Jocko," Braun said to Collins. "If they (the league officials) let this sort of thing go on we'll be right back to the old days.

"What's to stop me from sending someone out to hang one on Wilt (Chamberlain) if I know we can get away with it?

"Why don't they (referees) call a double foul and warn? Instead they wait. And this sort of thing happens."

When told of Braun's remarks, Collins fired back:

"He's (Braun) the biggest con man in the game. He tried to referee while he was playing for 12 years and he's still trying. Why, he never umpired a game in his life.

Suggests Huddle Talk.

"He's the kind that calls timeouts and then spends the time at halfcourt screaming at the refs. Maybe he should spend more time trying to tell the players something in the huddle."

Meanwhile, Coach Neil Johnston of the Warriors attributed Chamberlain's 50-point plus average over the last four games during which he's scored 207 points to the fact that he's hitting a good percentage, shooting well on free throws, getting good position on the post and getting offensive rebounds. Chamberlain, generally a poor foul shooter, has been improving steadily with his best performance of the year last night when he made 16 of 22.

His 56 points last night ran his total to 1443. Baylor, who led Los Angeles scorers last night with 26, now has 1417. Baylor held a four-point lead in the race before last night's games.

The Lakers have played four more games than the Warriors.

Bradley Edges Wichita for 44th Straight Home-Court Victory

Bonnies, Bearcats Also Win

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (UPI)—There's nothing like playing basketball in one's own backyard as far as undefeated Bradley and once-beaten St. Bonaventure are concerned, but somebody forgot to tell Wichita and Belmont Abbey last night.

The second-ranked Bradley Braves, determined to better their long-time runner-up role in the Missouri Valley Conference, scored their twelfth victory of the season in beating Wichita, 64-61, while All-America Tom Stith's 35 points led the Bonnies over Al McGuire's scrappy Belmont Abbey team, 75-63.

It was the forty-fourth straight home-court triumph for the Peoria (Ill.) quintet and the ninety-sixth victory in a row for the Bonnies at the Olean (N.Y.) Armory, dating back to 1948.

Wichita Leads at Half.

Bradley, which played second fiddle to Cincinnati for the last three years and St. Louis for one season in the M.V.C., had a tough time in handing the Wheatshockers their first loss in conference play.

Wichita took a 37-34 half-time lead and held the advantage until Bradley tied the score 46-all. The game was deadlocked six more times until Mack Herndon put the Braves ahead 60-58 with seven minutes left.

Coach Charley Orsborn's crew then withstood a Wheatshocker rally to score its seventeenth consecutive victory, including six games from last season.

Herndon topped the scorers with 21 points while the Braves' star, Chet (The Jet) Walker had 14 points and Tim Robinson chipped in 13.

Stith, 6-5, native of Brooklyn, N.Y., who displaced Gonzaga's Frank Burgess as the nation's No. 1 scorer, turned in a brilliant second half performance to help third-ranked St. Bonaventure to its tenth success of the campaign.

The Bonnie co-captain, averaging 31.4 per game, poured in 24 points in the second half, reminiscent of his play in the final of the Holiday Festival as the Bonnies just fell short of upsetting top-ranked Ohio State last Saturday.

Belmont Abbey led, 40-38, early in the second half before Stith went to work. Danny Doyle paced the losers with 19 points.

Drake Whips North Texas.

In addition to Bradley, St. Louis U., Cincinnati and Drake won their Missouri Valley conference games last night. St. Louis defeated Tulsa, 54-47, Cincinnati topped Houston, 74-71 in overtime and Drake routed North Texas State, 108-73.

All five of the Cincinnati starters scored in double figures. Bob Wiesenhahn's three-point play with 1:34 remaining in the extra session pulled out the Bearcat victory. Wiesenhahn tallied 20 points while Ted Luckenbill tossed in 30 points for the Cougars.

Marv Torrence with 26 points and Jerry Foster with 22 headed the Drake scoring parade.

In other games, Clemson upset Furman, 57-53; Holy Cross stopped Massachusetts, 63-58; Denver beat Wyoming, 81-66; West Virginia defeated V.M.I., 87-72; Fordham dumped Syracuse, 54-48, and Penn State overcame Colgate, 78-68.

Chartrand Rolls 300 Game at Bowl-Mor

Francis (Ace) Chartrand, bowling with the Edmonds, rolled the first 300 game of the season at Bowl-Mor Lanes last night in the 9 o'clock Businessmen's League.

It was Chartrand's first 300 game in league competition. His effort helped the Edmonds to avoid a shutout at the hands of the Carlings, who took a 2-1 decision. Chartrand, who has a 197 average in the league, also had games of 223 and 200 for a 723 series.

He was bowling on alleys three and four.

Swim Marks Broken

Clayton High won its fifth straight dual swimming meet yesterday by defeating C.B.C., 61-25, as Nick Vandenberg and Freddie Steinbeck broke Clayton school records. Vandenberg turned in a 1:06.5 clocking in the 100-yard butterfly and Steinbeck had a 2:37.9 in the 200-yard individual medley.

Soccer Results

Holy Rosary held St. Engelbert to a scoreless tie in their C.Y.C. Senior soccer league match at Fairground Park last night.

C.B.C. High ran its victory string to 18 in defeating Ladue, 4-0. Mike Bertani scored twice; Carl Gentile and Austin Tinsley had one goal each.

Mike McAvoy's goal after 27 minutes of overtime play gave Epiphany a 1-0 victory over St. Rita in a Parochial playoff.

SPORT SHORTS

McKinley's eligibility in interschool matches and tournaments will be left up to the sponsoring school or conference, however.

Angels to Train At Palm Springs

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels will start their spring training Feb. 26 at Palm Springs.

Manager Bill Rigney and his players are to report Feb. 24 and make their headquarters at the Desert Inn. Rigney has 30 players on the roster, 28 of them purchased from other American League teams.

The Angels haven't heard from Julio Becquer, Cuban first baseman. If he is prevented from returning to the United States, Cal Griffith of Minneapolis-St. Paul will have to return the $75,000 the Angels paid for him.

Los Angeles's American League club will meet the Boston Red Sox, Chicago Cubs, New York Giants and Cleveland Indians in spring training games.

Five Years For Wagman In Fix Try

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Jan. 6 (UPI) — Aaron Wagman, former New York souvenir salesman, faced a 5-to-10-year prison term today for trying to bribe Florida fullback Jon MacBeth to shave points in the Florida-Florida State football game Sept. 24.

The 27-year-old Wagman was given a five-year sentence and a $10,000 fine, and an additional five years if he cannot pay the fine.

He was released under $20,000 bond after sentencing yesterday by Circuit Judge John A. H. Murphree. Murphree denied a motion for a new trial. Wagman's attorneys, who attempted to show Wagman tried to "buy into a fix," filed an appeal in the First District Court of Appeals.

Wagman admitted giving MacBeth $1500 to hold down Florida's margin over Florida State to less than 13 points. He said he also gave Philip Silber, 19, also of New York, a fraternity brother of MacBeth's at Florida, $1250 to help him in approaching MacBeth.

Silber is awaiting sentencing after pleading guilty to a charge of conspiracy to bribe. Wagman was convicted Nov. 17.

The court took under advisement a motion for Wagman that the $2750 he paid MacBeth and Silber be returned to him.

MacBeth, a senior from Pensacola, pretended to go along with the fix but alerted police who made the arrests of Wagman and Silber. Florida won the game, 3-0.

Wagman and Silber were convicted under a state law against bribing athletes. The law was passed several years ago following basketball fix scandals across the country. State Attorney T. E. Duncan said he believed Wagman and Silber were the first to be convicted under it.

Minnesota Dean Again Blasts Bowl Program

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 6 (AP)—A Minnesota faculty man of national reputation has renewed his opposition to the school's involvement with the Rose Bowl and verbally spanked some of the school's regents.

Dean Athelstan Spilhous of the Institute of Technology said there is something wrong with education when seven members of the Board of Regents "spend five days to see the Rose Bowl game but can't spend five minutes looking at one of our laboratories."

Spilhaus is a member of the university senate that historically has opposed the Big Ten's tie-up with the Rose Bowl. He said he voted to send Minnesota to the bowl this season, but only because he did not want to see the new president, O. Meredith Wilson, put under public pressure by a turndown.

"The Rose Bowl isn't the only inequity in college football by any means," Spilhaus told an interviewer. "I like football. I used to play it."

But the university's primary concern ought to be with good students, he said, and if they also play football, fine. But subsidization of athletes, he said, has brought into the colleges some students who shouldn't be there.

Minnesota's Gophers returned from their 17-7 defeat by Washington to the cheers of some 2000 admirers at Wold-Chamberlain air field.

They and Coach Murray Warmath smiled and waved, accepted carnations—no roses here—and expressed their gratitude for the welcome. But they were solemn much of the time.

Warmath tried to be witty—"I wouldn't change anything, except the score"—but it was an effort, and he gave it up with relief.

Youngsters standing on the roof of an airfield corridor held signs reading, "Welcome Big Ten and national champions." The band played the "Minnesota Rouser" and cheerleaders waved their maroon and gold pompoms.

It was a dutiful demonstration of esteem and the players were thankful. "It's more than we expected," said fullback Jim Rogers.

But some were bitter about the post-game treatment they received from West Coast writers and almost all seemed ready to forget about football for a while.

Gene Velloff Tops NAIA In Scoring

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 6 (AP)—Gene Velloff of Doan (Neb.) College is proving his steadiness as a basketball scorer.

Velloff was the leading shooter in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (N.A.I.A.) last season with an average of 36.5 points a game. His average in seven games this season is 36.4.

The 6-1 senior from Alton, Ill., has led his team to six victories in seven starts.

The first N.A.I.A. statistical report of the 1960-61 basketball season shows James Spraggins of Virginia Union in second place with 29.8 points a game. Stan Kernan of McNeese (La.) State has set a 25.6-point pace in nine games, making 41 per cent of his team's points.

Gary Meneley of Carthage, (Ill.) has missed only one of 31 free throws for top percentage of .969. Art Johnson of California Western is leading in field goal accuracy with .679.

The leading rebounder is Herb Gray of North Carolina A.&T. with 23.4 a game, but Jackie Jackson of Virginia Union and Walt Sullivan of Lincoln (Pa.) are only one behind.

Mansfield (Pa.), with a 5-0 record, has averaged 91.8 points a game for the team offense lead and is eighth in defense at 60.4.

East Texas State has the best defense in the N.A.I.A., allowing opponents an average of only 51.9 points in nine games.

Replaced as Coach, Remains as Player

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 6 (AP) — Player-coach Steve Kraftcheck of the American Hockey League's Rochester Americans has been replaced as coach but will remain with the club as a player.

He was succeeded last night by general manager Jack Riley, who will guide the club for the remainder of the season.

"The change was made by our parent club, the Toronto Maple Leafs," Riley said, "because it was felt the player-coach deal was too tough, since we have seven rookies."

Kraftcheck, who has been named to four consecutive American League all-star teams, led the club to a second-place finish last season. The Amerks are currently in sixth place, 23 points behind the league-leading Springfield Indians.

Football Cardinals Sign Leo Reed

Leo Reed, 6-foot-3, 260-pound Colorado College player who is a native of Hawaii, has been signed by the football Cardinals, the St. Louis club announced last night.

Reed was the twentieth draft choice of the Cards in the recent National Football League selections. He was drafted as a "future," but he told the Cards he wanted to play pro ball now rather than finish his college elegibility.

Assistant Coach Ray Prochaska, who obtained Reed's contract, said the player has excellent pro potential.

The more you drive this solid beauty, the more you'll appreciate its solid build!

'Most any brand new car hums a sweet tune. But after awhile the heady new-car aroma fades. You find yourself on your second or third set of tires. And that's when you'll be glad you bought a Plymouth.

Its solid, one-piece Unibody is welded 5400 times to withstand the miles. And its unique spray and dip anti-corrosion treatment holds off the ravages of slush, salt and sun.

This kind of careful construction doesn't show up on the showroom floor. But it shows up vividly in low upkeep and high trading value. And that's where it counts.

Browns Favored by Five Points Over Lions in Runners-up Bowl

NFL Foes Will Meet Tomorrow

MIAMI, Jan. 6 (UPI) — Paul Brown hates to lose, for money, marbles or chalk, and nothing points it up like the preparations for tomorrow's first playoff between the National Football League's two divisional runner-up teams.

Coach Brown has driven his Cleveland Browns through scrimmages and put a bar on extra-curricular activities as he readied his five-point favorites for their game in the Orange Bowl with the Detroit Lions. The Browns weren't even allowed to play in the first N.F.L. Players' Golf Championship.

George Wilson, coach of the Lions, on the other hand conducted limited practice and encouraged his performers to play golf and otherwise forget football and enjoy themselves until game time.

"We've played them enough to know their personnel and what they do," he said of the game, which will be televised nationally over CBS. "We'll be ready for that 1:45 kickoff and I think a little relaxation will sharpen up my guys after a long season."

Brown Scrimmages Team.

"We're here to get ready for a ball game," countered Brown after conducting a scrimmage with full pads.

It was that simple to the coach of the Browns, who makes winning a fetish. Underneath, it rankled him that Detroit has won three of four world championship games from his Browns and in league play are 7 to 1 over the Browns. So, he was treating this as if the league title was at stake instead of this merely being a transplanted rivalry for the benefit of the players' pension fund.

Wilson said that the game between the two teams, whose meetings always take on overtones of a grudge battle, should be an offensive struggle.

"Any team that has runners like Jim Brown and Bobby Mitchell and a quarterback like Milt Plum will be hard to stop," Wilson said. "But we've got some pretty good talent, too, in Nick Pietrosante and Earl Morrall and Jim Ninowski."

Lions Lose First Three.

The Lions during the past season lost their first three games, then found themselves and won seven of their last nine.

"We are the most improved team in either division," Wilson insisted.

Brown was working his team as if he thought so, too.

But a hoped-for crowd of 40,000 was promised a game in which the players would put out much more than you could expect for a $200 differential.

3 Hawks On N.B.A. Star Team

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (UPI)—The National Basketball Association today announced the remainder of the East and West squads for the annual league All-Star game at Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 17.

First-string players, picked by vote of league writers, were announced last week. The other five members of each squad and one alternate were chosen by the eight league coaches.

The all-star squads:

West—First-string: Bob Pettit and Clyde Lovelette of St. Louis, Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, Gene Shue of Detroit, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati; second-string: Cliff Hagan of St. Louis, Bailey Howell of Detroit, Jerry West and Rod Hundley of Los Angeles, Wayne Embree of Cincinati; alternate: Walter Dukes, Detroit.

Salukis Post 3rd Straight ICC Victory

CARBONDALE, Ill., Jan. 6 (AP)—Southern Illinois scorched Eastern Illinois with a 60-point second half last night and took a 96-71 decision that kept the Salukis unbeaten in the Interstate Conference.

Eastman suffered its first I.C.C. loss and now is 2-1 in the league and 4-3 overall. S.I.U. is 3-0 and 8-3.

Eastern led, 40-36, at halftime but S.I.U. came out strong to open the second half. Charlie Vaughn scored five straight points, and a goal by Tom McGreal put S.I.U. ahead to stay, 45-44.

McGreal, celebrating his twenty-first birthday, led the scoring with 29 points. Vaughn had 18. Dick Carmichael's 19 led the losers.

Finley Officially Buys Controlling Interest in A's

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP) — Charles O. Finley, wealthy insurance broker, today handed out checks totaling $2,175,000 to complete his purchase of majority stock in the Kansas City Athletics.

The money was turned over to the City National Bank of Chicago, co-executor of the estate of the late Arnold Johnson, who owned 52 per cent of the A's stock. Base price was $1,975,000, plus $200,000 to be held in escrow for adjustments after a club audit.

The other co-executor, Johnson's remairried widow, Mrs. Warren W. Humes of New York, was not present at the transaction.

Finley said that if a Kansas City group that has a "purchase agreement" to acquire the 48 per cent of A's stock held by four minority stockholders decided to waive that agreement, he would like to obtain 100 per cent control of the club.

ALGERIA BEGINS VOTING, FRENCH TROOPS ON GUARD

ALGIERS, Jan. 6 (AP) — The Algerian countryside bristled with police roadblocks and troop patrols today as voting began on President De Gaulle's plan to give Algeria a chance for self-determination.

The voting started in apparent calm throughout the Algerian countryside, but in Algiers four time bombs aimed at the power lines of Radio Algiers went off just before it was to carry De Gaulle's final appeal for support of his proposals. The bombs caused major damage, but did not stop the relay of De Gaulle's speech.

De Gaulle called once more for a massive "yes" vote so that negotiations with all factions on Algeria's future could be arranged with "the smallest delay possible."

Speaking to the nearly 27,000,000 voters of France who on Sunday will decide the outcome of the referendum, De Gaulle implied that if his plan were defeated, forces outside France would impose a solution in Algeria.

In his third and last television appearance of the referendum campaign, De Gaulle said the solution he proposed conformed to good sense, justice and "the genius of France."

"The reply to it with the negative, for any reason whatever, is to deny that the problem should ever be solved by France," he warned, an apparent reference to possible internationalization of the six-year-old conflict.

De Gaulle concluded with a sentimental appeal:

"Frenchmen, Frenchwomen! You know it is to me that you are going to answer. For more than 20 years events have decreed that I serve as guide to the country in the gravest crises we have lived through. Now, once again, my duty and my office have led me to trace the path. . . . I need to know what is in your minds and hearts. That is why I turn to you without any intermediaries."

In Algeria, 3,900,000 Moslems, 700,000 French colonists and 340,000 soldiers in the French army were eligible to vote. The voting is in the villages today, in the towns tomorrow and in the big cities Sunday. France also votes Sunday.

(United Press International reported that the leadership of the National Liberation Front sent warnings through the underground that the first Moslem who voted in each precinct "will have his throat cut.")

Associated Press correspondent David Mason toured several outlying districts in the area around Oran and reported all was orderly. He said the initial turnout indicated little enthusiasm among the French settlers but a better response from the Moslems.

Despite the rebel call to boycott the voting, a line 400 yards long was strung out in front of the voting booth at Oued-Sebbah, near Oran. One group of 40 Moslems had marched three miles to be first in line.

Soldiers guarded the polling places and were scattered nearby, their guns at the ready. Outside the towns in the Oran district troops patrolled the country roads in trucks, and helicopters and light planes kept watch overhead.

Sixteen warships of the French fleet steamed in from France yesterday and reinforced ships already on guard along the coast.

Ballot boxes will be sealed at the end of each day, and the counting will not begin until Sunday. Despite the cross-currents of apathy in the Algerian interior and tension in the cities bred by years of nationalist uprising, it was generally believed De Gaulle would get his majority.

SOVIET-INDONESIAN PACT SIGNED, TASS ANNOUNCES

MOSCOW, Jan. 6 (UPI)—The official Soviet Tass news agency announced that a Soviet-Indonesian agreement had been signed tonight. The agency did not say what the agreement was about.

Observers speculated that it was for the purchase of arms by Indonesia. Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, Indonesian army chief of staff, is here on an arms-buying mission.

U.N. TURNS DOWN CUBAN CHARGE OF PLOT BY U.S.

© New York Times News Service

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 6—The Security Council last night in effect rejected charges by Cuba that the United States planned a military invasion of the island.

The 11-nation Council's failure to act constituted a non-acceptance of the Cuban complaint, diplomatic sources said.

Similar action was taken by the United Nations last July when the government of Fidel Castro accused the United States of economic aggression and again when the issue was brought before the General Assembly in September.

The Assembly referred the matter to its Political Committee, where it still is pending, presumably for consideration when the Assembly convenes in March.

The Council adjourned after a brisk attack on the Cuban charges by James W. Barco, deputy representative of the United States.

United States sources previously have said that the rupture of relations with Cuba were based not on the latest Castro charges against the Eisenhower Administration but measures in Havana that made normal diplomatic relations impossible.

Barco told the council yesterday afternoon that Roa in two addresses at the current session, had produced no evidence of the alleged aggressive intentions of the United States.

Cuba, asking for the Council meeting, had said that an invasion might be forthcoming within a few hours.

Barco rebuked Valerian A. Zorin of the Soviet Union, who had backed the Cuban charges.

"I would remind the representative of the Soviet Union that the American people are united and that our policy is consistent," Barco said.

A resolution proposed by Chile and Ecuador, suggesting that Cuba and the United States might talk over their differences, was not pressed to a vote.

BOB HOPE HAS DIZZY SPELL, QUITS GOLF TOURNAMENT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope, complaining of dizziness and fatigue, dropped out of a pro-amateur golf tournament yesterday in the middle of one of the best rounds he ever played. One report said Hope collapsed at the Rancho Country Club Course, but Hope said this was not true.

"I had walked up a couple of hills," he said, "and I started to get just a little bit dizzy. I sat down and waited for them to get a cart to drive me back to the clubhouse."

Hope said he saw his doctor later and was told there was nothing seriously wrong with him.

EX-POLICE CHIEF ACCUSED AS NAZI HANGS HIMSELF

RECKLINGHAUSEN, Germany, Jan. 6 (AP)—Johannes Otto, suspended as police chief of this Ruhr town in an investigation of his Nazi background, hanged himself at his home last night, police announced today. He was 56 years old.

The Frankfurt prosecutor was investigating charges that Otto was responsible for the wartime deportation of gypsies to a concentration camp where they were killed. He had been on the staff of the Reich criminal police headquarters at the time.

Otto is the fourth German war crimes suspect to commit suicide within the past year. Three others killed themselves in jail cells.

3277 POLIO CASES IN U.S. IN 1960; FEWEST SINCE 1938

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—There were 3277 polio cases in the United States in 1960, the lowest for any year since 1938 when there were 1705.

Reporting this today, the Public Health Service said the total of 2265 paralytic polio cases provisionally reported for last year may rise closer to the 2499 listed for 1957. The 1957 paralytic total is the lowest for any year since cases were started in 1952.

The 1959 figures were 8567 polio cases, of which 5709 were paralytic. This means that the provisional figures for 1960 showed a decrease of about 62 per cent in total cases and a drop of about 60 per cent in paralytic cases.

ACTOR'S SON SENTENCED TO 30 DAYS FOR THEFT

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Jan. 6 (UPI) — Anthony E. March, 26 years old, son of actor Frederic March, was under a 30-day jail sentence for the theft of automobile parts and a riding saddle.

March, formerly employed as a tree surgeon here, pleaded guilty to the charges in district court yesterday. He told Special Justice James E. Hannon he could give "no tangible reason" for stealing a car battery, a tire and wheel and the saddle.

U.S. LAX ON BANK TRUSTS, SENATE REPORT CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board has not undertaken realistic anti-trust enforcement in the field of banking, a staff report to the House Small Business Committee said yesterday.

Chairman Wright Patman (Dem.), Texas, said data in the report show that concentration of commercial banking in large banks with their branches has reached "a point where the independent unit banks now account for only about 30 per cent of the nation's total banking deposits and loans . . . about 65 giant commercial banks control more than 40 per cent of all deposits."

The report said:

"It does not appear from the evidence presented that either the Board of Governors (of the Federal Reserve) or the Comptroller of the Currency ever had any faith in the application of the anti-trust laws in the field of banking. . . .

"The board has not seen fit to devote substantial numbers of persons or of dollars to realistic anti-trust enforcement, nor has it come forth with any proposals to reduce concentration in American banking through the dissolution of existing concentrations of economic power."

DRIVE PLANNED FOR REWARD IN HUNT FOR GIRL'S KILLER

Plans to open a drive to raise a reward for information leading to identity of the killer of Barbara Jean Balck were made last night by members of the American Legion Clifton Heights Post 222, Thomas Wicks, district Legion commander, announced today.

Wicks said money will be solicited and a board representative of the city will be named to administer the fund. Funds will be received at Post Office box 7154, he said. The Clifton Heights post contributed $25.

Police were without a definite clue in the investigation of the 13-year-old girl's murder, as a Navy-type peacoat, picked up near the scene, was found to have no significance. Funeral services for Barbara Jean, daughter of Mrs. Naomi Black, 1045 (rear) Allen avenue, were held yesterday at Old Trinity Lutheran Church, Eighth and Soulard streets.

DRUGGIST HIT ON HEAD AND ROBBED OF $40

William T. Dill, a druggist, was struck on the head by one of three youths who held him up in his store at 1927 Union boulevard last night, he reported to police. The robbers fled with $40, he said.

One of the youths produced a revolver, Dill said, and the others shoved him to a rear room. He was forced to open the safe which contained no money. The youths took the money from Dill's wallet and a cash register, after the armed robber struck the druggist with the revolver.

An undetermined amount of money was taken by an armed man who held up a National Food Store at 2747 Goodfellow boulevard last night, Mrs. Mary King, checkout cashier, reported. The robber forced her to open a cash register and give him the money, she said.

PERSHING MISSILE BLOWS APART AFTER LAUNCHING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Jan. 6 (AP)—Technicians are seeking the cause of an in-flight explosion which showered flaming chunks of a Pershing missile into the Atlantic ocean last night.

The 34-foot missile blew apart 25 seconds after it was launched on a 160-mile test flight. Beach observers watched as blazing pieces fell into the water. A few fragments fell harmlessly onto the Cape.

This was the second failure in 10 flights for the solid-fuel Pershing, which is being developed as a mobile field weapon capable of carrying a nuclear warhead to targets 700 miles distant. It was the first time the first stage did not work properly. The previous failure occurred in the second stage.

U.S. GOLD RESERVES CUT $1,700 MILLION

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 — The United States gold reserve was cut by almost $1,700,000,000 in 1960, according to the year-end statement published today by the treasury department.

The loss, a direct reflection of U.S. balance-of-payments difficulties, was more than the loss in 1959, but less than the loss in 1958. All but about $100,000,000 of the 1960 gold outflow occurred after July 1.

The treasury reported $17,766,797,708.17 of gold in the official reserve on Dec. 30, the last business day of the year. At the end of 1959, the reserve was just shy of $19,400,000,000.

The balance of international payments for the year will show a deficit of $3,000,000,000 to $3,500,000,000, it is estimated. The deficit means that the total of dollars flowing out of the country—for imports, aid, investment and travel—is greater than the amount of dollars flowing in. There were deficits of $3,500,000,000 in 1958 and $3,800,000,000 in 1959.

The taking of gold does not necessarily mean that speculators are putting their money into lifeless yellow bricks in preference to interest-earning dollar investments, though some are doing just that.

The biggest factor in the gold outflow, and in the increased payments deficit in the latter half of the year, was the attraction of higher interest rates abroad. Foreign and American investors shifted from dollar to foreig investments. The dollars they converted into foreign currency went into foreign government reserves, some of which were sent back here for gold.

LENDING CAPACITY OF BANKS UP FOR WEEK

© New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 6—Daily average borrowings by member banks of the Federal Reserve System rose $127,000,000 to $176,000,000 in the week ended on Wednesday, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported. Daily average reserves in excess of requirements increased $208,000,000 to $909,000,000. This resulted in daily average net free reserves — excess reserves less borrowings— of $733,000,000, up $81,000,000 from the week before.

At the end of the statement week, borrowings were up $19,000,000 from the previous Wednesday at $90,000,000. Excess reserves were up $75,000,000 at $885,000,000. Net free reserves, as a result, were up $56,000,000, from the previous Wednesday at $795,000,000.

ANOTHER $167 MILLION OF U.S. GOLD TO FOREIGNERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Foreigners bought another $167 million of American gold in the past week, the federal reserve board said today.

No Real Rise in Retail Sales Despite Record Spending Here

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent

Consumers in the St. Louis area spent a record amount last year, but the pace of retail sales showed no real growth during the year.

Dollar volume of department stores in the St. Louis area last year averaged 1 per cent higher than in 1959, the previous peak year, according to a report issued yesterday by the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

The number of new automobiles sold in St. Louis and St. Louis county last year rose about 5 per cent over sales in 1959, the Greater St. Louis Automotive Association reports. There were 56,260 new cars registered here in 1960 through Dec. 23.

W. H. Kester

However, the pattern of consumer spending shifted away from home furnishings and appliances. Sales of furniture stores in the St. Louis metropolitan area in most months of 1960 lagged the volume in the corresponding months of 1959, the Federal Reserve Bank has reported. Dollar volume of sales in November, the latest month for which figures are available, was 6 per cent less than in November 1959.

In department stores, sales of home furnishings and appliances in the nine months ended in October (the first three quarters of the stores' fiscal year) were 2 per cent less than in the corresponding period of 1959.

Department store sales here and in the United States held fairly steady in 1960, after allowance for seasonal variations and the random impact of the weather. The seasonally adjusted index of department store sales in the United States in December was 146 per cent of the 1947-49 average, the same as in December 1959, the Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday. In fact, the adjusted index for the first four months of 1960 was the same as in the middle or last four-month periods of the year and slightly less than in the last part of 1959.

Total retail sales in the nation also have been stable, after allowance for seasonal fluctuations. December data are not yet available, but automobile sales, which vary considerably, have been disappointing. Retail sales in October and November were at a seasonably adjusted rate slightly higher than in the third quarter, but still less than in the record second quarter of the year.

Department store sales this week are continuing to show favorable comparisons with the corresponding period of a year ago, store managers here reported yesterday. Promotions of white goods are bringing good response, they say.

Dollar volume of department stores sales in the St. Louis area last week was 1 per cent less than in the corresponding week of a year ago. However, in the United States, last week's sales were 4 per cent higher.

Sales in the four weeks ended last Saturday in St. Louis and in the nation were 6 per cent higher than in the comparable period of a year ago. However, there was one more trading day in the last four weeks of 1960 than in the corresponding period of a year ago.

Tom May of Los Angeles was elected yesterday to be vice chairman of the board of directors of The May Department Stores Co.

Until his election, he had served for many years as a vice president and a director of the company. His brother, Morton J. May, is chairman of the board.

SOYBEANS IN 7-CENT UPWARD PRICE RANGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—The broadest advance in more than two years carried soybean futures up more than seven cents a bushel in spots at times today on the Board of Trade.

All cintracts, along with most deliveries of soybean oil and soybean meal, reached their highest levels of the season. Trade was brisk and appeared to be at the rate of about 100,000,000 bushels ofr the day.

The record volume is 108,000,000 bushels, traded about two weeks ago.

The strong market apparently began with short covering and reinstatement of long positions but as prices mounted the drive gained momentum on strong bidding to stop losses.

The grains also were fairly active but with gains limited to a cent or slightly more a bushel.

RAIL FREIGHT LOADINGS IN 1960 DOWN 1.9 PCT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Association of American Railroads reported rail freight loadings for 1960 at 30,439,609 cars. This was a decline of 574,940 cars, or 1.9 per cent, from 1959 but 217,464 cars, or 0.7 per cent higher than 1958.

Loadings in all categories declined in 1960 from the previous year, except for grains and grain products, which rose 2.2 per cent, and ore shipments which advanced 32.7 per cent. The rise in ore reflected the fact that ore movements dropped to a trickle during most of the last half of 1959 when the nationwide steel strike was in progress.

The declines last year included miscellaneous freight, 3.7 per cent; coal, 2 per cent; coke, 2 per cent; forest products, 4.8 per cent. Less-than-carload merchandise, 14.3 per cent; and livestock, 13.7 per cent.

Christmas week, ending Dec. 31, continued to reflect the holiday lull, with the loading volume at 406,346 cars, the A.A.R. reported. This was 61,632 cars or 13.2 per cent below the previous week and 77,511 cars or 16 per cent under the corresponding week a year ago.

LATE BUYING WAVE BRINGS MIXED CLOSE

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (UPI)—Stocks closed with a minor loss at worst today as late buyers stepped in to ccheck an early downturn.

Oil and gold shares were prominent on the upside, however, along with a good many specials. Steels and motors dipped fractions while chemicals turned irregular.

Plymouth and Richfield gained around 2 points to pace the oils where Crescent, Universal Oil Products and Texas Gulf ran up a point or more. Homestake and Dome Mines moved up around 1 on reports that the nation's gold supply had fallen to the lowest level since January, 1940.

The Associated Press reported that the market showed late strength after a decline based mainly on profit-taking and closed mixed, erasing the early loss.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were sprinkled throughout the list.

Gold shares were strong all day on the basis of the latest drop in United States gold holdings. Steels and big three autos remained lower at the end but some pared losses.

Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was 1.03 points lower at 621.64 at the close; the 20 rails gained .51 of a point at 135.65 and the 15 utilities rose .25 to 100.85, a new 1960-61 high.

A number of specially-situated issues met demand late in the day and spurted 1 to 3 points. Late gains among selected chemicals, oils, rails, building materials and rubbers helped bolster the list.

Of 1256 issues traded, 547 advanced and 473 declined. New highs for the year totaled 32. There was one new low; Midland Enterprises.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 223.50 with the industrials down .40, rails up .70 and utilities unchanged.

Volume was 3,620,000 shares, compared with 4,130,000 yesterday.

Sharp Gains In Building In November

NEW YORK—Sharp gains in all three major construction categories in November sent total construction contracts to a new record for the month, 2 per cent above November a year ago, F. W. Dodge Corporation reports.

Contracts for non-residential buildings and heavy engineering construction registered notable increases for the fourth month in a row, while residential building contracts exceeded year-earlier levels for the first time this year in November.

November construction contracts totalled 2,886,131,000, the highest level on record for the month, Dodge said. After adjustment for normal seasonal patterns, however, the November contracts dipped slightly from the very high October figure. The seasonally adjusted Dodge Index of construction contracts stood at 280 in November (1947-49 equals 100), compared with 294 in October and 271 in September.

Dodge vice president and chief economist George Cline Smith said that the 22 per cent gain over November, 1959, was abnormally large, due to the steel strike which held last year's figure down to a relatively low level.

"However," he added, "this should not obscure the fact that the current figures are the highest ever recorded for any November, providing a note of encouragement for business in general."

Contracts for non-residential buildings in November rose 14 per cent above a year ago to $915,683,000, with every major building type sharing in the gain.

Heavy engineering contracts in November were valued at $717,447,000, a full 50 per cent above November 1959. Public works contracts, sparked by highways, and bridges rose 44 per cent, while utilities soared 77 per cent over last year with all major categories scoring substantial increases.

November contracts for residential buildings rose 15 per cent over a year ago to $1,253,001,000. Chief factor in the residential gain was a very sharp increase in apartment building contracts, while single family homes were down 9 per cent from last year.

Soil Surveyors Map 50 Million Acres in Year

Field soil mapping by soil surveyors of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service covered more than 50 million acres in fiscal year 1960, an increase of two million acres over 1959, the USDA reports.

At near year's end 658 million acres had been mapped in sufficient detail for the soil and water conservation planning of farms and ranches and small watershed projects. This is about 34 per cent of the total land area of the country and about 53 per cent of the agricultural land in the nation's 2861 locally-governed soil conservation districts.

Soil surveys are made by about 1200 field soil scientists who examine soils field by field and record their findings on aerial photographs, which then become soil maps, USDA officials explained. Information recorded includes the kinds of soils; their properties, such as behavior, productivity and response to management; slope or gradient, losses of soil by erosion, stoniness, salt accumulation, and evidence of poor drainage; location of natural drains, rock outcrops, lakes and ponds, roads and railroads, power lines and buildings.

During the year, 38 soil survey reports and maps were published and 27 additional reports were prepared and made ready for printing.

Department officials said an increasing number of county and state planning officials made use of soil survey information in planning urban and suburban areas. Many provided monies to the Soil Conservation Service and State Agricultural Experiment Stations to employ soil scientists to speed up soil surveys in areas where community planning is going forward.

Fire Safety Check Advocated

NEW YORK (UPI)—Every 35 seconds a fire breaks out somewhere in the United States. Nearly seven out of 10 of these fires occur in homes. Fire in 1959 took 11,300 lives and caused property damage exceeding one billion. In 1960 the toll was even heavier.

Just statistics—fires that happened to someone else? Couldn't happen to you? Maybe, but it would pay every home-owner to call a family conference now for a real fire safety check.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, which compiles statistics on reported fires each year, warns "if your house burns, chances are you are careless! Three out of every four home fires in 1959 were needless. Care could have avoided them."

If past experience is any criterion, the board notes, nearly one-fourth of all fires in the next 12 months will be caused by matches and smoking. Another one-fifth will be the result of misuse of electrical equipment.

Time to Act.

While fire prevention is a year-round job, now is a good time to take stock of your family's fire safety knowledge and practices.

Around the house, check basement and attic, store room, garage and yard, throwing out old newspapers and magazines, old clothing, discarded furniture and any rubbish that may have collected. Any rubbish or clutter provides dangerous tinder if a fire should break out.

Keep an oil mop only in a metal container or a safe, well-ventilated place where it cannot catch fire by spontaneous combustion. Throw away oil-soaked polishing rags or waste after using. Don't use gasoline, benzine or any flammable liquids for cleaning. Gasoline for lawn mower or outboard motor should be kept only in approved metal containers in garage or outbuilding. Any paint or varnish should be kept in tightly closed containers.

Around the kitchen, keep range broiler free of grease accumulation, which often is a starting place for fire; make sure curtains can not blow over stove burners.

Check for electrical hazards. Make sure only qualified electricians install electrical equipment or extend wiring. This is not a do-it-yourself field. Check all electrical appliances regularly for frayed or worn cords. Provide sufficient electrical outlets to eliminate any need for multiple attachment plugs or long extension cords. Have special circuits installed for heavy-duty appliances such as washing machines, refrigerators, ranges, etc. Use only 15-ampere fuses in fuse boxes on all regular household lighting circuits. Too large a fuse invites trouble. The purpose of a fuse is to blow if the circuit becomes overloaded.

Report a Fire.

Use extreme care if you must use portable heaters of any sort. Keep matches in metal boxes and out of the reach of small children.

Make sure smokers in your family observe the rules of smoking, extinguishing all matches, cigaret and cigar butts carefully before disposing of them; using ash trays (which should be plentiful throughout the house), and never smoke in bed.

Make sure everyone in the family knows how to report a fire by telephone, and have the proper number posted permanently beside the phone.

Make sure everyone knows the location of the fire alarm box nearest the house, and knows how to turn in an alarm.

Draw up alternate plans of escape from all parts of your home for your family, and hold fire drills regularly. Make sure that house guests and baby sitters know what to do in case of fire emergency. Impress on everyone that, in case of fire the first thing to do is get everyone out of the house—then call the fire department.

SHIP AGROUND AFTER STOP FOR BOARDING PARTY

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

HONOLULU, Jan. 6 (AP)—Fair wind and fair maidens were blamed partly for bringing the 30,000-ton British liner Arcadia to grief on a reef just outside Honolulu's harbor entrance yesterday.

The Arcaria's master, Capt. W. T. C. Letheridge, was not lured on the rocks by softly singing sirens.

Rather it appeared that, as the ship maneuvered to pick up an offshore boarding party, it drifted in the steady trade wind and crunched gently on a coral reef. The boarding party included was one of Honolulu's welcoming task-forces of hula girls, but it also had customs inspectors and shipping agents.

No One Hurt.

No one was hurt. The only damage found was an indentation about a foot long and half an inch deep, embedded with bits of coral, about 25 feet below the water line just forward of the bridge.

But it took several tugs more than two hours—while all other shipping was halted through the 480-foot wide harbor entrance—to work the Arcadia free. And only after 50 tons of fuel oil were pumped from port to starboard tanks, Letheridge testified at a shipboard coast guard hearing.

The big Pacific & Orient liner—carrying 1182 passengers and a crew of 713—is scheduled to leave later today for the South Pacific and Australia.

Capt. David E. C. Hassal, steamship manager for Theo H. Davies & Co., the ship's agents here, said he would suggest to the line's head office in London that it halt picking up such offshore boarding parties, which he called "a hazard to both master and pilot."

Thrown Off Position.

After the hearing, Coast Guard Lt. Charles A. McQuaid, the hearing officer, said he believed the incident would not have occurred if the ship had not been thrown off its position by maneuvers for the boarding tug. Earlier, he had said the trade wind was blowing broadside against the big ship.

Another ship which went aground in the Pacific had less luck than the Arcadia. The freighter Portland Trader which struck a reef in the Sula sea off the southern Philippines on Wednesday, was abandoned yesterday after 28 of its crew were picked off by nearby tankers.

Mishap at Honolulu

Foaming wakes mark tugs straining to free the British liner Arcadia from reef at entrance to harbor of Honolulu. It was pulled off the reef after two hours and was proceeding on its voyage today.

Perfume Ads Gone, Aroma Lingers

DURING the recent holiday season of unrelenting sales pitches the foremost peddler on television was a middle-aged enchantress cooing for a perfume. She said, "Promise me anything, but give me ——," and she named her poison.

JACK RICE

She gurgled so at the prospect of selling the stuff that it wasn't always easy to understand her, but I believe the top price she quoted for perfume was $500. That is a good buy for the wolf who has everything and doesn't care how he throws it around.

I haven't seen one of the woman's commercials since the Christmas selling season ended and the bills started coming in. She has disappeared. I suppose the perfume man got what he wanted, perfume-buyers, and she got what she asked for, enough perfume to crown herself in, and that is what I wished for her, too.

Her commercial was an expression of the bland idiocy that television advertising presents as sophistication and it didn't harm the public. The American public is tough and recovers from television commercials every time. When television eventually is replaced by another form of entertainment, maybe Instant Puppets, historians will say television programs were plain murder but the commercials were harmless.

The television commercials may be annoying or senseless or non-stop but they are mostly talk and if a man can learn to live with a woman he can learn to live with a television set. He can learn to forgive the television set if he accepts the commercials for what they are, women's magazine advertisements that have been taught to talk.

Women's magazines sell soft skin until it would make Erskine Caldwell blush. Once a year I go through the ad copy in a woman's magazine, just to content myself that American literature hasn't lost its touch with soap.

Soap made American advertising the rich, imaginative profession it is today and every time television takes in another dollar it ought to thank the soap pioneers, the men who opened up the prose in copy-writing. As I recall the early soap ads they consisted mainly of a young woman standing beside a tub, covered up like Mother Hubbard in a blizzard, but her face radiant and shining. With soap. She looked scrubbed. The copy was "99.44 per cent pure," and all it meant was soap.

That was daring merchandising in my youth, walking in on a lady fresh from the bath and using her to sell soap. Now, I notice, the copy-writers don't even knock before they walk in. In the first soap ad I came across the ad agency had trapped the model under a huge glass bell and was frightening the poor girl to death. She was bare and all huddled up, shivering, and she should have been.

"Your skin was given a certain amount of oil to keep it soft," the copy-writers were yelling at the poor thing. "By the time you're 23 you've practically washed it all away."

So they put her up on a grease rack because as another ad said, "Dry Skin is for wish-bones," and we have seen the last of scrubbed girls and tubs. Now we have oiled girls and we have room for gratitude.

Television commercials have not caught up with the pioneers, the women's-magazine advertisements, and never will. Not even in perfume. In the magazine a woman was holding something between her hands, a melon or a man's head, and she was about to throw it, I think. The line was, "Is it love . . . or Olympics?" The name of the perfume wasn't really "Olympics" but that will do for the contest the perfume company had pictured.

In the perfume commercials the woman gave on television the only living thing I ever saw her hold was a cat. The cat hadn't been consulted about the casting and was trying to get out. The sufferer squirmed and looked uneasy. I assumed it was a tom-cat.

Job Is Snap for Baby Photographer

New Parent Reports on Surprising Way the Pictures Accumulate

By Rene Cappon

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP). NEW PARENTS-TO-BE are usually poured full of well-meant advice on all sorts of subjects, from nursery decor to midnight colics and diaper rash.

But no one prepares them for another inevitable problem—the baby photographer, a special breed of snake oil pitchman and child psychologist who is as enterprising as a corsair and as ubiquitous as a virus.

The beginnings of infant portraiture are hazy, but most likely go back to the barbaric dawn of humanity.

When the first ingenious cave dweller scrawled an infant's physiognomy on the fire-lit wall, he must have been rewarded with an extra mastodon's steak by the mother. The artist instantly realized he had a racket, and there's been no stopping him since.

Today, thanks to Mr. Daguerre, his craft is refined and rationalized and that birdie our parents watched has matured into a full-grown vulture.

The baby photographer may creep into a maternity ward to snap a muling arrival "on speculation," which is about as chancy as an election in an Iron Curtain country.

They acquire your name off some list or other and ply your wife with sales talk over the telephone.

And they'll materialize as the voluble strings attached to those offers of one (1) free baby photograph by companies purveying infant services or furnishings.

In the hands of an experienced photographer such as JOSEF SCHNEIDER, in center photo, babies are sugar and spice. For others . . . well, they're still babies.

"They change every day at this age," the visiting lensman says, "so while we're at it, we might as well. . . ."

Any feeble indication of sales resistance is drowned in baby oil. Your child, the photographer purrs, is the most beautiful he's photographed in years. This assignment isn't work, it's sheer pleasure (though not to the point of giving you those additional prints at cost).

So now our daughter in three months of life has been photographed professionally more often than Elizabeth Taylor in a year. There are scores of pictures, in color or black and white, square-shaped, oval or round, in albums, baby books, on desks and mantel pieces, in wallets and handbags.

Obviously, it's long past time to call a halt.

In fact, I've developed some cunning defenses against further inroads on our balance of payments position, but I'll have to tell you about those some other time.

Right now we're having the baby photographed, courtesy of a high chair manufacturer, and the man says he'll let us have six extra prints for a mere $7.50 each.

YOU ARE THE DEALER, neither side vulnerable. What would you bid with each of the following hands?

3. ♠Q743 ♥Q985 ♦A2 ♣AK6

1. One notrump. This shows 16 to 18 points, balanced distribution (usually 4-3-3-3 or 4-4-3-2, sometmes 5-3-3-2) and strength in all suits. It is far better to open with a notrump than a club.

There are several reasons why the notrump call is preferred. One of the main ones is that the opening bid of one no trump immediately pinpoints the type of hand held. As opposed to this, an opening club bid could be based on many different types of distribution and a wide range of high-card values.

Furthermore, the club bid is likely to present a rebid problem if partner responds with a diamond, a heart, a spade or a notrump, any of which would make an accurate rebid impossible. The way to avoid such problems is to open with the highly descriptive bid of one notrump.

2. One diamond. Despite the pronounced notrump features of the hand, the proper opening is a diamond. Hands containing 19 high-card points do not fall into the opening notrump category. Such hands are opened with one of a suit. The extra values are shown at the next opportunity by jumping in notrump. The 16 to 18 point limits of a one notrump bid are inflexible.

3. One club. There is no legitimate suit with which to open the bidding, since the spades and hearts are too weak to mention and the clubs are only three cards in length, but since any 15-point hand qualifies as an opening bid, something must be done. The club bid is the best choice. It keeps the bidding low and allows for the discovery of a major suit fit if it exists.

4. One club. Here, also, the best introductory bid is a club. It permits the spades to be bid secondarily if partner responds with a diamond or a heart and also serves to keep the bidding level low. An opening spade bid would create a difficult rebid problem if partner's response were two diamonds or two hearts.

5. Four spades. This bid serves two purposes at once. It is an offensive effort which may easily succeed if partner has an ace. But more important, in the long run, is the value of the bid defensively.

If partner has a poor hand, it is odds-on that the opponents can make a game. However, because of the high level at which they have to start competing, there is a good chance that they will miss their best contract.

Fresh Applause for Lillian Gish

By Brooks Atkinson

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.

WHEN THE CURTAIN goes up on the second act of "All the Way Home" at the Belasco Theater, Lillian Gish is discovered, sitting primly on a sofa, as the deaf and daft mother of a grown family. The audience applauds before she speaks a word.

The audience is applauding one of the pleasantest American legends. For the Gish girls — Lillian and Dorothy—have been through the whole cycle of American show business from road companies in the first decade of the century and the silent films in the second to the theater of today.

Both of them are about a foot wide and four inches thick, erect and cheerful. Both of them hop around America and Europe whenever anything interests them, and they let out little puffs of enthusiasm as they roll along. They see everything and know everyone. They are as much a part of American folklore as Jack Dempsey, Jimmy Durante and Harry Truman. Having been consistently modern for a half century, they give their country continuity.

As one of the players in the season's most sensitively acted drama, Lillian is very busy now, changing in and out of wig and costume eight times a week. And, like the other actors, talking on the radio whenever she is bidden, "selling the product" to use her phrase. But if she were not acting a part or crusading for a cause, she would be busy about something else. Probably she would be putting the finishing touches on her book about D. W. Griffith.

She has never been bored in her life. Years ago, when she was billed in the programs on the road as "Baby Alice" or "Baby Ann," she took her first curtain call on the shoulder of an actor in a melodrama called "In Convict's Stripes" or another one called "The Little Red Schoolhouse," she can't remember which. In tow of her mother, May Barnard, an ingenue, she and her sister traipsed up and down the land. They learned how to count by watching the man in the box office, and how to read schoolbooks under their mother's tutelage in dressing rooms and day coaches.

Since her mother had a passion for going through factories, both the Gish girls have a long background in factory culture, and to this day they never pass a factory without feeling that they ought to go through it.

When they were in their teens they grew "rather long in the leg," and it was time to make a change. That's how they ventured into the world of the silent film, eventually under the direction of Griffith. Together or individually, they appeared in "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Broken Blossoms," "Way Down East" and "The Orphans of the Storm," all of them regarded as film classics today.

Since there was no tradition in film acting, they had to invent one as they went along, and they did. Forty or 45 years later they are still known and recognized all over the world. When the Moscow Art Theater undertook to visit America in 1923, Stanislavsky and Nemirovitch-Dantchenko studied the Griffith films in search of a pantomine style that would make Russian actors intelligible in a foreign land, and they found a style they could use.

When Russian actors or dancers come here today they are inclined to study Lillian as if she were a monument. It is a little disconcerting to a gay, incandescent lady who wants to talk and listen.

If she radiates general good will, it is because she is without vanity. That simplifies her life. She does not have to worry about her diginity or about maintaining a "public image." She is less interested in herself than in other people, and she is therefor still learning.

Having had no formal education, she has been a reader of all kinds of books since she first discovered the exciting world of culture in the 1920s. Being aware of the world around her, she has little patience with the introspective school of acting. It does not have enough interest in the audience, she thinks. What moves an actor is a matter of no importance, in her view. What moves an audience is.

As one member of a superb company that includes Colleen Dewhurst, Arthur Hill, Aline MacMahon and John Megna, Lillian treats the character she plays in "All the Way Home" as one figure in the delicate fabric of a family play. Everything she does on the stage she does for the play. The applause is for a woman who has always regarded the theater as an enlightened and practical form of democracy.

She Goofed, Apologizes

DEAR READERS: I'll take ten swats with Webster's dictionary, unabridged.

Did you know that when sisters marry, the husbands of said sisters are not even remotely related? I'll bet you thought the boys were brothers-in-law. Well, so did I—but I know better now. About 400 readers have told me.

ANN LANDERS

I will explain it as dozens of readers explained it to me:

Princess Margaret is a sister-in-law to Prince Phillip, because she is his wife's sister. But Margaret's husband, Mr. Jones, is no relation whatever to Prince Phillip. They are just a couple of nice boys who married sisters.

My apologies to the reader who asked the original question. And my thanks to all you nice people who wrote to set me straight.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We are three teens with a problem which has nothing to do with boys for a change.

My father has a younger brother who lives in a big city far away from here. I will call him Uncle Pete.

He was the "black sheep" of the family and ran away from home when he was 15. He got into trouble and disgraced the family. No one heard anything from him for about 15 years. Last May he came to town to surprise his mother on her seventieth birthday. He had a big car, swell clothes and said he was doing fine in the construction business. He was awfully nice to everybody but my Dad gave him the cold shoulder. (Mom said he was jealous of Pete's success.)

Last week my sisters and I each got a $20 check from Uncle Pete—Christmas money. Dad says to return it because it may be "tainted". Mom says he is respectable now and we should forget the past. We need your advice.

SISTERS.

Dear Sisters: When in doubt assume the best, not the worst. I say keep the money and thank Uncle Pete.

Living it up With Rich in St. Moritz

ST. MORITZ, Jan. 6.

ST. MORITZ IN SWITZERLAND is the essence of elegance in skiing circles.

It is the winter home of the continental rich. Ex-kings and out-of-work Latin-American dictators pad softly through its snowy streets.

The hotels are pictures of luxury. And caviar is a throwaway line on the restaurant menus.

The train from St. Anton in Austria runs in a circular fashion to reach St. Moritz. And there are two changes where you must fling your bags out the window.

"But if you wish, sir," said the hotel porter, "you can take a taxi."

"How far is it?"

"About 180 kilometers, sir. Say, 120 American miles."

"And how much does he charge?" I asked carelessly. (If you are going to live with the rich, you have to live it up, I always say.)

The porter said it was 600 Austrian schillings. I figured that out in my head. Then I went in the men's lounge and figured it out on paper. Only $24!

"Order me the taxi," I said grandly.

And so we rode into St. Moritz, our Mercedes's snow tires kicking snow over the walking royalty.

St. Moritz turned out to be filled not only with face-card Dukes. It was loaded with rich Swiss who came down from Zurich to avoid the foehn.

"The foehn," said Fred Birmann of the Swiss National Tourist Office, "is a dry wind. It sweeps the north-south valleys like Zurich and Munich. It comes from the Mediterranean and makes people do crazy things.

"When the foehn blows, there are more traffic accidents. The crime rate increases. Many people cannot behave normally. My secretary did not come to work yesterday in Zurich.

"She phoned and said: 'I have a head like a melon from the foehn.' "

Mr. Birmann said the Swiss have even put out an anti-foehn pill to take on such Zurich days.

"But the foehn has a stimulating effect on writers and poets. Some of the best poetry is written on foehn days.

"The foehn is also good for the tourists—though not for Tourist Office personnel," he said. "The tourists do not seem to be affected by the foehn. The dry wind clears the air.

"On such days, the tourists look out their windows and it seems they can almost touch the Alps, it is so clear.

He said it took about nine years of residence before the foehn took hold and shook you.

"At that time, the foehn becomes a mania. Everybody talks about it. They say, 'I cannot do anything today because of the foehn.' "

The foehn apparently does not fall on St. Moritz. The rich and royal strolled through the streets in sabled splendor. From my room in the Hotel Rosatch, I could see the quiet parade of Rolls-Royces, Daimlers and sporty Mercedes-Benz custom-builts.

The lights shone brightly in the splendid hotels. And the splendid people (who hire taxis for 120-mile rides) sat splendidly before excellent meals.

The foehn, sweeping up from the Mediterranean, made a polite detour and went on to blow the tops off Zurich.

At the Movies

SOONER OR LATER every American male movie star must make a Western, and Elvis Presley has reached this juncture early in "FLAMING STAR," at the ST. LOUIS THEATER. It's probably a wise move for his career, since it eases him away from dependence on rock 'n' roll.

As a Western, "Flaming Star" is only fair. It is sort of a poor man's "The Unforgiven," since it carries the same theme—a white family with Indian members caught in the middle of a bitter war between ranchers and the Kiowa Indian in Texas. While it can't approach the John Huston movie in acting, camera composition or script, it still has some interest and authenticity as a story. One of its chief weaknesses is that Elvis, in the key role of a half-breed youth caught between the two factions, gives it no dramatic punch. He physically fills the bill, but his acting doesn't go much beyond glowering and mumbling.

The development is tragic in the script by Clair Hoffaker and Nunnally Johnson of the former's novel. The hero's Indian mother, played by the still very lovely Dolores Del Rio, his white father (John McIntire) tnd he himself are killed because they are subject to the hatred of both sides, in the center of a series of ambuscades and massacres. Only Elvis's white stepbrother (Steve Forrest) and his girl (Barbara Eden) survive among the leading characters in a rather inconclusive attempt to patch up a hopeful ending. One of the better aspects of the film is the work of Rudolph Acosta as a fiery Kiowa chief, and the showing of the Indians, relaxed around their council fire, as being more human than usually depicted, with curiosity and humor in their talk.

Presley, in a welcome relief from the over-doing of rock 'n' role in his films, sings only two songs, a rather weak title song nad a cheerful country ditty for a party.

Broadway Jottings

IT WAS HUSHED UP, but one of the big Las Vegas joints was caught using loaded dice the other night, and now the other places are reacting to the incident with a show of righteous indignation. Small wonder the FBI has decided to open a branch in the gambling town, to make sure everything is operating legally. . . . Bad luck for Benay Venuta and her actor-husband Fred Clark. Just as she was working on the final rehearsals of her supper club act, which Lynn Duddy created, she received the bad news that Fred was in a Rome hospital suffering from hepatitis. She flew to Italy immediately, to be at his bedside. Both Benay and Fred were set for the coming Hal March show, "Come Blow Your Horn," and he had signed for three more movies before he was stricken. . . . Shelly Winters, making the downtown scene with Theo Bikel at Teddy's looked pounds and pounds slimmer and far happier than she seemed in the days when she and Tony Franciosa were a rift item.

COLORFUL RESTAURATEUR Billy Reed—once a vaudevillian—is writing a book based on his years as proprietor of the Little Club. He's titling it "The World Through Scotch Colored Glasses" and movie offers are coming in already, although the publication date is months away. . . . A former control boss at one of New York's major airports has written a book purporting to "document" near-misses that could have resulted in trabedies similar to the one in Brooklyn just before Christmas. It's not likely to be displayed prominently at airline terminal book stores.

New York's Bloody Civil War Draft Riots

Mobs Held the Upper Hand Until Troops Arrived to Help Police—Many Buildings Burned

Americans accustomed to the calm workings of the modern selective service laws will be amazed to learn what happened during the Civil War at the stormy beginning of the draft system. The nation's metropolis was then nearer to revolution than ever before or since. This is from "The Best From American Heritage."

By Lawrence Lader

"WE SHALL HAVE TROUBLE before we are through," George Templeton Strong, a wealthy New Yorker and staunch friend of Lincoln, warned in his diary one July morning in 1863. Yet the first nationwide military draft, to fill the critically depleted ranks of the Union Army, began in festive mood on Saturday, July 11.

For others, there was no premonition of disaster. Yet by Monday morning, New York would be torn by the bloodiest riot in its history and would stand on the brink of revolution.

The portents had been gathering for months. New York's Copperhead Press had been attacking the draft furiously. Gov. Horatio Seymour, a Democrat, insisted the draft was unconstitutional.

Congressman Fernando Wood seized on the draft as the perfect issue to rouse his supporters, mainly Irish immigrants. They were already embittered by the two controversial exemption clauses: one allowed a drafted man to gain release by hiring a suitable substitute; the other allowed him to buy his way out by paying $300 to the Government.

All that Sunday afternoon New York's East Side was crowded with angry, cursing men. Bars were jammed. The volunteer fire companies were leading centers of unrest.

At 10 a.m. on Monday, July 13, the provost marshal reopened the draft. There was no hilarity then, only catcalls and hisses.

He had drawn about 70 names when a pistol was fired outside his window. Paving stones and brickbats were thrown into the room. The crowd grabbed tables and chairs and hurled them at the draft officers. Cans of kerosene were splashed across the floor. A few minutes later the building was in flames.

The clanging fire bell on Fifty-first street brought Fire Chief John Decker and two loyal engine companies to the scene. They unrolled their hoses, but the howling mob fought them off. Decker pleaded with the mob to let him save the rest of the street. But it was more than an hour, and most of the houses were in ruins, before he could move in.

Emergency messages had been flooding metropolitan police headquarters, far downtown. But the mob had cut down the telegraph poles, and Supt. John Kennedy was out of touch with the upper half of the city. He decided to drive uptown to investigate.

Kennedy had no idea of the extent of the riot till he found himself in the middle of the mob. He was immediately recognized, attacked and knocked to the ground. "The mob nearly killed him," the Tribune reported. Taken to police headquarters, he remained under medical care the rest of the week.

With only 800 men on duty that day against a mob that would soon number 50,000, Acton's strategy was to concentrate his force at police headquarters and City Hall to protect the banks, federal installations, major hotels and stores in the lower half of the city.

The futility of limited resistance was already being demonstrated. When 44 policemen clashed with the mob, only five came through unwounded. A 50-man company of the Army's Invalid Corps (rushed into action because of the shortage of troops) was cut to pieces even more brutally.

By noon the city was virtually in the hands of the mob. Desperate messages for help were sent to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Governor's Island and federal forts as far away as Massachusetts. By midnight the first reinforcements had arrived. By early Tuesday morning there were still only 1000 federal troops in the city.

The mobs were now attacking not only the draft but all the symbols of authority and wealth. At Forty-sixth street they plundered three fine homes, then burned them to the ground.

Another group of rioters attacked the provost marshal's office. Still another mob fired the armory at Second avenue and Twenty-first street, and Acton ordered it abandoned.

No Negro dared appear on the street. Peter Heuston, a 63-year-old Mohawk Indian, was mistaken for a Negro and beaten to death.

The mob's savagery to the Negro sprang from complex motivations. Most of its members were Irish, the main source of the city's cheap labor, virtually its peon class. They had the most to lose from the draft. Further, they were bitterly afraid that even cheaper Negro labor would flood the North if slavery ceased to exist.

Yet many loyal fire companies were made up of Irishmen, and a large segment of the metropolitan police were Irishmen who fought the mob with bravery.

But on that Monday afternoon, unfortunately, pent-up hatred of the Negro exploded in its most savage form. Its object was the Orphan Asylum for Colored Children.

The mob burst the doors with axes. Their superintendent led the 233 frightened children out the rear door. The mob surged through the building, stripping it bare, then set the handsome building on fire.

When the fire chief answered the call, two dozen rioters grabbed him and would have beaten him to death had not 10 firemen rushed to his rescue. Frustrated, the mob turned on the Negro children.

Twenty children were cut off from the main group. But a young Irishman on the edge of the crowd, Paddy McCaffrey, aided by others, surrounded the children and fought off the mob.

At the height of the riot that Monday evening, Commissioner Action got word that the mob was marching on City Hall and police headquarters. He decided it was time for the first counter-offensive. He assigned 200 men to Inspector Dan Carpenter. Carpenter, promising "to win this fight or never come back alive," led his main force up Broadway with two parallel columns ready to strike from the side streets. The police caught the mob by surprise. The Times reported . . . "Broadway looked like a battleground thickly strewn with prostrate forms."

Another mob, meanwhile, had invaded the Tribune building. Acton decided to make his second major attack. Combining reinforcements, he ordered Carpenter's men to catch the rioters from the rear.

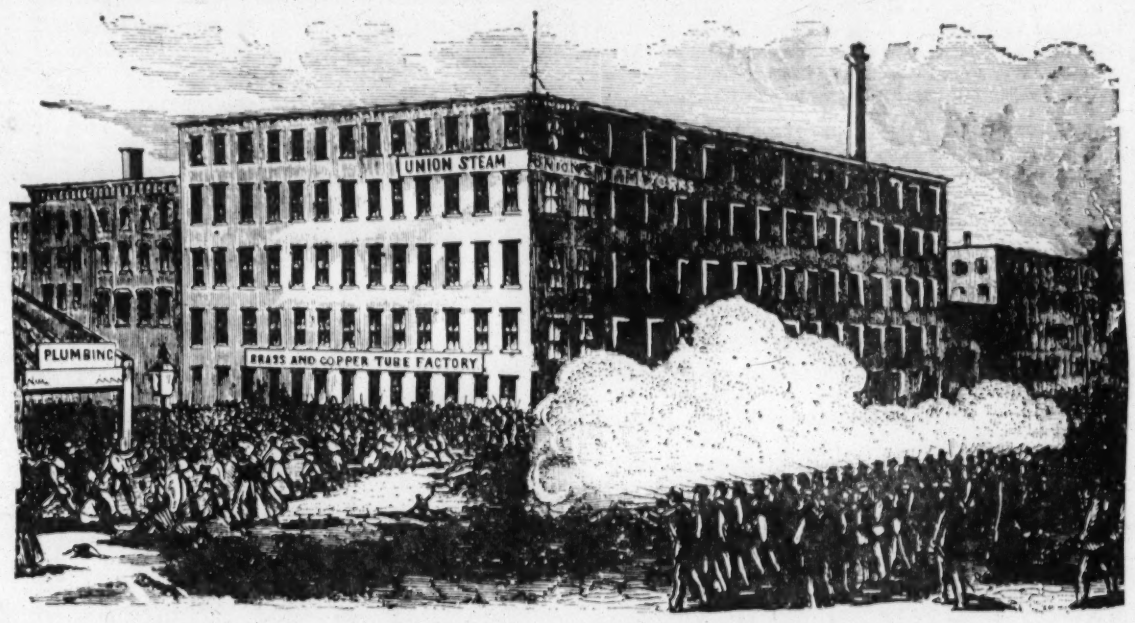
That night New York was in turmoil. A Negro cartman, trying to escape under cover of darkness, was caught and hanged.



Troops opened fire on rioters at Second avenue and Twenty-second street before the disorders were brought to an end.

Tuesday was hot and muggy; a heavy pall of black smoke rose from innumerable fires. Mobs filled the streets at dawn.

Pitched battles, even more furious than Monday's, raged all day. Almost 5000 rioters invaded the Union Steam Works, where thousands of government carbines were stored. A strong force of police stormed the building, piled the carbines on wagons, and marched quickly downtown to relieve Mayor George Opdyke's house, which was under attack.

That same morning Gov. Seymour arrived and issued a strong proclamation calling for the restoration of law and order. Then he addressed a large crowd—a speech that has remained the most controversial act of his controversial career.

"Let me assure you that I am your friend," he told his listeners. "I wish to inform you that I have sent my adjutant general to Washington to confer with the authorities there and to have this draft suspended and stopped . . ."

Mayor Opdyke now was harrassed both by Seymour and the Peace Democrats who controlled his own board of aldermen and city council, and who were preparing a bill which would allow the city to give $300 to each drafted man to buy his way out of the service. They passed the bill on Wednesday, and Opdyke immediately vetoed it.

In the early hours of Thursday morning, the mob attacked a government warehouse on Greenwich street, where 20,000 muskets were stored. This cache might have given them control of the city if Acton had not learned of the plan and sent a large force to stop them.

It was almost dawn before the turning point arrived. The steady tramp of thousands of feet was heard along lower Broadway, the first elements of the state militia rushed from Gettysburg. Nine more New York regiments as well as one Michigan regiment arrived in the next two days. The city was out of danger at last.

The mob was to make its last stand on the East Side. Five thousand desperate men attacked elements of the Seventh Regiment. Bullets and bricks from the rooftops killed 15 soldiers before another 700 troops arrived to clear the avenue with artillery and bayonet.

It was the decisive battle. On Friday morning, the Mayor could announce: "The riotous assemblages have been dispersed."

They are not expected back in St. Louis before September, since they intend to spend the summer traveling in Europe.

Another debutante who departed for college the day after the Fleur-de-Lis Ball was Miss Lucie Cable Palmer, a student at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla. Her two younger brothers, Vincent Mackay Palmer and Bradley Vincent Palmer, also returned to school in Winter Park. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Palmer, who recently left St. Louis to live in Florida. Mrs. Palmer departed for Winter Park Wednesday and her husband will leave this weekend.

After earning her bracelet and charms, the volunteer can become a Woman of Valor by selling $10,000 worth of bonds. Those who have reached this goal are Mrs. Sam Rabushka, Mrs. Morris Silbergeld, Mrs. Harry H. Spitzer, Mrs. Morris A. Shenker, Mrs. Charles Yalem, Mrs. Abraham Simon and Mrs. Henry H. Haffner.

Mrs. Morton Blitstein, immediate past chairman of Chicago's Women's Division, was here to make the presentations.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Wants to Marry at 16

Today's column is just for teen-agers. If you have a problem you would like to discuss with Martha, just send it in.

Dear Martha:

I AM 16 and my boy friend is 18. We are planning on being married sometime in May. Could you tell me what state we could be married in without our parents having to give their permission? Our parents know we are getting married but they do not want to sign anything because if the marriage doesn't work out then we can't blame our parents. Could you tell me what state we could get married in without having to wait three days? And don't tell me I'm too young.

WANTING TO KNOW.

Martha certainly is going to tell you that you are too young. Besides there is no state in the union that will permit you to marry at 16 without your parents' consent. Older and wiser heads than Martha decided long ago that a girl of 16 is too young for the very serious business of marriage.

Dear Martha:

I read your answer to the letter from the girl who had just become a "big wheel" in her class and I was so upset I couldn't finish reading the paper. I had to read it twice to believe it. When you become a wheel in school you should feel honored and quite happy. You should not try to get back into your middle class group. Your advice to this girl to go back to her old friends was the silliest thing I ever read. A person should strive to reach a high social level and when he or she does should not try to go back to a lower level. It is quite a struggle but the higher class people deserve every honor they get. It's hard to get there, but once you do, it's great. Try it some time. TOP OF THE LADDER.

You're as big a snob as the girl who actually referred to herself as "royalty." What's wrong with being middle class? With no middle class America would have no backbone. Martha agrees with you that everyone should try to better himself, but social climbing is not betterment. Besides, the insufferable little snob who talked about being a "big wheel" was unhappy. She'd been lording it over her former friends and they, bless their hearts, had had enough and were ignoring her. And what did she want most? The friendship of her former pals and the attention of that middle class boy she passed up on her climb up the social ladder. Being a genuine person is more important to Martha than trying to be a "big wheel."

Dear Martha:

I AM IN HIGH SCHOOL and I like a certain boy very much. I don't know if he likes me, although he talks nice to me every day at school. But that's as far as it goes. How can I find out if he likes me? S.D.

Just continue to be pleasant to this boy and bide your time. Some boys are more shy than others and it takes them quite a while to muster up courage to ask a girl for a date.

Dear Martha:

TODAY A FRIEND of mine called to see if he could come over to my house to play records and do homework. I said I'd have to ask my mom. She said it was all right and 45 minutes later the boy came. My stepfather answered the door and told him I was busy. It was raining outside but my stepfather didn't even ask him in. I was so embarrassed I cried. How can I ever explain to this boy the situation I'm in?

BROKEN HEARTED.

Your stepfather was very rude and you have my sympathy. Just tell this boy the truth about what happened and ask for his understanding.

A Topsy-Turvy Holiday

By Adele Starbird

ADELE STARBIRD

WITH MY DIGESTION permanently impaired by peppery and exotic foods, and my mind drowned in a tidal wave of conversation, I shall make a feeble effort to tell what Christmas is like in the French West Indies.

Topsy-turvy is the word. It was strange to hear the carols sung to the strident orchestration of cicadas and tree frogs. (There is nothing noisier than a tropical night.) It was strange to sing that reliable old German song, "Oh, Tannenbaum," in its French translation which sounds so much less substantial. Strangest of all to hear that good King Wenceslas looked down and saw snow on the ground, when all the good King could have seen from our windows was a blaze of poinsettias like a four-alarm fire.

We made all the traditional gestures: a real evergreen tree shipped from France, pine cones brought down by the New York branch of the family, and the sleigh bells which had made my baggage excess weight and which we hung in the window to jingle as the trade wind moved them about. The house inside looked like an enchanted wood, with its walls covered by green branches, its hidden lights and the grotto which awaited the coming of the "Divin Enfant."

Nor were the unfortunate forgotten. For days Berthe had been filling bags with candies and cookies for the prisoners and for the old women in a Home, counting the bonbons carefully so that everybody would receive the same amount. The men of her family disapproved of her charity to the prisoners. "Those men are criminals," they said. "You baby them." To which she retorted that there were more criminals outside the prison than inside, that the good God sent the sunshine and rain on the good and the bad, and that at Christmas everybody needed to be babied a little.

The supper on Christmas Eve was "just for the family." I'm beginning to be wary of those words, and with good reason. There were 40 children with all their parents and grandparents and uncles and aunts. A nephew made an impressive Santa Claus —but we called him "le pere Noel." One of the little boys was afraid of him and cried a little which made it seem like home to me. By 10 o'clock they had all taken their leave.

We attended Mass at the convent instead of at the cathedral—a great disappointment to me—because one of the granddaughters was to be in a procession of angels. But that too was like home where the whole family turns out to see the youngest and dearest perform.

The little girls all looked pretty in their angel robes of pale blue satin; and little Elizabeth who belongs to what Tocqueville described as the "most exclusive aristocracy in the world," was very proud to walk beside the little colored girl who had the honor of carrying the Baby Jesus to the manger.

At two o'clock in the morning we sat down to eat the "reveillon" at the home of a son-in-law. There were all the traditional dishes, including a whole roast pig, and for dessert the Yule log, a long cylindrical cake covered with chocolate icing striated to look like bark. And that perhaps was the strangest of all, this perpetuation of a custom handed down by our pagan Druid ancestors in drafty European banqueting halls. The family separated at four in the morning.

I spent Christmas Day very quietly, writing letters home and repenting of my gastronomic errors.

Identifying Porphyria

DEAR DR. MOLNER: Please explain the disease called porphyria. Is it inherited, etc.? MRS. B. J.

To simplify things, I suppose we might call porphyria "pigment disease."

There are various pigments, colored materials, which are essential to living things. Take the blood, for instance, and the hemoglobin, which makes the red blood cells red. Or take the chlorophyll in plants. It makes plant life green. And there are any number of other examples.

Porphyria, or "pigment disease," is a disorder of the metabolism, or of the manner in which the body handles pigments. It is a hereditary disease, but not a very common one. It can be extremely worrisome, both because of its own symptoms and because it can mimic a number of other conditions.

The disease is featured by severe pain in the abdomen, skin and nervous disturbances, and dark red urine. The color in the urine is not caused by blood. The color tends to appear as the urine is allowed to stand exposed to daylight.

Various things can trigger the symptoms: Alcohol in some cases, taking certain drugs, the onset of menstruation or pregnancy.

I mentioned porphyria's ability to mimic other troubles. One of the possibilities is hyperthyroidism, or over-active thyroid, with its characteristic of inciting nervousness. Lead poisoning is another, and porphyria can resemble acute abdominal disturbances.

Thus it is important to recognize the disease for what it is, both for the sake of allaying fears of some of these other afflictions, and also to avoid the risk of attempting to treat some other disease by mistake.

This puts quite a burden on the physician, since, as I said, porphyria isn't common. There is little if anything that can be done about porphyria, however, other than identifying it correctly, and in some cases avoiding things which precipitate the symptoms.

Removal of tonsils is a serious matter. You will find my views on tonsils in my pamphlet, "Don't Trifle With Tonsils." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cover cost of handling. Dr. Molner welcomes all readers' letters and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but he regrets that, because he receives so many every day, he cannot answer letters individually.

Bill Vaughan Says

ONE THING we are counting on, if this country is ever invaded, is that the foe might be impressed by our determination when he sees all the traffic signs that say "yield."

TO AVOID conflicts of interest, a President seeking to fill top Government jobs must find men who are able, experienced, successful, and don't own anything.

SURE, A MACHINE can teach, but can it shuck a 6-year-old out of his snowsuit and blow his nose?

The reports on KSD, at various times, will continue through Jan 19. Excerpts from Father Mathew's reports will be picked up by KSD-TV in its daily television newscasts. On Sunday, Jan. 15, Father Matthews will make a special half-hour broadcast from Rome direct to KSD.

Uncle Ray's Column

Metals in Meteorites

By Ramon Coffman

Pupils of fourth through twelfth grades: Would you like to help your school class win a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia? Uncle Ray is giving awards to classrooms for the best groups of questions sent to Uncle Ray in care of the Post-Dispatch. Your teacher should select the five best questions asked by pupils on such subjects as science, history, biography or geography. Uncle Ray will announce the first award winning classroom on Jan. 9, in this column.

ALMOST ALL meteorites have at least a little iron, but those known as "iron meteorites" have a high proportion. They also contain a good deal of nickel. The amount of nickel may run up to 40 per cent, but usually it is from 7 to 15 per cent.

Q. Are other kinds of metal present?

A. Iron-and-nickel meteor cinders usually contain small amounts of other metals, or metallic elements. These include cobalt, aluminum, manganese, chromium, platinum, sodium, titaneum and copper. Among the other materials are sulphur, carbon, iodine and phosphorus.

Q. Will meteors be dangerous to rocket travelers of the future?

A. Meteors are among the special risks for space travel. They move faster than bullets shot from rifles, and the larger ones could cut holes in the sides of rockets.

The vast majority of meteors—say 99 per cent—are smaller than walnuts. Many of them are smaller than grains of corn.

The small ones probably will do little, if any, damage to a rocket. They may nick the outer shell, but hardly will cause harm unless they are met in swarms.

Large meteors take up only a tiny amount of the space in the solar system. If a pilot is able to keep away from clusters of meteors, it is likely that he will make scores of round trips to Mars without striking a single large meteor.
